Condition of Westinghouse Co. Shown in Application to List Stock.

EARNED 20 PER CENT

Operations of the Electric Concern Set Forth in Detail to N. Y. Stock Exchange.

FAVORABLE ACTION IS TAKEN

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, Sept. 9.

The governing committee of the New York stock exchange today recommended the listing of $4,500,000 additional assenting stock of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company on and after September 14 on official notification that the stock has been issued and paid for in full, making the total of Westinghouse stock admitted to the list $18,526,000. The report is signed by W. H. Cranbery, chairman, and William McClure, secretary. The stock listed today is in addition to $4,635,200 listed on September 3 under the same application.

Accompanying the report of the company is the application of the Westinghouse Company for permission to have the stock listed dated August 6, which includes the balance sheet of the company on June 30, 1903. The net earnings for the first three months of the Westinghouse Company's fiscal year ending June 30, 1903 on a total capital of $25,650,000 were $1,137,743 11, nearly 20 per cent per annum.

The new assenting stock is of $50 par value, but is to be issued at $80, making it worth $7,200,000. In making the application for listing the stock, Ph. Ford Kobbe, third vice president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company says:

Increase in Capital Stock.

"We hereby apply to the New York stock exchange to have listed $9,135,200 additional assenting stock of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, consisting of 182,704 shares, of the par value of $50 each.

"By vote of its stockholders at a meeting held February 20, 1901, followed by proper action on the part of its board of

WANTED IN CLARION

Has Agreed to Tell What He Knows About Normal School Bribery.

LAWSUIT MAY BE BROUGHT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.] From a Staff Correspondent.

Clarion, Pa., Sept. 9.—Ex-Senator James G. Mitchell has agreed to be here tomorrow or send a statement explaining his part in the alleged $2,750 "rake-off" in connection with the state appropriation of $27,500 for the Clarion Normal school in 1901. He telephoned this information from his home in Hamilton, Jefferson county, today.

The trustees of the school have admitted that the money was paid over to Mitchell, who was at that time, secretary of the senate committee on appropriations. They have unloaded the burden on the ex-senator and his explanation is eagerly awaited.

The investigation is being made by a committee of the trustees of the school. If it does not decide to proceed in the courts to collect the money, such action will be taken by I. M. Shannon, treasurer of the institution. It may be that criminal prosecution will follow, but that is a matter for the future. Prof. A. J. Davis, former principal of the school, has stated within the last couple of days that he intends to proceed criminally against every person alleged to be connected with the transaction.

Shannon Had Grievance.

The school received an appropriation of $27,500 from the state in 1901. It has been charged that to secure this money, a rake-off of 10 per cent had to be paid to some one. Over a year ago the first intimation of the alleged scandal crept into the press. Last fall, prosecutions were started, but the bills were ignored by the grand jury. Until a couple of months ago the matter was supposed to have been dropped. About that time, I. M. Shannon, treasurer of the school and president of the Second National bank of Clarion, became angry over the treatment of his

TRUTH OF CHARGES MADE BY TULLOCH CLOSELY SIFTED

Messrs. Bonaparte and Conrad of Baltimore Are Ready to Report to Postmaster General on Postoffice Fraud Cases.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, Sept. 9.—By direction of President Roosevelt, a thorough investigation has been made into the charges preferred by Seymour W. Tulloch against the management of affairs of the Washington (D. C.) postoffice. This investigation has been made by the Hon. Charles J. Bonaparte and the Hon. Holmes Conrad, special counsel of the government in the prosecution of the postoffice fraud cases, and it is independent of and entirely supplementary to the report made by Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow on the charges preferred by Mr. Tulloch.

Mr. Bristow's report, Mr. Conrad said tonight, was simply a collection of the facts in the case as reported by postoffice inspectors and contained no opinions as to the merits of the charges. The investigation made by Messrs. Bonaparte and Conrad will go into the merits of the charges and will express an opinion as to whether or not the accused persons are vindicated or are guilty of the offenses charged against them. The conclusions drawn from their inquiry will be embodied in a report which will be submitted to the attorney general the latter part of this week. Whether or not this report will be made public, Mr. Conrad could not say tonight, as that matter rested with the officials of the administration. No prosecutions will follow from any conclusions the report may draw, as the offenses, if any have been committed, are barred by the statutes of limitations.

Mr. Conrad said that he and Mr. Bonaparte had been engaged for five weeks in the inquiry. They had examined thoroughly the charges themselves, together with all evidence available on the subject, both in the treasury and the postoffice departments. Much of the work has been done by correspondence, as Mr. Bonaparte has been north a portion of the summer, but they had interchanged views as to the various features of the case both by mail and in personal interviews.

The president, said Mr. Conrad, was very anxious that the whole matter should be gone over very carefully, so that if persons named in the charges of Mr. Tulloch were not guilty they should be vindicated and if they were that this fact might go on record. Their duty had been to act in the capacity of a master in chancery and report on the facts as they found them. It was not a party affair with the president, Mr. Conrad declared, but an honest desire to get at the facts in the case, both Democrats and Republicans being involved in the charges. The president was anxious to have the matter thoroughly sifted and any criticism, credit or blame, arising from the inquiry would be borne by him.

Mr. Conrad expressed the opinion that he and Mr. Bonaparte would agree as to the recommendations to be made to the attorney general.

The trials of those persons indicted in the postoffice fraud cases, it is expected, will begin at the October term of the district supreme court. The government will consolidate the cases where this is practicable, so as to expedite matters unless the accused persons shall demand separate trials.

One of the persons indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury in connection with the postal investigation is George W. Beavers, formerly chief of the division of salary and allowances. It is understood that the charge is conspiracy. Another of the indictments is against August W. Machen on a new set of facts, involving him with Beavers. The charge is conspiracy.

While the officials refuse to disclose the names of the four remaining persons who were indicted yesterday, it is said that none of them is or has been connected with the postoffice department and that one is a man of some prominence.

It was stated at the city hall today that the climax of the investigation is to come shortly, when a person not connected with the department, but equally as well known as the postmaster general himself, undoubtedly will be indicted for complicity in the postoffice frauds. The grand jury began hearing the evidence in this particular case today and it is stated that when a report is made it will in all probability conclude the investigation in Washington.

TORONTO, ONT., Sept. 9.—Leopold Stern surrendered himself to the police this afternoon. It is understood that he will fight extradition proceedings.

FORMER DIRECTOR LESLIE PUTS BLAME ON CONTROLLER

Testified Larkin and Finance Committee Cut Down Appropriations to Fight Smallpox. Spicy Time at Investigation.

Former Director A. H. Leslie was the star witness last night at the hearing of the councilmanic committee investigating the bureau of health. The present condition of affairs in the bureau of health is a vindication of Mr. Leslie's stand at the time the appropriations were made for the present year, when his estimates of expenditures were rejected by Controller John B. Larkin and the finance committee. He manifested considerable satisfaction last night in calling the attention of the investigating committee, Controller Larkin and Chairman W. H. Stevenson, also chairman of the finance committee, to this fact.

Controller Larkin was again on the stand. He admitted that he had said that the municipal hospital was "rotten with disease and ought to be burned down," but stated that he did not know this of his own personal knowledge, as he had not been in the hospital for 25 years. The controller also admitted that he had not made a personal investigation of the hospital, and only knew what had been told him by parties who had carried complaints to his office.

Refused to Give Names.

In response to a demand by Councilman John Upperman, the controller again refused to give the names of his informants, insisting, however, that the investigation had proved his charges.

"I asked for $200,000 to fight smallpox this year," stated former Director Leslie, "and the finance committee and the controller gave me but $50,000, of which $35,000 had to be used for paying unpaid bills from last year, which gave just $15,000 to combat this dreadful disease. I asked for $40,000 for vaccination, and I got nothing. The total amount I asked for the bureau, for all purposes, smallpox included, was $480,000, and this amount was cut down to $265,000."

"My estimates were based upon what experience in fighting the disease had taught me, all the facts that I could get as to the history of past epidemics in this city and elsewhere and the conditions then existing in the city. I gave all these facts to the finance committee and the controller, and they simply cast them aside.

"They were bent upon keeping down the appropriations and the millage. They said that the bureau of health could, in spite of the conditions existing and the necessities which I described, go ahead and use what money was given it, contract what bills it needed and pay for them out of future appropriations.

Not Honest Financiering.

"I told the controller and the finance committee then, and I say the same thing now, that this was not honest financiering when they were face to face with the situation and knew what I told them was true. The facts brought before

ASKS COURT TO STOP THE BOYCOTT

A Chicago Man Chooses Unusual Method of Fighting Unions.

STILES IS PLAINTIFF

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Sept. 9.—An injunction to prevent strikes and boycotts by labor unions and industrial people is sought in a bill this afternoon through the American Anti-Boycott association. John M. Stiles, the contractor, who has already started suit for $50,000 damages against labor unions, is the plaintiff in this, the first case which the Anti-Boycott association has openly engaged to prosecute in Chicago.

In the bill, which was prepared by Attorney Allen, general counsel for the Anti-Boycott association in Chicago, it is alleged the following defendants, unions and labor leaders, conspired to ruin the business of Stiles and to force him to retire: Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, Painters' District Council of Chicago, Associated Building Trades of Cook county, Gasfitters' association, Local No. 250; Journeymen Plumbers' Protective and Benevolent association; Journeymen Plasterers' Protective and Benevolent society, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, United Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, also Frank P. Heenan, Charles M. Rau, James G. Hannahan, Alex M. McDonald, C. William Gunther, W. W. Petrie, Simon O'Donnell, J. F. Murphy, John McMullen, Edward O'Rourke, Amos J. Simpson, A. L. Heistern, J. M. Finan, M. H. Murphy, D. W. Tilden and M. P. Carrick.

A perpetual injunction is asked and if it is granted, Attorney Allen said today, it will put a stop to combinations between trade unions and contractors' associations. It is counted on to establish a precedent in industrial jurisprudence in Chicago. It seeks to make the "sympathetic" strike illegal as well as to make it a violation of the law for any of the defendants to seek to injure the employes of Mr. Stiles either by "threats, persuasion, intimidation, force or violence," to leave his services.

PLANS WERE ADOPTED.

Work Upon New State Homeopathic Hospital Will Soon Be Commenced.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Plans for the new state homeopathic hospital to be erected near Allentown at a total cost of $900,000 were adopted today by the state board of charities. The plans were prepared by Philip H. Johnston, of Philadelphia, and it is expected to award the contract and begin work on the building within 30 days.

They provide for a handsome brick construction of colonial architecture, an executive building, and administration building, dormitories, an auditorium to seat 600 people, sun parlors and connecting corridors. The hospital will accommodate 1,000 inmates and will be modern in all respects.

The legislature of 1901 appropriated $50,000 for the purchase of a site and the last legislature appropriated $500,000 for buildings. The new hospital will be exclusively the homeopathic treatment for the insane and will be the first institution of its kind in Pennsylvania.

COTTON'S MEN ON THE ALERT

Signalmen and the Guard Sleep at Legation in Beirut.

MARINES UNDER ARMS

American Admiral Prepares to Land Them in Case the Necessity Should Arise.

TURKISH VALI IS SUPERSEDED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Beirut, Syria, Sept. 7 (Monday), via Port Said.—Vice Consul Magelssen, when he was fired at recently, was near a police booth. His assailant is not yet known. The authorities are indifferent and thus far have given no satisfaction.

The Moslem section of the city from Friday up to last night was in a state of anarchy and 20 persons were killed, among whom, however, were no foreigners. The shops are closed, the streets deserted, and the government is seemingly unable or unwilling to assure the safety of the residents.

The arrival of the American cruisers Brooklyn and San Francisco was most opportune. Admiral Cotton is on the alert and signal men and a guard slept at the United States consulate last night. The men on board the warships are under arms ready to disembark on a signal from the consulate. The boats of the Brooklyn and San Francisco commenced the coast before the property of the American mission in order to relieve landing pieces in case of need. The American mission authorities have demanded guards from the governor for the protection of the mission printing office and the wireless property. An attempt to enter an American residence on Saturday was frustrated.

Vali Is a Bad Man.

The Americans here think the United States government should insist on the dismissal of the vali of Beirut, a notorious bribe taker, and to whom all the disorders are attributed. The opinion here is that the powers should take action with a view to bringing Beirut under the jurisdiction of an autonomous Christian government for the Lebanon district.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—The following telegram has been received from Cairo, Egypt: "Disquieting rumors are current in regard to the situation in Syria. Bedouins arriving here from the Arish desert say the Druses are in arms and fears are entertained of a massacre in Lebanon."

Official reports from Beirut show the growing gravity of the situation there. Another Christian was killed yesterday, the Turkish soldiers are making common cause with the Mussulmans during the attack on Christians, a number of houses have been pillaged, one French shop was completely destroyed, and the French residents, becoming terrified at these depredations, have abandoned their homes and sought refuge at the French college, where between 200 and 300 refugees are now gathered. The American naval commander, it is asserted in the dispatches received here, proposes to land marines at Beirut, but the foreign consuls believed the step inadvisable at this time as it might lead to an increase of the excitement prevailing and precipitate a crisis. The vali of Beirut has proved himself

All Reform Councilmen Were Not Asked to Sign Platform.

PARTY COMBINATION

Larkin and Stevenson Accused of Inconsistency and Forgetting Some Pledges.

MAYOR HAYS CRITICISES

Controller John B. Larkin and his political associates in common council have taken good care to exclude reformers outside of the Citizens party from their "orphan society," whose platform was given to the public yesterday. The publication of this remarkable document brought forth many interesting developments. Controller Larkin, in giving out the platform, stated that some councilmen of the Republican party would probably sign it. It transpires that independent Republicans who have fought valiantly and consistently for the fulfillment of all, not a few, of the ardent pledges of the Citizens party, were neither asked to sign the platform nor were their signatures wanted.

Councilman J. C. Wasson of the Twentieth ward is a conspicuous example. Mr. Wasson has fought every day since his election to councils for genuine reform, particularly for some reform measures which the Citizens party promised and which Controller Larkin "Orphan society" has not seen fit to put in the platform.

Mr. Wasson was asked yesterday why his name was not attached to the platform.

"I was not asked to sign the platform and I probably would not have signed it if I had been asked, for it would have put me under obligations to the Republican machine, which seems to be the position of those who have signed it. I am a Republican. The cardinal principle of the Republican party is government for and by the people. I have made up my mind, after my experience with the Citizens party, to stay in the Republican party. If it goes wrong the best thing I can do is to stay with the party and try to join those who seek to bring about reform within the party and not outside of it.

"Every pledge named in that platform, which has been carried out by common council, has been kept with the assistance of the Republican members of that body. Without the assistance of the Republican members the reform measures could not have passed common council.

"I refer to the franchise ordinance levying a tax of 5 per cent. on the gross receipts of public service corporations which passed common council with the solid vote of the Republican members. I also refer to the ordinance granting the Pittsburg & Ohio railroad the franchise on the Monongahela wharf, for which the company agrees to pay an annual rental of $10,000. This ordinance could not have passed common council without the help of the Republican members.

"I wish to say in this connection that, while Mr. Larkin and Mr. Stevenson did not see fit to ask me to sign their platform, that it was myself that first proposed the $10,000 rental on the Baltimore & Ohio franchise and I gathered considerable data about the matter which I

TRAGEDY ON TRACK FROM WILD FLIGHT OF AN AUTOMOBILE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Zanesville, O., Sept. 9.—The first day of the Muskingum county fair today ended this evening with the fatal injury of two persons and the serious injury of four others. Earl Kiser of Dayton and Carl Fisher of Indianapolis are here with two racing automobiles, engaged to give two exhibitions each day of the fair. This evening at 5 o'clock, when the crowd was densest, the two started around the track in one machine. When entering the quarter stretch the tire of one of the rear wheels bursted and the nute, which was going at about a two-minute clip, turned sharply and crashed into the picket fence along the outside of the track. The fence was shattered and the auto ran 20 feet into an exhibition wire fence that was being displayed on the grounds.

Hundreds of people were in its path and that more were not injured or killed is considered a miracle. John Goodwin was knocked down and run over by the machine. He is now dying at the Good Samaritan hospital. He sustained a broken leg and internal injuries that are considered necessarily fatal.

Hamilton Shuts, a Roseville farmer, was drawn under the machine and dragged with it to the wire fence. The entire body was mutilated with deep cuts and painful bruises and the big machine had to be pried off him. His clothing was cut into shreds and when he was rescued he was absolutely naked.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ross Beebe were followed, the former sustaining a broken arm and body bruises and the latter a severe shaking up and shock by being lifted high in the air and falling 15 feet away.

James W. Stourts of McConnellsville sustained a compound fracture of his right leg and hip. Kiser sustained a sprained ankle and is being cared for at the Rogers hotel. Fisher was not injured.

A crowd of 4,000 saw the accident, which caused a panic.

The racing events were of the usual first-day character and slow time. Results:

Farmers' trot, purse $100—Castoria, Blake, Robert H. and Minnie Highland finished in the order named. Best time, 2:30½.

Farmers' pace, purse $100—Harry Russell, Jane Wood, Jim and Rosie A. finished in that order. Best time, 2:36.

Farmers' run, purse $50, half-mile heats—Bess, Sleepy Bill, Nellie H. and Hazel S., in order. Both heats to one horse.

DEMOCRATS OPEN OHIO CAMPAIGN

Candidates Johnson and Clarke Take the Stump in Tent at Akron.

TAX QUESTION THRESHED OUT

Cleveland Mayor Outlines His Theories on State Government — Senator Hanna Is Made a Target for Both Speakers.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

AKRON, O., Sept. 9.—The Democratic state campaign opening meeting was held in this city tonight, addresses being delivered by the Hon. Tom L. Johnson, candidate for governor; John H. Clarke, candidate for United States senator, and Henry George, Jr., of New York.

Mayor Johnson, accompanied by Messrs. Clarke and George, arrived in this city from Cleveland this afternoon and was met by the reception committee. After dinner had been served a parade was formed and marched from the hotel to the place of meeting, where Mr. Johnson's tent was already comfortably filled. Judge G. R. Grant of this city presided over the meeting.

Mr. Johnson spoke as follows:

We have in this campaign three great questions to present to the people of Ohio. These are the question of home rule, equitable taxation and the destroying of the unholy, if not corrupt, alliance between certain managers of the Republican party and the owners of valuable special privileges. No one denies that every locality should have the right to control its own local affairs. This justice of local self-government is universally conceded. This is also true of equitable taxation. And no one claims that we have either local self-government or a system of just taxation.

Says Conspiracy Exists.

Some men will deny that there is a corrupt alliance between some Republican leaders and the owners of valuable special privileges in this state. But our hope of success, not only for the Democratic party, not only for the government of the state of Ohio, but our hope in republican institutions rests on this fact. That when the people realize the existence of this conspiracy they will not only resent it, but by their votes destroy it. Such bargains and intrigues can not stand exposure.

The city of Cleveland furnishes an excellent illustration of the issues of the Democratic party in this campaign. Cleveland has become known as the most completely equipped city in Ohio. Since I have been mayor 15 injunctions have been issued against the city in the interest of the owners of valuable special privileges like the street railroads and the gas and electric light companies. And after each injunction the Democratic plurralities have been larger than before.

Senator Hanna, who is financially interested in some of these public service corporations, with the aid of Attorney-General Sheets, has been able to prevent the city from compelling the public service corporations to pay their just share of the taxes and has so far blocked the establishment of a 3-cent fare street railroad to compete with the 5-cent fare monopoly.

Clarke Talks About Hanna.

Mr. Clarke also spoke in part as follows:

"Let well enough alone." "Stand pat." "Continue to stand pat." "Hands off." "For God's sake, keep letting well enough alone." This, in his own language, is the sum of the political wisdom and statesmanship in which Senator Hanna has given counsel to the people of this state and nation for several years, as if, forsooth, he thought the national life of this great people and the business of it would stand still, not move, at his command.

The business of the country has refused to stand still at Mr. Hanna's command, but, on the contrary, has thrived in speculation such as was never seen before, and now stands upon what all men fear is the verge of collapse, and capital and labor halt in daily expectation of a crash for which the president and secretary of the treasury by their public speeches show that they distinctly share. This condition has been largely brought about by the disturbance of business caused by the high tariff taxes, through which millions of dollars have been unnecessarily taken from the people and the channels of business and locked up in the United States treasury or loaned out by it to favored banks.

Referring to the Philippine policy of the Republican party, which he denounced, Mr. Clarke said he was in favor of granting the Filipinos immediate independence, reserving coaling stations, which they have always been ready to grant to the United States, and of saying to all the rest of the world: "Hands off this attempt to form a government of the free."

GOVERNOR NASH ILL.

White Visiting Exposition at Cincinnati He Is Attacked by Heart Failure.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Gov. George K. Nash became a patient in the Emergency hospital at the fall festival this evening, suffering from heart failure and heat exhaustion.

The governor and his staff, accompanied by the festival officials, had been seeing the sights at the festival all afternoon and a little before 6 o'clock he complained of feeling faint and tired and said that he would have to lie down. He then collapsed and for a few minutes was thought to be dying. He was at once taken to the Emergency hospital.

Doctors at once began to give him cold baths and packed his head in ice. The doctors say that his heart action is erratic but do not fear serious results—at least not immediately.

Later the governor was reported to be resting better and feeling stronger. Members of the governor's staff say that his illness is not serious and every effort is being made to quiet alarm.

May Have to Answer for Murder.

HAVERFORD, PA., Sept. 9.—(Special.) William Leighton, arrested for assaulting Edwin Pratt, the Bryn Mawr expressman was given a hearing tonight. Ten witnesses said Leighton was eight miles from the scene. The evidence on which the authorities hold the prisoner is the statement which Pratt made at the hospital. A touching scene was witnessed in the police station when Leighton's father and mother bade him goodby. Pratt is now at the Bryn Mawr hospital in a dying condition. Leighton was committed to the Norristown jail without bail.

MOTHER AND BABE BURIED TOGETHER

Pathetic Funeral from the Morgue of Mrs. Cordes and Her Little Daughter.

BUT THREE MOURNERS PRESENT

Both Victims of the River Laid in One Casket and Interred in the Uniondale Cemetery—Husband and Father Declined to Attend the Services.

Pathetic in its environments and impressive in its simplicity was the funeral services held in the waiting room of the Alleghany county morgue late yesterday afternoon over the remains of Mrs. Margaret Cordes and her 5-year-old daughter, Violet. In one coffin reposed the mother and her child, the little girl being nestled to her parent's bosom, just as she had been when the heart-broken woman leaped into the Allegheny river, bent on ending their wretched lives together.

There were but three mourners, the mother and two sisters of Mrs. Cordes. The plans for the funeral had been made immediately after positive identification of the bodies. There were no pallbearers, and three newspaper men and a deputy coroner volunteered to carry the casket, with its double burden, to the hearse. The Rev. John A. Jayne, pastor of the Observatory Hill Christian church, delivered a touching address to the little group that gathered around the coffin. Mrs. W. J. Billing, organist in the Observatory Hill church, led in the singing.

Identified By Relatives.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Hannah Hopkins, mother of Mrs. Cordes, and the dead woman's two sisters, Mrs. Ina Schumacher and Mrs. Effie Davis, came from Altoona and after some hesitation identified the two bodies. It was decided at once to hold the burial services. The bodies were placed in one casket, and Mr. Jayne and Mrs. Billings hastened to the city to lend their good offices toward comforting the sorrow-stricken women.

It was the first funeral to be held from the new morgue building. In the big, cheerless waiting room the trio of mourners sat in tears. The casket was brought from the dead house and placed upon trestles in front of the big oaken mantle. Engraved on a plate on the top of the plain casket were the words, "Rest in Peace." Some person had not neglected all sentiment, and on the coffin lid a little bouquet of white asters seemed to add another touch of pathos to the scene.

The services which followed were not like a funeral. While the exercises were the same as might have been heard every day in the Christian burial service, there was something which recalled the final act in a tragedy. When Mr. Jayne rose to speak the commonplaces of mortal life deserted the thoughts of those who sat within the sound of his voice.

Small But Impressive Gathering.

The three mourners, the singers, two women employed in the morgue, two young women stenographers, the deputy coroners and the newspapermen filled the room. The most fashionable funeral could not have compared in its impressiveness with that sad gathering.

The minister recited the twenty-third psalm and a portion of the twenty-seventh psalm. The choristers sang a hymn. Mr. Jayne had prepared no elaborate address. He spoke a few words of comfort to the bereaved women and asked them to depend for their guidance upon Almighty God and to go to Him with their burden of sorrow.

"I have wondered what Christ would say were He to come here and conduct this service," said Mr. Jayne, his voice trembling with emotion. "I think he would forgive the woman—aye, His love would inspire him to repeat those words he spake to Mary in the olden times—but for the man and for the society which blames the woman and receives back the male sinner, I think Christ would only have words of the most severe condemnation.

"The faults of our brothers we write on the sands; their virtues we inscribe on tablets of loving memory. So shall we here. It is not for use to judge, but we can praise those virtues which our sister had shown by her short and tragic life."

Prayer at the Grave.

A prayer followed and at the grave in the Uniondale cemetery the benediction was pronounced. Mrs. Hopkins and her daughters, almost prostrated by their grief, returned to Altoona.

The dead woman's career seems to have been a pathetic one. Her mother Mrs. Hopkins, said yesterday that she married against the wishes of her parents when she was 16 years old. Her husband was 10 years her senior. Their child was born in 1898. In March, 1901, the wife decided to leave home and take her child with her. Mrs. Hopkins persuaded her to leave the child with them. The young wife did this and secured employment. Later she left Altoona and came to Pittsburgh. In July, 1902, she returned home for the child. The girl was brought to Pittsburgh by her mother, where she has been since that time.

The woman's husband, H. B. Cordes, is a machinist and is still living in Altoona. Mrs. Hopkins sent for him when she learned of her daughter's death and asked him to come to Pittsburgh and see his child. This he refused to do, Mrs. Hopkins said.

Field Day for Co. H, 14th Regiment.

Company H, Fourteenth regiment, N. G. P., held at the regimental rifle range yesterday a field day and shoot, in which the first prize, a silk umbrella, was won by Private Smith, who made the highest score. Qualification scores were made by Sergeant F. W. Maeder, Corporal King, Privates Caswell, Clements, Smith, Heimstedt, Tullis, Doherty and Taylor. Musician Metts, and several others. A number of the regimental officers were guests of the company and a luncheon was served. Lieut Hugo Leidenroth is in command of the company in the absence of Capt. Grigsom.

FORMER DIRECTOR FIXES THE BLAME

this committee, since this investigation show that I was right."

Mr. Leslie said that Controller Larkin was partly responsible for the prevalence of the disease by his refusal to countersign the contract for the erection of the Municipal hospital and delaying it a number of months; also that the controller and the finance committee were to blame for stopping vaccination because of their refusal to appropriate funds.

This last statement was backed up by the statement of the city bacteriologist, Dr. E. G. Matson, who admitted when asked, that the vaccination would have been started in April this year if funds were on hand, whereas it did not start until toward the middle of July.

Accused Citizen Managers.

The former director of the public safety department also stated that the Citizens party managers had promised the residents of the Thirteenth ward last campaign that the municipal hospital would be removed from their ward and that this promise was responsible for the delay in the construction of the new and larger hospital, which was stopped by the Thirteenth ward citizens getting an injunction in the courts.

Chairman Stevenson demaded to know from whom Mr. Leslie got the information that the Citizens party managers had promised to remove the hospital from the Thirteenth ward, and Mr. Leslie declined to say. Mr. Stevenson insisted upon knowing, and Mr. Leslie replied:

"It is none of your business; that was what the Thirteenth ward people told me."

Dr. W. R. Batt, state quarantine officer, was an important witness for the health bureau. He said he was appointed by the state to see that the quarantine regulations were strictly inforced and that every community exercised proper vigilance in the treatment of smallpox. The statement of Dr. Batt was a high tribute to the efficiency of the methods pursed in Pittsburgh.

Local Methods Approved.

Dr. Batt said he had paid two visits to the Municipal hospital and, with the facilities at hand, the hospital was as well conducted as in any well-governed city of the country. He said he had observed nothing wrong and declared that the quarantine system was particularly efficient, he having tried repeatedly to enter quarantined houses without being stopped by guards, but failing. The city needed a larger hospital, he said, because physicians would not permit patients of more than ordinary means to be taken to the hospital unless they could be put in private wards.

The charge of Controller Larkin is that the disinfectors of the bureau had earned money during the time for which they were paid by the city by disinfecting houses outside of the city was emphatically denied by John Benning, a disinfector of the health bureau now and under the former administration. He said that he owned his own disinfecting apparatus and materials and that the disinfecting outside of the city had been done only when working eight hours a day for the city and after his day's work for the city was done. He denied any connection or knowledge of the so-called Pittsburgh Disinfecting Company, which the controller charged was composed of health bureau employes.

While Benning was on the stand Councilman Upperman forced the controller to deny responsibility for an item in an evening paper that the city disinfectors had saved labor by killing what is known as the germ tests by making the tests outside of rooms which were supposed to be disinfected.

Pitcairn on the Stand.

A. J. Pitcairn, former superintendent of the bureau, denied the accusations of the controller that his disinfectors had earned money disinfecting houses outside the city during the time for which they were paid by the city. Mr. Pitcairn was asked about bills of $800 for postage stamps which have not yet been paid.

He stated that the stamp expenses of the bureau were about $100 a month; that when there was no money last winter Assistant Controller E. S. Morrow had given his chief clerk an order for stamps, and that the postmaster had furnished the stamps for which a warrant was drawn in April, after the new appropriations had been made. Mr. Larkin said he could not understand how the stamps had been purchased without the money when the government did not allow the postmaster to sell stamps on credit.

Director Moore answered the controller's objections to the whisky contract for the municipal hospital by stating that he knew of only one barrel of four-year-old whisky that had been furnished the hospital for eight-year-old whisky and that this barrel had never been paid for.

Charges Block Bureau's Work.

Director Moore took the controller to task for not making specific charges. The controller replied that he was aiming at the former administration, notwithstanding the fact that the men in direct charge of the treatment of smallpox now are the same as under the former administration.

After Dr. Batt's testimony the committee adjourned until next Tuesday. Director Moore asked that the investigation be completed as soon as possible, as the charges of the controller were interfering seriously with the work of the health bureau, as patients refused to go to the municipal hospital after reading the criticisms of the controller published in the papers.

THE BOARD WANTS AN EXPLANATION

nephew by the faculty of the school. The boy with several others had been guilty of an indiscretion. Shannon says that his nephew was suspended and the faults of the others were overlooked.

"The fact that my nephew had been badly treated," said Mr. Shannon, "had considerable to do with my reviving the scandal. As treasurer of the school I am not a trustee, but many people thought that I was. Ever since the publication of the alleged 'rake-off' I have been twitted every time I go to Pittsburgh, Oil City or other towns where I have business. I am asked by my friends how much of the 'rake-off' I got. I decided to clean up the whole affair and put the blame where it belongs. I informed the trustees that if they did not bring suit to recover the $2,750, I would. The board decided to investigate and appointed this committee: Dr. J. T. Riner, ex-Senator A. M. Neely, J. S. Shirley, S. K. Clarke and E. M. Wilson. The first three were trustees when the money was paid over. The committee was appointed by President A. G. Corbett. Neeley was a member of the senate at the time.

Says Hoy Handled Money.

"The committee does not swear the witnesses. They are allowed to make their own statement. J. T. Maffett is attorney for the board. I am represented by G. G. Sloan and A. A. Geary. My lawyers are not permitted to examine the witnesses. Representative J. A. F. Hoy admitted having come to my bank and getting the money, which he says he paid to Mitchell, who was stopping at the Jones house. I paid the money to Hoy on an order properly drawn by the board of trustees. The cash was handed to him in the directors' room of the bank. He put the bills in an envelope and left the room. It made a bulky package.

"As treasurer of the school, I had no knowledge of what the money was for, when I paid it out. Several days before the order was drawn, Mr. Pinks told me that there might be a rather large demand made and if the school did not have that much money on deposit, he requested me to carry the paper for a few days until the state appropriation was received. It is my recollection that within 10 days after I gave Hoy the money, the first installment of the state appropriation reached here. If the investigating committee whitewashes the affair, I will not let it drop. Just what I will do, I am not prepared to say, but I am in the fight now and intend to go through with it.

"Prof. A. J. Davis, who was principal of the school at the time, told me a couple of days ago that he intends to bring criminal prosecutions against every person supposed to be connected with the affair. Davis was elected principal of the Punxsutawney schools during the summer and before he had an opportunity to begin his work, he was removed. He blames the interests here who are opposed to him with his troubles and thinks that they secured the assistance of Mitchell in getting him out of the Punxsutawney schools."

Sure to Get Into Court.

Mr. Sloan, one of Mr. Shannon's attorneys, says that there is no question about the case getting into the courts. Acting under a recent supreme court decision, the trustees are given an opportunity to bring the suit. If they fail to act, then Shannon is free to proceed and he will have better standing in the courts. The lawyer says that much testimony has been given at the investigation and it will be no trouble to go into the courts and fix the blame. Many points which were not understood by the prosecution in the original case, have now been made clear. Mr. Sloan had a stenographic report of the evidence taken.

The testimony given at the first day's hearing was the most important. These notes have disappeared from the office of the stenographer. Mr. Sloan says that prosecutions for embezzlement can be made, but that the statutes bar information for conspiracy. Hoy is a distant relative of Shannon and it is being charged that an effort is being made to vindicate Hoy so that he can be a candidate for a fifth term as a member of the legislature. When asked about this Shannon said:

"He is coming out of this thing in good shape. He has a great many friends in the county and if he wants to go to Harrisburg for a fifth term he will be hard to defeat."

Senator Mitchell was expected here today and the investigators met at the court house to take his statement. Secretary Clarke announced that he had been in telephonic communication with Mitchell, who is ill at his home. The senator assured him that he would either be here tomorrow or forward a complete statement of his side of the case. The committee will meet tomorrow to listen to this testimony. There will be a meeting of the trustees Friday and the decision of the investigators is expected then.

TRYING TO CHECK THE IRISH EXODUS

Anti-Emigration Society of Cork Adopts Resolutions Against It.

FREE TICKETS ARE AN EVIL

Feared That If Young Men of Emerald Isle Continue to Flock to This Country the Old Sod Will Soon Be Depopulated.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Irishmen of America are being blamed for the depopulation of Ireland and the Anti-Emigration society of Cork has issued an appeal to American Irishmen to cease sending prepaid passage tickets to their relatives at home, charging that the Irish nation will be dead in a few years unless the "evil" of free tickets is stopped. The resolution, which has been received by Irish societies in this city, follows:

"We earnestly appeal to our exiled kindred in the United States not to aid any longer in the expatriation of the remnant of the Irish race remaining in Ireland by sending prepaid passage tickets to America to their relatives at home, and by offering other inducements to them to desert their native land; and we look to the Irish priests and public leaders in America to raise their voice against this system of free passages, which is responsible for two-thirds of the 3,000,000 Irish now in England to vanish."

In response to this appeal, New York Irishmen, led by Patrick Ford, the editor of the Irish World, are writing to their friends in Ireland that the United States is not a land of flowing milk and honey and urging them to remain in Ireland.

"The poor people of Ireland need to be disillusioned," says Mr. Ford. "There was a time, doubtless, when bread and work for all the idea of the well-known emigrant song was the actual condition on this side of the Atlantic, but none of our young folk living today have any recollection of such a time and most certainly such a time is not now. As to bread of course no one may die of hunger in the United States, that is, if he reveals need at the charity office or at the kitchen door of any well-to-do citizen."

OHIO WHOLESALE GROCERS FORMING A COMBINATION

Preliminary Plans Completed for $10,000,000 Company Under New Jersey Charter.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 9.—According to announcements made by M. N. Letts, for his brother, F. C. Letts, of Chicago, who for some time has been working to secure a combination of wholesale grocers in Ohio, all preliminary plans were completed here today, for the organization of a $10,000,000 company with a charter authorized under New Jersey laws.

J. E. Neffenbach, of Dayton, president of the Ohio Wholesale Grocers Association Company and L. E. Daw, of Toledo, will, with Mr. Letts, be at the head of the company, it is stated.

Fifty men were here today, and all agreed to subscribe for stock. It is proposed to buy stock in large quantities and to prevent ruinous competition.

TWO WOMEN MURDERED.

Divorced Husband Kills Former Wife and Mother-in-Law Before His Son.

SPRING GREEN, WIS., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Two women murdered, an attempt at suicide and the capture of the murderer by a posse are events which transpired last evening in the town of Wyoming, six miles south of this city. The victims are the divorced wife of George Brandt and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Murphy.

Brandt came to the Murphy farm about 6 o'clock last evening. While Mrs. Murphy, aged 60, was seated on her porch he crept behind her and fired a bullet into her brain. Death was instantaneous. Brandt then went to the barn, where he knew his former wife would be employed about her task with the stock, and finding her there, he shot her, killing her instantly. The murderer then walked to a neighboring farm and after reporting himself in a barn attempted to take his own life, but lacked the nerve to accomplish his purpose.

Mrs. Brandt was 32 years of age. A 12-year-old boy, the son of George and Mary Brandt, was the only witness of the terrible crime. A posse was formed here when the boy brought the news. It went out determined to lynch Brandt, but it was found that the man was probably not mentally responsible, and he was locked in jail.

DIED OF SMALLPOX.

Three Deaths at the Municipal Hospital and Eight New Cases.

Three deaths occurred at the municipal hospital of smallpox yesterday. They were: Glenn E. Irwin, 28 years old and single, of 3509 Butler street; Edward Decker, 21 years old and single, of No. 21 Long alley, and Charles Edwards, colored, 18 years old and single, of the rear of Wylie avenue and Francis street.

Eight new cases of the disease were reported yesterday. They were: Mrs. Nellie Lincoln, No. 2615 Kirkwood street; Robert Hampney, No. 69 Soho street; Mrs. Mary Miller, No. 4226 Mifflin street; William Martin, No. 500 Stockholm street, James Swint, No. 1441 Penn avenue, and Margaretta, Laura and Baby Long of No. 3122 Liberty avenue.

The directors of the Eighteenth ward school board yesterday dismissed the children attending the Sunnyside school at McCandless avenue and Fifty-sixth street and fumigated the school room. Ninety children attend the school. On Tuesday two of the pupils Lilli and Fred Peterson, living at Camelia and Fifty-sixth street, were found to be suffering from smallpox.

James Green, colored, of the rear of No. 806 Church avenue, Allegheny, a smallpox patient at the North Side municipal hospital, escaped at 2 a. m. yesterday. He was captured at his home at 8 a. m. and returned to the hospital.

to be weak and incompetent to deal with the situation, and therefore, Nesim Pasha, the vali of Damascus, was ordered to assume the direction of affairs in Beirut. Nasim Pasha, who has already arrived at his new post, is displaying great energy. The consuls express the hope that he will be able to stem the disorder.

Sentiment at Berlin.

The nearest French warship to Beirut is in the gulf of Volo, Greece, but unless Nesim Pasha speedily restores order and completes safeguards French citizens, France will act decisively by dispatching warships from Toulon.

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—The German foreign office approves of Admiral Cotton's intention to land a force to protect the United States consulate at Beirut if necessary, and of his binding a landing party to readiness to protect foreigners there. The officials here say it would be just what the German government would do under the same circumstances. Nevertheless the feeling in official quarters over the appearance of the American ships at Beirut appears to be that it complicates the Turkish situation, "because," it is asserted, "a new element has been brought in, which acts independently of the powers, now that the presence of the powers is more or less co-ordinate and the porte may know what to expect. But the American action is not easily criticised and will tend to excite the Turkish government and add to the complications."

Several of the German newspapers, while rather restrained in their language, look with distrust on the presence of the American warships at Beirut, as likely to disturb the Mussulmans. Other papers however say it is not fair to ascribe the outbreak to the arrival of the Americans. The Tageblatt says Admiral Cotton is a cautious and reliable commander and not headstrong, and compliments the tone of his reports to Washington.

Preparing to Retaliate.

SOFIA, BULGARIA, Sept. 9.—The Macedonian organizations are preparing a memorandum, to be presented to the representatives of the powers in which they will declare that the insurgents intend to resort to reprisals for the Turkish atrocities. The memorandum gives detailed information of villages destroyed and the massacre of their inhabitants. It declares that 40,000 men, women and children have been slaughtered and 120 villages burned. In the list of villages given only two are in the vilayet of Adrianople. The others are principally in the Monastir vilayet.

The memorandum repeats the sentiment recently issued by the insurgent general staff at Monastir, that the Turks, instead of fighting the insurgents have instituted a general massacre of the Christians. The organizations declare they are issuing the present memorandum because they are no longer able to restrain the bands from retaliation and henceforward the responsibility will rest with the great powers which instead of attempting to moderate the Turkish barbarities are calling on the Turks to speedily end the revolution.

Warships Wanted at Salonica.

The Dnevnik says the consuls at Salonica have requested their ambassadors to send warships to that port, as they are in fear of dynamite outrages.

A band of 600 revolutionaries engaged the Turkish troops between Melnik and Demirkissar. The Turks are reported to have lost heavily. Eight thousand Turkish troops have gone from Lonzagrad to the Bulgarian frontier. The towns of Prilep and Monastir are surrounded by troops and no one is allowed to enter or leave them.

The inhabitants of the district of Okrida have armed themselves with rifles and joined the insurgents in the mountains. The Turkish authorities in the Adrianople vilayet have ordered the destruction of mills and groceries. Thousands of women and children in the district are suffering in the mountains and are starving.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 9.—The porte announces that Nazim Pasha was sent to Beirut with two battalions of troops to take temporary charge of affairs there. The vali of Beirut, it is also announced, has not been deprived of his authority, but he will carefully regard the advice of his new colleague during the stay of Nazim Pasha at Beirut.

Cotton Wouldn't Interfere.

While the rioting was in progress, the Beirut officials further state, no appeal was made to Rear Admiral Cotton to land marines, but he replied that he could not intervene in a quarrel among Ottoman subjects.

The porte intends to concentrate 30,000 to 70,000 troops at Adrianople. It is said that 2,000 insurgents have been surrounded at Kuz-Kilisseh, 22 miles from Adrianople, and official circles here momentarily expect news of their surrender or annihilation.

Notwithstanding the large number of troops concentrated at Adrianople, the regiment of Hamidieh cavalry to which the sultan presented colors September 4 will leave here this evening for Adrianople. It is alleged that the dispatch of these troops can only have one meaning, namely, massacres in which the Kurds are destined to play the same part as the Circassians did before the Russo-Turkish war.

Sixty battalions of redifs on a war footing are waiting at the different mobilization centers in Anatolia ready to start at a moment's notice.

The Bulgarians who were arrested here on the eve of the anniversary of the sultan's accession have been released.

READY TO STRIKE.

Coal Miners of Colorado Preparing to Fight for an Eight-Hour Day.

TRINIDAD, COL., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—District Organizer John Gehr of the United Mine Workers of America arrived here today to complete final arrangements in the coming struggle of the miners for the eight-hour workday and bi-monthly pay day.

According to Mr. Gehr, the struggle will begin about September 15 and will be long and bitter, but the miners are confident. Seven hundred tents and sufficient provisions to last the 2,000 coal miners in Las Animas and Huerfano counties are on the ground at Trinidad, and a sufficient amount of supplies is stored at other places throughout Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming ready for use when the strike is precipitated.

The strike order will affect in the neighborhood of 10,000 miners and hundreds of coal operators are threatened, it is said. The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company is the largest corporation in the entire jurisdiction.

DEATH CAME TO HER WHILE SHE WAS WAITING

Family Found Mrs. O'Leary Dead When They Returned Home.

While sitting in a chair waiting for her relatives to return Mrs. Mary O'Leary, 60 years old, of No. 413 Sheridan avenue, McKeesport, died of heart disease last night, about 9 o'clock. The family had been out and Mrs. O'Leary agreed not to retire until they came home. When the family returned they found her in a chair dead. She had been troubled with heart disease for some time.

A negro about 25 years old was found dead in a car of lumber in the Gilkeson-Sloan yards on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad yesterday morning. The number had fallen upon and crushed him while unloading from Bessmer, W. Va. It is thought he came from Wheeling, as a pawn ticket for a pair of trousers made out to H. Prowell of No. 1046 Market street, that city, was found on his pocket.

An unknown man, about 60 years old was struck by car No. 42 of the Connellsville division at Schoonville last night and the car ran on to his body and he was dead when released. It is thought he came from Cleveland.

Michael Geoghan was killed at the Shaffer bridge works at Glassport yesterday morning by a pile of beams falling upon him.

John Bollywater, an Austrian of Clairton, died at the McKeesport hospital yesterday afternoon of injuries received in the morning in the Clairton steel works by being run over by a car.

Coroner Jesse M. McCleary yesterday received a letter from G. L. Gutwick of Canton, O., with a description of his son, who disappeared from that place on July 27, to compare with the body of the unclaimed boy killed at Glen Osborne station on September 2. Coroner McCleary made the comparison of the descriptions and they tallied with the exception of the teeth. Gutwick said his son had two teeth missing, while the teeth of the boy at the morgue are perfect.

THIEL COLLEGE OPENING IS ENJOINED BY COURT

Judge Miller Issues Order Restraining Removal of School to Greensburg.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

GREENVILLE, PA., Sept. 9.—The scheduled opening of Thiel college at Greensburg tomorrow will not take place unless the trustees desire to be held for contempt of court. This was the day set for the hearing of the injunction case instituted several months ago by the citizens of Greenville. The college people did not appear at Mercer, but wired that their attorneys were away. Judge Samuel H. Miller then granted an injunction, not only restraining the removal of the college from Greenville, but also forbade the trustees from opening the college at Greensburg.

Judge Miller also continued the temporary injunction issued last Saturday night restraining the removal of the personal property of the college. Profs. Frank, Smeltzer and Zuber left tonight for Greensburg. When informed of the injunction being issued, one of the members stated that he did not know what the procedure of the college authorities would be, but they understood it had been determined in the event of trouble that the school would be opened probably under the name of the Greensburg seminary, which institution was to have been merged with Thiel.

WILL WED THIS MONTH.

Senator Fairbanks' Daughter to Wed Ensign Simmons of the Navy.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Invitations were issued today for the marriage of Miss Adelaide Fairbanks, daughter of Senator Fairbanks, to Ensign John W. Simmons, U. S. N. The marriage will occur at the senator's home in Washington on September 30. The announcement follows a series of denials on the part of both Senator Fairbanks and Mrs. Fairbanks, who declared their daughter was not engaged to be married.

It was given out by the officials of the office of the Marion county clerk today that Senator Fairbanks had made an effort to have removed from the files the record of Miss Fairbanks' suit for divorce from Herbert Fairbanks. Mr. Fairbanks, a son of Horace Allen of this city, to whom she was married in 1897 and divorced last December. Her maiden name was restored.

CURFEW MUFFLED IN WILKINSBURG

Youngsters Will Have Their Freedom While Blue Law Crusade Is On.

EARLY HOURS ARE FAVORED

Latest Reform in the Big Borough Will Not Be Launched Until After a Campaign of Education—Big Meeting Is Being Planned.

Wilkinsburg is not quite ready for a curfew law. At a joint meeting last night representatives of the various churches of the borough decided to carry on a campaign of education before asking the council to pass an ordinance requiring the youngsters to be kept indoors at night. It was discovered, also, that the Woman's Suffrage club of the town had anticipated the action of the churches in a demand for early hours for children. A committee will be appointed from the laymen of each congregation to arrange for a mass meeting, which it is hoped will create universal sentiment favoring the curfew.

The halt was called in the matter because the blue law crusade is still going on, and it was deemed wise to proceed cautiously in any further reform agitation. At last night's meeting, which was held in the Wilkinsburg Presbyterian church, a resolution asking the borough council to take up the matter had been introduced and remarks favoring it were being freely given when Harry E. Carmack, attorney for the blue law committee of 12, arose and said:

Takes a Shot at Facetious Ones.

"We have just gone through a severe fight in which the line between the church-goers and non-church-goers has been sharply drawn. In councils it is said that sneering remarks have been made respecting the committee of 12 in its efforts to enforce the Sabbath laws. People in speaking of the Sunday situation have tried to be witty. Wilkinsburg has been called 'the Holy City' and one eastern newspaper said: 'When all the righteous have filled up heaven, St. Peter will try to place the remainder in Wilkinsburg.' While such things are being said I think it would be better to proceed with less haste.

"However, I think it should be the sense of this meeting that we are unqualifiedly in favor of the curfew. Let us take up a campaign of education, and there will be no opposition sentiment when the people are ready to ask councilmanic action."

At this point the Rev. Robert Rock made a motion for the appointment of a committee composed of one lay member from each evangelical congregation in Wilkinsburg and for the meeting to be placed on record favoring the curfew. A standing vote was taken, and the motion was passed unanimously. The Rev. Dr. Thomas Parry, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Wilkinsburg, who acted as chairman of the meeting, announced that the committeemen would be named by the pastors of the respective congregations and that a report would be made to him next Wednesday night. Arrangements will be made at that time for a curfew mass meeting. A series of tracts entitled "Shall Curfew Ring to Save Our Children?" will be bountifully distributed through the town.

Mostly Unmarried Women There.

The meeting was attended by about 200 persons. The majority were unmarried women. The Rev. O. R. Miller, field secretary of the national reform bureau of Washington, D. C., made an address of some length in which he pointed out the benefits of the curfew law. It was announced that the Woman's Suffrage club of Wilkinsburg several months ago had passed a resolution asking council to pass a curfew ordinance and that the women were only waiting to summon courage to present the matter in a formal manner.

The police of Wilkinsburg favor the curfew proposition. It is declared that while 85 per cent of the town's population retire at 9 o'clock at night, there are too many children permitted to roam the streets after dark. Ben Franklin's creed, "Early to bed," etc., is observed almost as a law in the big suburb, and many left the meeting last night before its adjournment at 9:35 o'clock in order that the program of their daily routine would not be disturbed.

If a curfew law is enforced a special dispensation will be required for the Boy's brigade, which meets for drills on Thursday evenings.

OBJECTED TO A WOMAN.

Hugh Laughrey to Get a Hearing Charged With Badly Beating His Brother.

Hugh Laughrey of No. 8 Boston street, who knocked his brother John unconscious during a fight yesterday morning, will be given a hearing this morning in the Oakland police station before Police Magistrate E. C. Negley. The Laughreys live in the second story of No. 8 Boston street and have been unfriendly over a piece of property that is in dispute.

It is alleged that early yesterday morning John went to get some beer and returned with the beer and a woman. Hugh, who was asleep in an adjoining room, was aroused by their talk and upon finding a woman in the house became enraged. A fight resulted, in which John was knocked unconscious by a club in the hands of his brother. He was unconscious for several hours.

PITTSBURGHER CHOSEN.

R. W. Norton Made Secretary of American Plate Glass Association.

The election of R. W. Norton of Pittsburgh to succeed L. G. Hadley as secretary was the only change made in the officers of the American Plate Glass association which yesterday ended its annual meeting at the Hotel Schenley. The other officers re-elected are E. C. Sherburne, Boston, president; J. A. Cheyne, Pittsburgh, vice president, and C. R. Myer, New York, treasurer.

Prices were left practically unchanged by this meeting. A large number of technical matters were brought up and settled between the manufacturers and jobbers who compose the association. The next meeting will be held in three months at the call of the president.

STONE CONTRACTORS SECURE MEN TO WORK

Fifteen New Yorkers Arrived in Pittsburgh Yesterday, but Refuse to Do Anything.

A party of 15 stone cutters of New York arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon. They were employed by a New York agency to come to Pittsburgh and work. Their fares were paid to this city, which was to be returned to the contractors in two payments. Joseph Miller, one of the party, said to an official of the trades council:

"We were employed to come to Pittsburgh to work. We have been on strike in New York several months, and are badly in need of money. The agents told us they were engaged by the Stone Contractors' association of Pittsburgh to secure men. They told us there was no strike or any trouble here, and we decided to come to Pittsburgh. Being all union men we thought it best to locate the local stone cutters' business agent before applying for positions."

When told that the local cutters had been on strike for six weeks they remarked they would not work here. They probably will be furnished transportation to New York, unless places can be found for them under contractors not affiliated with the Stone Contractors' association.

WANT THE CHILD.

Different Stories by Parents That the Court Will Have to Pass On.

Habeas corpus proceedings were instituted against Mrs. Kate Cornwell of No. 310 Dorsey street yesterday by Mrs. George Tysinger to recover her 4-year-old son, William. It is charged that the child was taken surreptitiously and forcibly from the premises and custody of the petitioner and placed in the hands of the defendant.

George Tysinger, husband of the plaintiff, has quite a different story to tell. It appears that after six years of married life, more or less unhappy, he separated from his wife, the latter keeping the little boy in her care. This was about a month ago, and last Monday morning Tysinger went to his wife's residence in Isabella street with the avowed purpose of removing his son from the premises, which he did.

His actions were largely influenced because of rumors that a diphtheria case existed in the Isabella street house, and he feared for his child's health. Boarding with his sister, Mrs. Cornwell, he naturally brought the little boy to her home where he now is. As a result of Mrs. Tysinger's proceeding, an order was made requiring the child to be brought into court next Saturday.

Charged With Cruelty to Boy.

William Allen of No. 118 Rochelle street, Knoxville, was sent to jail by Alderman James Sherran yesterday on a charge of abusing his 14-year-old son Avean. The information was made by Agents H. S. Shaw and E. U. Thompson of the Humane society. It is alleged that Allen beat his son with a whip which had a five-foot lash and a three-foot stock.

Boy to Go Back to Reform School.

Leo Hellman, aged 13 years, of No. 272 Lowry street, Allegheny, is in the Allegheny lock-up and will be taken to Morganza today. The lad was caught yesterday trying to break open a cash drawer in the candy store of Mrs. M. Cutler, at the corner of Middle and Ohio streets. Hellman was released from the Morganza reform school on parole several weeks ago.

Our Fashion Show of Fall Styles.

People back from the Madison Square Garden (New York) Fashion Show tell us they didn't see there as much that was new as what they could find in this store. At any time in any season we are ready with a simultaneous showing of fashions as they make their appearance in the fashionable centres of Europe. That's why we maintain an office in Paris and London. As to New York Fashions, they appear here just as quickly as they do there.

We are well ready with Autumn and Winter fashionable attire for both women and girls, men and boys.

Our New Dress Goods and New Silks for Autumn.

Autumn business has set in with a rush—people are back from their vacations, the excursions to the Exposition have begun and everybody is full of Autumn enthusiasm, and that means lively store times.

For the thousands of out-of-town people who will be here today we set forth some of our most engaging numbers in new dress goods. We especially invite attention, not only of women from the surrounding towns, but of the women of Greater Pittsburg to our Remarkable Offers of All-Wool Waistings for 38c.

These waistings are referred to in detail in their proper place in today's news. We can say in all truth that the saving on Silks and Dress Goods, if bought here, will amount to quite a sum. Do us the favor to follow.

COLORED DRESS WOOLENS.

Some special prices for materials for Fall and Winter both for women and children:

48c a yard for a 65c grade of all wool Cheviots—new Fall shades. The right material for girls' Summer dresses and for women's serviceable every-day dress.

48c a yard for a 30-inch width of Fancy Mixed Suitings, copies of the foreign suitings, new color effects, and so imitative of the foreign weaves as to be scarcely distinguishable.

75c a yard for a $1 grade of 50-inch Fancy Zibeline Velour, new and late shades.

75c a yard for $1 grade of 54-inch Flecked Tweeds, both in styles for street and for traveling wear.

New Zibeline Plaids and new Tartan Plaids, new Silk and Wool Plaids and new Shepherd Plaids, fine materials for the separate skirt, 65c a yard and up to $1.65.

BLACK DRESS GOODS.

A number of specials in Black Dress Goods, and let us say that if any of these are not satisfactory there are equal values at equally interesting prices behind them.

68c a yard for a $1 grade of 38-inch Zibeline Skirting, admirable for the separate skirt, as it does not require lining.

75c a yard for a $1 grade of black all wool Voiles; these voiles would be extremely cheap were we to charge the $1.

$1 a yard for a $1.25 grade of black Crepe de Paris, a silk and wool material, splendid weight either for house or street wear.

New Wool Waistings About Half Price.

38c a yard—75c grades.

Last week we closed a bargain with a large importer for 6,000 yards stylish Wool Waistings. The goods arrived yesterday.

Thousands of Pittsburg women have paid 75c a yard for the same grades, and in this special sale we propose saving each buyer 37c on each yard.

If that is not good news then we do not know what the meaning of good news is.

There is the prettiest collection of colorings we ever asked women to see—pinks, blues, several shades of tan, nile, cream, turquoise, old rose, reseda, cardinal and Persian stripes in many different widths.

Altogether the handsomest offer we ever made in material for women's dress.

LINING SILKS.

These Lining Silks are on sale at the Lining Counter, just to left of Fifth St. entrance. We have some of the best Lining Silks that were ever sold in this city for the prices. Among them

Black and Colored Lining Silks for 35c a yard that we know well enough are being sold all around us for 37½c a yard.

For 50c a yard we have an All-Silk Taffeta, 19 inches wide, full line of colors and black. This is one of the most dependable lining silks woven.

For 58c a yard there is the famous Samson Lining Silk, a new weave of all silk, guaranteed in every particular. It comes in all the preferred colors, as well as fast black. It is 19 inches wide. It is guaranteed not to split nor tear.

In Cotton Linings the new lines are complete, new colors to match the Autumn dress. Among today's specials is the following:

20c Black Morie Percaline,
20c Black Mercerized Sateen,
For the very special price of..... 14c yd.

Belfast Handkerchiefs for Women and Children.

We go right to where the best Linen Handkerchiefs in the world are made, we buy them by the thousands and thousands of dozens, and that is why good Linen Handkerchiefs can always be bought here for less prices than anywhere in Greater Pittsburg. As to the linen, prove it in any of the numerous ways. The best will always stand the test.

Yesterday we received direct from Belfast an immense invoice of inexpensive Handkerchiefs. Here are the prices—

10c each, $1.10 a dozen—Women's Pure Linen Hemstitched Handkerchiefs, two sizes of hems—⅛ and ½ inch.

12½c each—$1.35 a dozen—Women's Hemstitched Handkerchiefs of an extra quality, of Irish linen. Three widths of hems—⅛, ½ and 1-inch.

An in-between size of Handkerchiefs for boys, one that we had specially made to our order. It is a size between regular boys' size and that used by men. Fine Linen Handkerchiefs and there are two grades, 18c and 25c each.

More New Dress Silks.

Women cannot pass an hour more pleasantly than in looking over our extensive variety of new silks. There are silks here that will please the most exacting taste. There are the most inexpensive of silks, yet thoroughly good, and there are silks that will cost anyone as much as $10 a yard. Some words on the less expensive silks:

68c a yard for an 85c grade of Fancy Silks, in particular pleasing stripes and the smartest of small neat effects. The ever popular check is also included. These silks are on special table.

$1 a yard for a 24-inch width of Zibeline de Soie, soft and dull finish. New Autumn colorings.

$1 a yard for 24-inch Crepe Poinsille, a new weave of this filmy stuff, with small pin dots of self color. All the leading Autumn shades.

65c a yard for an 85c grade of black Taffeta, an excellent silk with quite a rustle, and it is ably guaranteed for wear, 27 inches wide.

95c a yard for $1.10 grade of black Peau de Soie with a suede finish. This number is full yard wide.

Very large assortment of single width black Crepe de Chine, 24 inches, 68c and $1 a yard. The double width at three several prices, $1.35, $1.65, $2 and up to $5.50 a yard.

A Great Walking Skirt for $5

Women will appreciate this bit of news, more especially as the Skirts (there are several grades) are worth $8 and $10.

They are in latest Fall styles—two styles—one 7-gore finished with lap seams and small stitched flounce trimmed with buttons; the other with 7-gore flare, stitched yoke and habit back.

The cloths employed are Zibelines, Cheviot and Melton, and the colors are tan, gray and black.

Don't wait, thinking you will get natty separate skirts for a less price this season—we hardly think so.

New Styles Wall Paper for Autumn.

Our Wall Paper Department, fifth floor, is well equipped with best American Papers, as well as best Papers from abroad—French, German and English goods, as well as Papers from Japan.

Many of these Wall Papers are hand painted, and were selected with a view to pleasing people of artistic tastes.

You may know the variety is broad when we say there are papers here that retail for $26 a bolt.

But we have looked after people who desire inexpensive papers.

To such the fact is pointed out that we have a fine assortment of beautiful new Papers beginning at 10c a bolt and running easily up to 50c.

Smart Autumn Jackets for Women.

The little 19-inch Covert Jacket is as popular as ever, especially for wearing cool evenings.

These smart little jackets are here in many different grades, each and all good or they wouldn't be here—$10, $15 and up to $20. Strapped or stitched seams, all lined with best quality taffeta.

New ¾ length Coats for Autumn—27 inches, 40 inches, 45 inches—either coat back or plain flat back—material, tan covert—at $20, $25 and $30.

The New Velvets for Autumn.

The richest weaves, something indescribable in print, something that must be viewed critically to be appreciated, is the new Velour Chiffon. As handsome goes it is the handsomest velvet we have ever seen. An ample color range.

21 inches wide, $2.25 and $2.50 a yard.
45 inches wide, $4 and $10 a yard.

New Velour du Nord in broadtail effects—looks for all the world like baby lamb—just the thing for coats, nothing more fashionable, 32 inches wide, $3.50 a yard.

Large assortment of new Plain Velvets, high lustre, soft finish, Autumn colors, $2 a yard.

For Automobile Tourists.

The Basket Section of the Basement has English Picnic Baskets, admirable for automobile tours, fitted for 2, 4, 6 and 8 persons. Fittings are practically indestructible. The baskets are so arranged they are neither bulky nor hard to carry.

Prices from $6 and up to $40.

If a basket without fittings is desired, notice is given that we make any size or shape to order—make it quick, too.

People who haven't got an automobile use these baskets just the same when they go out on a little trip.

65c Shirtwaist Patterns for 45c.

Understand this clearly, ladies—an entire Shirtwaist Pattern for 45c!

The Basement Wash Goods Store has 1,000 of these Shirtwaist Patterns of such materials as oxford, cheviot and poplin, in white, blue, champagne, yellow and green grounds, overspread with Roman stripes and small figured effects.

Some of these goods have a napped back and women will easily understand how such goods can be usefully employed.

Regarding Art Needlework.

One of the interesting places of the store just now is the Art Needlework Department, where all sorts of articles for fancy sewing are sold, together with other things of a fancy nature. For instance—

The daintiest of Folding Baskets in colored and figured art ticking and denim, for 50c each.

All the newest designs in Stamped Pillows, 49c, 65c, 75c and $1.

The newest novelty in the Pillow line is a souvenir pillow of Pittsburg, stamped ready for completion, 50c; with heavy rope cords, $1.

An exceptionally complete line of finished Pillows in a varied range of inexpensive prices.

New and quite late novelties in Stamped Centers, in Mount Mellic, White and Colored Linens, beginning at 20c and running easily along up to $2.50.

The daintiest little Sewing Aprons, made of best quality of fancy silk, with three pockets, for $2.25.

Tom L. Johnson, speaking at Akron, carefully excludes the national issues declaimed in his platform from his opening address of the campaign. He talks tax. It is not single tax, though, as the platform would indicate. Mr. Johnson does not make very clear his plan for reforming the system of taxation, but he lays heavy emphasis upon the defects of the system in use and abuses the attorney general of the state in general terms that he does not attempt to back up by specific details. It is a genuine Johnson speech, appearing to be vigorous, but lacking in specific information. It is only intended as a vote catcher for the moment and will fail even in that purpose.

In connection with the listing of new stocks of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, there is made public a balance sheet of that corporation. Statements from that source are rare, the management preferring to keep the affairs of the company private. The statement is, however, a very good one. The earnings are shown to be larger than the public has believed and the holdings of the company include valuable property and securities that practically guarantee continuance of present prosperity. The recent enlargement of the works at East Pittsburgh is indicative of the pressure of orders upon the concern for thoroughly up-to-date electrical equipment, and the issue of new stock discloses the substantial increase in earnings.

Councilman Joseph C. Wasson makes some pertinent comments upon the manifesto of the "political orphans." It is a fact, as he says, that every ordinance mentioned as having passed common council and awaiting the action of select was passed in common by the votes of Republican members. The Republican members of common council have stood for the reforms and they will give support to the sensible proposal to abolish the delinquent tax collector's office, which was omitted from the manifesto. The Republican members of common council, too, have had a better conception of public business than the majority of the Citizens members, which is quite natural, since they have not been owned by anyone standing behind the scenes. Mr. Wasson has the right idea and is likely to remain, as he has been, a very valuable member of the city council.

A call has been issued for the meeting of the Ohio Valley Improvement association at Evansville, Ind., October 14 and 15. The call is on broad lines and indicates truly the wide interest in the matter. The benefits of navigable water cannot be confined to a few vessel owners, or even to a few shippers, but, by the nature of the case, distribute themselves to every person resident in the contiguous region. The improvement of the Ohio river is not a mere local matter, but an enterprise of national consequence. It is not only for the advantage of states bordering on the river, but for the whole country. It is in this aspect that the proposition to saddle the expense, or a part of it, on the states is unjust. No such policy was pursued in the improvement of harbors on the coast, harbors or channels on the lakes, and no such policy can be countenanced in dealing with the Ohio river.

Following in due course the visit of King Edward to Vienna, the announcement now comes that a joint line of action has been agreed upon between England and Russia in regard to the Macedonian troubles. Meanwhile the most appalling statements are being given out by the revolutionary committee as regards the ravages of the Turks in Macedonia. Between 30,000 and 50,000 Bulgarian inhabitants are reported to have been massacred, while 150,000 women, children and old men are hiding in the mountains. These big round amounts suggest the presence of oriental hyperbole. When it is remembered that the revolutionists have labored to provoke the outbreak of Turkish fury with a view of producing conditions appealing to European sympathies, it is not likely that their reports of the state of affairs will lose in the telling. But there is no doubt that the revolution is being drowned in blood, and that the cruelties which the Turks never fail to perpetrate when their fanaticism is aroused have been abundant. At the same time there are evidences that the Macedonian troubles are stirring up racial and religious hatreds all over Turkey, and there are fears of outbreaks in Lebanon and other places.

Considerable attention is given the movement among the farmers to organize selling agencies. The idea is not altogether new. California fruit producers have an organization of this kind that has proven highly profitable. It owns and operates a line of refrigerator cars and acts as sole agent for a large number of fruit growers. Several years ago there was an organization of farmers in the west which made a success of its business for one year, at least, and we believe is still operating. The idea of a farmers "trust" to blanket the whole country is nonsense, of course, but there is no reason why farmers in certain sections should not pool issues, organize selling agencies, thereby finding better markets and profits than by "bucking each other" into the hands of shrewd and thrifty middlemen. The price to the consumer will continue to be regulated by supply and demand.

While the full opinion of City Solicitor William B. Rodgers, concerning the franchise tax ordinance, is not made public, it is understood he declines to guarantee the legality of the measure now in possession of the select council committee, and suggests that the linear foot method is more likely to stand the test of the courts. There is a pretty well-founded belief that it is the purpose of the Citizens leaders, in conjunction with the notorious select council combine to pass an ordinance, as a pretense of fulfillment of campaign pledges, that the franchise corporations are satisfied will not stand before the courts. This will not fool the people. The only way to satisfy the public will be to pass a measure fully approved by City Solicitor Rodgers. The sane and honest procedure would be to submit the matter to Mr. Rodgers, officially, and then pass the ordinance as drawn by him. Any other course will be open to suspicion.

Campaign Buncombe.

The sudden flurry in the Citizens camp in regard to the fulfillment of election pledges is an indication that the campaign has fairly begun. It is only during the campaign that the Citizens party, since it passed under proprietary control, has shown any interest in reform. The general franchise tax ordinance referred to in the joint manifesto issued by Controller Larkin, Councilman Stevenson and 10 other councilmen, was passed by common council on January 20. Select council has held it up for eight months with the entire acquiescence of the Citizens leaders. The Baltimore & Ohio railroad ordinance was also passed by common council months ago, after the compensation had been raised to a fair figure. The Pennsylvania railroad ordinance was also passed by common council and is among the measures hung up in select council. The purification of the water supply was started in the right way under the Republican administration and the long suspension of work upon it is a result of Citizens party management. Upon all the matters referred to the Republican party has a clean record. The manifesto omits all mention of the delinquent tax office reform, though abolition of the sinecure excrescence was a prominent feature of the reform program upon which the Citizens party carried the municipal election.

The Citizens leaders are in control of both branches of councils and the relations between Mayor Hays and what is known as the select council combine are understood to have become quite intimate during the fight over the Pennsylvania railroad ordinance. Chairman Murry Verner is also understood to be in close relations to this political control. The known facts all fit in with the report that franchise legislation is to be converted into a piece of campaign buncombe. We credit Councilman Stevenson with full honesty of purpose, and the astute proprietors of the Citizens party propose to turn his reputation for integrity to campaign account. But while in return for his support to the ticket he is to be allowed to pass a batch of reform measures, care will be taken that they will not amount to anything.

While City Solicitor Rodgers has given an opinion upon various matters in the franchise tax ordinance, he was not asked to give any opinion on the subject of its legality. Unless legislation on the subject is backed by the opinion of the city solicitor as to its legality, it may be set down as practically worthless, meant for show and not for use.

The Kaiser's Victory.

One who is not a member of the national guard or of the regular army, even though he may have shouldered a gun or worn a sword in the boys' brigade or paid court to a daughter of the revolution, is unable to properly appreciate the march and counter march for points and other things associated with the tactical maneuvers of the mimicry of war in which the heads and legs and lungs and hearts of generals and armies are exercised as a preparation for the real conflict which may come and the danger of which causes nations to burn money. But even a member of the national guard or of the regular army will be unable to form from the brief press dispatches an independent judgment of exactly what happened in the game of mimic war near Halle, in Prussia, yesterday, between two contending German armies. It is a spirited, if brief, account of the mimic battle, which tells that at 6 o'clock in the morning the Emperor William, "in command of two Saxon army corps, attacked the opposing army corps with ferocity, stormed several of the latter's batteries and compelled the Prussians to retire," but it is not sufficiently technical to shed much light on the affair for the man who is up in the science of attack and defense. How the ordinary reader, whose imagination is taught by the action on the few words that tell of the gallant achievement of the kaiser, accompanied by ferocity, will wonder just how real was his victory. If the war lord commanded incognito the victory may have been as real and as dashing and his charge as ferocious as it sounds, but failing information on this point there will be some curiosity to know whether the Prussians would have been so easily disposed of had the attack of the Saxons been personally conducted by another commander. It was related earlier during the progress of this same game that in another charge led by his majesty, his forces kept on charging the theoretical enemy and insisted on riding right through them after he and his gallant regiments had been theoretically annihilated. Therefore we will wait fuller returns from this latest reported imperial triumph, ferocious as it is declared to have been, before feeling fully satisfied that the Prussians were as badly defeated as is made to appear, or that they could not have repulsed the Saxon foe if they had steamed up as much as they were capable of, or if they had been led by the emperor, with all the ferocity with which he led the Saxons. Doubtless it would have been bad form for the Prussian general to have been as ferocious as his emperor on an occasion of this kind, and perhaps he was "on to his job," as it is sometimes expressed. There is usually a certain etiquette about these things and he would have been a bold Prussian general who would so unnecessarily overlay himself as to make his emperor but a poor figure in a swell charge, especially when he charged with ferocity. Nevertheless this mimic warfare is a good thing for armies, etiquette or no etiquette, as it helps them to digest their food and otherwise keeps them in condition, and it is a good thing for the emperor, for it keeps him employed and out of the mischief which satan finds for idle hands, though it is probably lese majeste to say it.

American Influence.

All the actual news that comes from Beirut continues to prove the need of the presence of the American warships in the harbor. While Admiral Cotton declined during the rioting to land marines, saying that he could not "intervene in a quarrel between Ottoman subjects," it is plain that a situation exists which may make it necessary for him to take vigorous action for the protection of foreigners. Advices from Beirut show that the Turkish soldiers instead of affording protection and being a guarantee of good order took sides with their Mohammedan brethren in the street conflict with Christians, and even indulged in pillage of shops owned by Christians. If the conditions indicated by these things have not inspired the Turkish government at Constantinople to act, it has been spurred by the possibilities it sees in the presence of American warships and the prospect that they will be joined by the ships of other nations, so that the inefficient vali of Beirut has been superseded temporarily at least by a governor who is represented to be more capable and energetic. Whether he is so or is not remains to be proven, but that a change has been made is an admission that it was necessary. That the soldiers and the population of Beirut need curbing is clear. Doubtless had not the shot directed toward the American vice consul caused President Roosevelt to send Admiral Cotton to Beirut matters would have continued to go from bad to worse, but the president's promptness directed attention to that quarter and the cure has been begun. The new governor may be equal to his work, and thus render intervention from any quarter unnecessary, but as it was undoubtedly the moral influence of the American fleet which produced the change it will be well to retain a warship or two at the scene until order is wholly restored and its continuance assured.

The Texas Hoax.

Reference was made in these columns the other day to the absurd hoax sent broadcast from Texas about the Standard Oil Company pumping salt water from the Gulf of Mexico into the oil wells at Beaumont. We were disposed to treat it as a huge though clumsy joke, as, no doubt, it was intended by the original perpetrator. The New York American, however, takes the thing seriously, gives it wider publicity and prints a vituperative editorial based upon it. This suggests the probability that many persons, unfamiliar with the processes of producing and marketing petroleum, may believe that such a thing could be done.

The fact is that the Standard Oil Company has no pipe lines in the Beaumont field, to begin with. Even if it had they would not be connected with the wells, but with the tanks at the wells. If salt water should be pumped through them from the gulf the first effect would be to fill the pipe line receiving tanks with the fluid. From there it would be necessary to pump the water into the tanks at wells, forcing the oil contained in them out on the ground. That could not be done without attracting the attention of the men in charge of the wells, and there the trouble would begin.

The conception is so utterly absurd to anyone who knows how wells are operated and how oil is piped that we cannot understand how a paper like the American could have been deceived into giving it serious attention. It is true the American says it "may or may not be true," as throwing a modicum of doubt upon it. But that makes the matter worse. The American should have knowledge enough of the matter to know that it could not be true. And as for the question it asks: "What will Texas do with Standard Oil?" the American ought to know that Texas did all it could, years ago, to prohibit the Standard Oil Company from doing business in that state, and that is why the Standard has no pipe lines there through which to pump either oil or salt water.

News from Philadelphia of the comparative success of a new effort to take control of the Philadelphia Democratic organization away from Messrs. Donnelly and Ryan is believed to indicate the presence of Messrs. Wanamaker and Gordon somewhere under the woodpile.

It ought to be now apparent to the owners of the fusion organization that they did not sufficiently consider the depth of the mire into which they were plunging when they kicked over their platform and endeavored to establish a right of way through the mud.

The reports that the Chinese dowager empress has developed a swelling under one eye, and will certainly die within a year, may not amount to much. Many crowned heads have developed a swelling all over, and are still alive.

Sounds emanating from W. C. T. U. headquarters may be accepted as notice that the permission to smoke up at West Point is not considered to be in any way related to the pipe of peace, of which we have all read.

The local Citizens organization may indorse the Republican state ticket, but the ensuing silence is eloquent notice that reciprocity is too busy endeavoring to be the handmaiden of protection to mix in.

The great truth that broken promises win no elections stands up as stiff and straight as a telegraph pole in the pronunciamento of Mr. Larkin and the eleven members of common council.

The experience of the county chairman of the Citizens organization with a favorite horse isn't a circumstance to what will happen to the Citizens candidates at the November election.

Mr. Bryan's failure to connect with Tom L. Johnson at Cleveland on Tuesday is significant of the inability of both Johnson and Bryan to connect with public sentiment.

No, the patent right leased to a Pittsburgher for a brick machine is not controlled by Bigelow, Prenaer & Co. Their plant has been running full for some time.

The difficult problem which confronts the fusion managers is not the formulation of a new platform "equally as good," but how to fool the people.

While the future of the Penn incline plane is in doubt, it may not be out of place to remark that all incline planes have their ups and downs.

Justice moves with a leaden heel, but is materially assisted in her efforts by the bricks which one section of the Citizens party throws at another.

We observe that the only Democratic daily continues to take sides against the United States.

The First Dental School.

The world's first school of dentistry and its first dental society were established in America. A Philadelphia dentist pointed out this fact the other day: "We gee out American dentistry from France," he said. "A French dentist came here to fight for us during the revolution, and he taught all he knew about his profession to an American soldier. The soldier afterward established in Baltimore a school for dentists—the first school in the world—and it still flourishes. The great-grandson of the man who founded it, the revolutionary soldier who learned the principles of his profession from a French dentist beside a campfire, is practising brilliantly in the suburbs of Philadelphia today. Every generation of the family, from the founder of the world's first dental school on down, has had a dentist in it."—New York Tribune.

The Motorcyclists.

A federation of American Motorcyclists has been formed. A short time ago the man who used one of these speedy and handy machines was regarded with curiosity. The fact that the new sort of cyclists have banded themselves together shows that this new branch of sport has progressed. We may look forward to a time when the two wheeled automobiles will be as plentiful as the flowers that bloom in the spring. The result will be that the area of homes will be extended vastly, and people will be able to settle further from railroad stations and trolley lines.—New York Evening Sun.

BALLAD OF THE BEAUTY DOCTOR.

All ye whose charms appear to fade,
Whose cheeks are sunken, lean and lined,
On whom old Time has made a raid
And left his little marks behind,
If you will come to me you'll find
With my renowned May gathered dew—
Wise Nature's boon to womankind—
I make old faces into new.

You may be forty in the shade,
You may have dwindled, pealed and pined
And on the upper shelf be laid,
But if you are you need not mind;
I'll prove to all not deaf and blind
That, though their years are not a few,
With my rose cream and dew combined
I make old faces into new.

To put you back a full decade
My lilac lotion is designed,
My powder's of the finest grade,
My essence of pomegranate rind
Imparts a blooming, youthful hue,
You may be young, if so inclined,
I make old faces into new.

L'ENVOI.

Princess, of course, you have divined
My offer is not meant for you.
The inference perchance might grind,
"I make old faces into new."

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

O joy! O life! come he drew
With one long kiss my whole soul through My lips, as sunlight drinketh dew.
—Tennyson.

How does that statement of the case suit you? Is it strong enough and warm enough, and sweet enough to fill the bill?

Should you wish more of it you will find all of it in Tennyson's "Fatima," which is included in the various collections of his poems.

The idea is hardly original with Mr. Tennyson, since Marlowe uses it in "Faustus" away back in 1580, or thereabouts, and he got it from someone who got it from someone who got it from Adam, or maybe from Eve.

But where it came from is neither here nor there with you, nor does it cut any figure in your program.

If you love him you will do as you please, let come what will, just as our dear old mother Eve did, and any other good woman since her day. So, if you don't know whether to kiss or to be kissed, go ask your mother, or some other good woman who knows what's what. There is no harm in asking, you know, even if you don't need the answer.

* * * * *

Mr. Quiet Observer: I noticed something to your column some time ago concerning love and marriage subjects to which every young woman, or nearly every one, perhaps, is interested at this time, and from the manner in which you handled the subject, I have decided that you can give advice in a case in which I am deeply interested.

I am a young woman of 21, and have received for nearly two years the attentions of a young gentleman, a few years my senior, who has told me that he desires to marry. I have come to know him very well and believe that he is sincere in all he says.

I have thought from time to time that the life of a bachelor girl is the ideal one, but at times believe that I could return the feeling which has been shown in this case toward me. Do you think that I should follow the dictates of my heart, as they come from time to time, without knowing whether my feeling is as strong as that which is shown toward me?

The young man in question seems to feel that I am the one necessary to complete his happiness and assures me that he is willing to accept the affection which I can give him. I have talked in a general way with those older than myself on the subject, but they have not given me satisfaction.

I trust that you will be able to give me the result of your observation, I am. DOLLY.

Of what use is a bachelor girl?

Were girls designed and made to become bachelors? And for that matter, men were never designed for bachelorhood, but they can succeed better in the bachelor business because they are better suited to its peculiar circumstances.

At the very best girls can only play at being bachelors, and that without being successful. Have you ever seen one who was satisfied with her success in the play, or even with the role itself?

How can any rightly constructed woman be satisfied with such a make-believe sort of life?

She can't be, and that's all there is of it, for she was designed and made and adapted as partner to man—partner of his life, his home, and his success.

Although created separately in body they are intended and designed to become one in spirit, in soul, and in life. Either is incomplete without the other and unable to fill the missions in higher life for which they were created.

The bachelor man and girl represent the human animal in its fullness. In this phase of life man has a decided advantage over woman, in that he is stronger, a born food procurer, and a fighter. Woman isn't half fit to skirmish for a living, nor will society allow her to do as much skirmishing as she can, or as she would like to do.

It would seem that God himself hath written over the entrance to the door of the bachelor girl's: "Who enters here leaves hope behind."

* * * * *

It was a part of the original plan that men and women should love each other, and when nature plans it is useless to counter-plot, for she will have her way somehow, sometime.

Nature's plans are general and yet plain and exact, as well as strictly reliable. Nor is it difficult to conform to them if we want to.

The trouble lies in our wanting to have our way about things whether it is nature's way or not. And like a kind, trusting mother, she allows us to try our way, and if we get into trouble she patiently waits for us to get out, and then takes us back to herself again, there as up-the best she can, which is all or even more than we ought to ask.

It won't worry nature a little bit for you to attempt to improve on her ways of doing things, for she isn't selfish in the least, nor mean, nor stuck up. And if you succeed you may have all the glory and all the profit. And if you fail you shall have all that goes with it.

Therefore, if you feel satisfied that you are not built according to nature's general plan you are at liberty to discover what special plan you were designed to fit. If you find that you fill the specification of the bachelor girl born, then you are it, and knowing where you are at, you can proceed on your way.

Owing to your being constructed according to a special plan you will not find your counterpart cut out, leaving you to choose one for yourself, the end of which you cannot see, and you know not of.

* * * * *

To marry for policy is the very worst policy, because marriage isn't that sort of an institution—at least marriage under the laws of nature isn't of that sort. Man has made what he calls marriage laws, taking his cue from the divorce laws of Henry VIII., which were special and intended to fit his own particular case.

Nature's marriage laws did not always fit when some king wanted his son to marry the daughter of some other king, or when some proud and mighty, but very poor, duke had a chance to marry the daughter of some rich fellow. So it was agreed that nature was not up to the business, and a plan was adopted by which anybody can marry anybody else with or without love, affection, respect or anything.

According to this plan all you have to do is to get a preacher or a magistrate to pronounce you married, and there you are. Your certificate is registered on earth all right, but hardly in heaven, since things so on there according to the original plan, and without regard to the whims, the rules, or the laws of man.

A magistrate can save you from going to jail by saying a few words, but that only satisfies the laws of man, leaving the laws of God to be reckoned with later on.

So, as between being a bachelor girl and getting married—well, it is something like being between that other fellow and the deep sea. Anyway it is something to think over carefully and to conclude upon with great caution.

However, where love is, the trial is easy. So easy, in fact, that it does itself, and you don't have to think hardly any.

* * * * *

What do bachelor girls do, anyway?

What is their sphere, or spheres, or have they any that are well defined?

Where do they live, and how?

Where do they go to when they go home?

They say there are slathers of them in Boston so many, in fact, that they occupy whole hotels and apartment houses.

But Pittsburgh isn't Boston, nor have our girls developed intellectual taste and appetites that crowd them to feed and nourish on literature, fresh air and conversation.

The bachelor girl's life all right if she is in the right place for it, but if she isn't a bachelor girl really, and is only playing it for a lark, or not for any reason that she knows of, there is no telling where she will land.

And yet the bachelor girl is better off in most instances perhaps than the untrusted wife, for if there is one thing against which nature is more strongly set than another, it is unfaithfulness. To her it is a crime, the sin of which she will not quickly forgive.

A Wise Decision.

The decision of the Central Labor union to stay out of politics is a wise one. A considerable faction seems to have been in favor of placing a county ticket in the field, but a larger and more conservative element opposed the plan, and I was voted down. The wisdom of the majority is apparent.—Scranton Republican.

If the Democrats of Ohio have got enough use for Bryan to keep him busy throughout their campaign he might be employed to help increase the Republican majority in Pennsylvania by making a few speeches here.—Philadelphia Press.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE G. JENKS.

[By Pennsylvania Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—New York policemen have many and various duties to perform. They generally carry them out in the cool and calm manner of men who know their business and cannot allow themselves to be disturbed by the unusual aspect of any task. Thus it is that the policemen at the Brooklyn bridge in Park row are able to handle the immense and somewhat disorderly traffic without exhibiting any disturbance. It is a common thing for people to tell policemen that they have lost their money, and to try to borrow a nickel or a dime of the officer. Policemen are suspicious naturally. What else could they be in such a calling, which brings them face to face with rascality and shiftlessness day after day. They do not always lend the money. Charles Schlitz, one of the policemen on duty there, is not above human weakness where a pretty girl is concerned. He is only a man, after all. So, when a charming young woman told him she had lost her pocketbook, and did not know how she would get home, he handed her a dime without comment. Yesterday the girl read him the same and handed him a handsome bouquet. "By gingo, there is some good in being a policeman," was his quiet comment, as he looked admiringly after the maiden tripping away to her work.

A Lot of Fuss About a Little Word.

New York girls who have noticed that a bride in Vermont got a lot of advertising over her steadfast refusal to say "obey" when she was married the other day, are wondering whether it was worth while to make such a fuss over a simple word. The concensus of opinion among prospective brides seems to be that it was. Ministers here say they never before had so many inquiries as to whether the word "obey" is in the particular ritual they use and that weddings in this city will be distinguished in many instances by the omission of the word. Ministers are non-committal as a rule, but two of them said to me today at different times they thought the objection was nonsensical because any wife worth her salt could put her own construction on the promise to obey and her husband would be sure to agree with her.

Disappointing to Look At.

Radium is not an impressive substance to the layman. There is a small quantity of it on exhibition at the Museum of Natural History and it looks like a small pinch of light gray snuff in a glass vial. It is of marvelous power, of course, but as it lies in the carefully guarded case it does not look as if it had even a glimmer in it. It is the most disappointing thing that ever had itself announced to draw a crowd.

Commodore Tod Turns Too Soon.

Commodore Tod of the Atlantic Yacht club has come back from the 30-mile race on the ocean 24 or 36 hours ahead of time. The race was the longest ever arranged in American waters and it was not thought any of the contestants would be back before tomorrow night or Friday morning. The commodore brought his ocean schooner "Thistle into the harbor this morning. He did not win the race but his respect for coming in are his own since the petering out of interest in the international cup race there has been little general interest in yachting here.

Willis Collier as an Inventor.

Willie Collier, the comedian, has invented a new cocktail. It is described thus: "Three parts of old cider brandy, one part of Italian vermouth, two dashes of orange bitters and two dashes of maraschino. Perjake liberally and then sue for a policeman."

Conried Intends to Have a Ballet.

Herr Conried has begun to receive applications from dancers who want to be in the ballet at the Metropolitan opera house. The new impresario intends to have a splendid ballet if it can be procured, just to show the world that an American ballet can be organized and trained as well as the European article. Signor Francke who will be in charge of the ballet, is on his way to New York from Italy.

The Straw Hat and the Overcoat.

Straw hat and fall overcoat is a rot ultimatum, combination in Manhattan just now. It is traditional that straw hats should not be "called in" until September 15, but at the same time the weather has been so chilly this week that many men are disposed to wear an overcoat, particularly in the evening and early morning. The straw hat has become a matter of habit with them, and hence the somewhat incongruous get-up.

New Children's Court Well Patronized.

Brooklyn has a new children's court. It was opened for the first time today with a list of 25 cases. Brooklyn is a borough of children and it seems as if a court for dealing with juvenile offenders is needed there if anywhere in Greater New York. Most of the youngsters arraigned were charged with stealing, but of night and showing signs of incorrigibility, but the presiding justice let nearly all of them go. Only when the defendant was surly and looked as if a short imprisonment would benefit him was he turned over to an institution.

Greeks on Their Mettle.

New York has a considerable Greek population and the loyal natives of Hellas are holding meetings to arrange for raising a regiment to go to Macedonia. When they get there they will make it warm for the Turks. Although many New York Greeks are only peanut peddlers there are some wealthy men of that nationality and funds are being raised rapidly. The news of war will be powerful enough to inspire the movement being carried out, all other things being equal. There are plenty of Greeks with military experience in this city and a regiment of them would be a factor in any fight into which they chose to go. As one of them expressed it today, with a grim smile, the object was to "expel the unspeakable Turk from the unpronounceable Macedonian towns."

Devery Breaks Into the Dictionary.

"Big Bill" Devery laughed with a hearty "haw haw" this afternoon, when he learned that one of his favorite terms "chesty" had been introduced into the dictionary. Funk & Wagnalls, feeling that their new lexicon should be as nearly perfect as it could be made, decided that "chesty" was a sound word of American slang and as such should be in their book. So it is there but is not credited to Devery.

Political Drift.

It is stated upon information by the Philadelphia Press (Rep.) that the Pennsylvania Democrats do not intend to make a state campaign, but will devote their energies to retaining former Democratic counties, if they can. The Press continues: "And what will be saved? At most a few petty officers, for the party does not go before the people with any declaration of party policy. * * * This is the last and direst extremity of a great party. For more than 40 years the Democracy of Pennsylvania has been accustomed to defeat, but until within the past few years it was able to command respect as a party of courage and convictions. It has now come to the condition of being unable to make a state campaign."

* * * *

Discussing the addition to the ranks of the Cleveland fourth nomination movement of the Chicago Chronicle, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Rep.) thinks they may get as many as 20 delegates, and concludes: "From the Chicago standpoint westward the 'devils of radicalism and revolution' are in control of the machinery of the Democratic party in very nearly every state. Their triumph in Ohio the other day, too, proves that they are in the ascendant many miles east of Chicago's longitude. If this Cleveland nomination schemer could be raised a little out of the depths of the burlesque, so that people could begin to trust it seriously, it would give a good deal of comfort to the Republican party."

* * * *

The Ohio campaign, will be a square test on Bryanism says the New York Commercial Advertiser (Rep.), and it adds: "Mr. Bryan has not backed a particle at the machinery for the United States outside of a man who is outspoken against his silver views, as one thought he might. Doubtless he reasons that with Tom Johnson as the candidate for governor there will be no danger of misunderstanding the real issue of the campaign. There surely can be no doubt on this point, for Johnson is in some respects more of a Bryanite than Bryan is himself. Mr. Bryan all of Bryan's wild ideas on the platform and a few additional assortment of his own as well."

* * * *

"A week or two ago Senator Gorman was quoted as saying that the race issue was too big a question to be brought into party politics," says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Rep.). "Maryland's Democratic campaign managers, however, are determined to make a fight this year on that question. They are said to have declared that this will be the most effective question for their side that can be put forward, and they intend to inject it. It will be remembered that Gorman two or three years ago induced the Maryland legislature to pass a law which he supposed, and no doubt truly, would cut down the black vote a good deal without affecting the white vote in any material degree. Gorman profited by that legislation himself in getting back into the senate."

* * * *

"The Clarke case, therefore, is a case by itself," says the Washington Star (Ind. Rep.). "It does not point in an easy way for a reconciliation between Mr. Bryan and the majority of the gold Democratic leaders. They would be glad to have him in line next year, and concede that it would help the party's prospects. But not on his terms. None of them seeks, or would accept at his hands, any patronizing forgiveness or indorsement. They are in more in sympathy with him now than they were seven or three years ago. Some of them, like Mr. Clarke, are in favor of an income tax, and some favor election of senators by a direct vote of the people. But the money question is still uppermost and vital with them, and on that there is no possible agreement with Mr. Bryan short of a surrender on his part. And that will come at the same time there is a run of lambs."

"Among financial experts there are those who favor an asset currency, likewise those who think that with our large number of new national banks, with small capital in independent hands, the power to issue such currency would be extremely dangerous," says the New York Tribune (Rep.). "There are those who think that the great need of our fiscal organization is a system of branch banks, while others are as much afraid of any such thing as Andrew Jackson's followers were of 'Nicky' Biddle and the United States bank. With such differences among the doctors, and with the writers interested speculating on money questions coming to the community, it is idle to think of having anything radical even if it were desirable. Reform of that kind, if they are needed, should follow exhaustive discussion and general agreement on their wisdom, and should be adopted with a view to general conditions, not under the impetus of an hour's local pain. The moderate changes in our fiscal system, which would have commended themselves to conservative financiers before the recent attack of 'indigestion,' ought to meet all reasonable needs of the present situation, and if the business interests will stop chasing rainbows and concentrate their attention on these, they will doubtless accomplish something and probably all that they ought to accomplish."

* * * *

"The extend to Hon. Arthur Pue Gorman of Laurel, Md., and Washington, D. C., assurances of our deepest sympathy because of the calamity which has overtaken him," says the Baltimore American (Rep.). "Little did we think when the distinguished Marylander returned from England, rested and refreshed by a vacation, that he would so soon be called upon to look upon the corpse of all his cherished political ambitions. Little did we imagine that in a few short weeks after his birth the lifeless body of his presidential dreams would be put to rest by the ruthless destroyer of fond hopes. The calamity has fallen, however, and, veiled by the suddenness of the stroke, we can but murmur our condolences. * * * Mr. Bryan has spoken, and Mr. Gorman's hopes have perished. It is because we know the distinguished Marylander will feel very keenly the destroying decree passed by the Nebraskan that we offer him our condolences."

Means Another Foreign Landlord.

The lady has "done well," as the country wives say. What about the country of her birth? Has that done well, too, exchanging another American girl for a ducal title?

The direct advantage is certainly not apparent, inasmuch as the country will only glean the lofty contempt, but her sphere. The city of New York, for instance, where the Gould millions were amassed, sent out of it the chance of ambitious possessing the power of having a duke of Roxburgh, or well as a Duke of Marlborough, collect the rents on a large number of the dwellings, offices, hotels and other structures. Instead of having this tribute as now to women who live at least a

ANOTHER CASE OF HOODWINK

Citizens Party Plan to Fool the People So as to Secure Votes.

JUGGLING OF TAX ORDINANCE

After Measure is Passed It Is Expected to Be Declared Illegal by the Courts. Stevenson Said There Are Many Obstacles in the Way.

To give the appearance of keeping their pledges to the people and at the same time to save favored corporations that have contributed liberally to their campaign funds the Citizens party managers are planning to pass harmless legislation, at the eleventh hour, taxing public franchises. The plan mapped out for the taxing of public service corporations is a notable example.

The Citizens party in its platform declared in favor of levying a tax upon the gross receipts of these corporations, claiming that it was both legal and equitable. Since then the corporations aimed at have been friendly toward the party in power and there has been a corresponding change of heart on the part of the bogus reformers toward these companies enjoying rights for which they pay the city nothing.

The Citizens party leaders have suddenly discovered that a tax on the gross receipts, to which they were pledged, is illegal or liable to be so construed by the courts. The result has been the preparation of a new ordinance, providing another system of taxation, which will be introduced at the next meeting of councils, designed to take the place of the ordinance now pending.

To Try to Confuse Councilmen.

The intention is to so confuse the minds of councilmen that neither ordinance will be passed or that the original ordinance will be put in such shape that it will contain legal flaws so as to give the courts ample opportunity to declare it null and void. The Citizens party leaders were the first to declare a tax on gross receipts constitutional and legal and the first ones to afterward discover it to be otherwise.

In this connection the opinion of the city solicitor, which will be received by the finance committee of select council Friday afternoon, will be of special interest. It is expected to cast a doubt on the original scheme and at the same time to suggest the advisability of some other scheme. The Republican members of select council want the ordinance put in such shape that it will fulfill the object intended and then to allow the constitutionality of the measure to be tested in court.

It is the opinion of many that any ordinance that will be framed will be just for use as vote-getters and to hoodwink the people and not as revenue-producers. The fact that City Solicitor William B. Rogers is not altogether sure of the legality of the ordinance taxing corporations 5 per cent of their gross receipts is the latest thing to make the people skeptical. This franchise tax question has been watched closely for a long time, and taxpayers cannot see why if it is the intention to frame a law that will hold good more progress is not made in the matter. Said a well-known member of the Citizens party yesterday:

What a Citizens Party Man Says.

"It is the opinion of myself and a large number of my friends that there is some 'monkeying' going on. We do not believe it the intention to draft an ordinance that will do what the promises say it will. I really think that there is a compact between some of the councilmen and the owners of franchises by which the latter have been given to understand that they have nothing to fear.

"The scheme, as we figure it out, is to frame an ordinance taxing corporations, then try to collect the money and finally have the courts decide on the legality of the measure. Of course it will be found unconstitutional, and no money can be collected from the corporations on it. It will be only another case of fooling the people. No money will come into the city treasury and the corporations will go along as they have before and enjoy their valuable privileges without giving the city any adequate return."

Councilman William H. Stevenson does not believe that an ordinance such as will be considered tomorrow by the finance committee of select council will hold. Said he yesterday:

Legislation Not Suitable.

"We have not the legislation in this state for a law that imposes a tax on the gross receipts of corporations. That is the reason that I shifted from that measure to a tax on the tracks of street railways, wires of telephone and telegraph companies and other things to suit the business it is proposed to tax. In New York, Missouri and some other states they tax the gross receipts of companies, but their state laws are different from ours.

"Now right in this state—in Altoona—they passed an ordinance similar to that proposed for this city, but they never have collected a cent from it. They tried in various ways to do so, but it was a failure. The companies so far ignored the law that they even refused to give statements of their business to the city officials.

"The ordinance favored by me," concluded Mr. Stevenson, "has no effect on the vested rights of a corporation, and there would not be any trouble collecting the money if my plan is followed. In the Pennsylvania statute that gives the right to tax corporations it specifies many of those corporations, and under the head of street railways it does not say 'street railway companies,' but 'street railways.' That is another point that would be brought up. Could a tax be put on the 'companies' when the ordinance says that only 'street railways' are to be taxed?"

PERSONALS

Congressman Henry Sherman Boutell of the Ninth district of Illinois passed through the city last night over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad on his way home after spending several days in Washington. He had been there securing data for two speeches, which he is to deliver in Chicago. One speech will be delivered next Monday, when memorial services for President McKinley will be held. The other will be at the anniversary of the Northwestern University of Chicago, which will be 20 years old on October 2. He thinks the only business that will come up at the special session opening October 6 will be the Cuban reciprocity treaty. He says the finance bill, which has recently been prepared by the sub-committee of finance will not be presented until the regular session of congress.

William T. Gray, secretary of the Window Glass Jobbers' association, arrived in the city last night to attend the meeting of the association, which will be held today. Mr. Gray said that the glass situation has been complicated by the workmen in some of the factories resuming work. He contends that the market at present will compel the leading manufacturers to deal with the association, and not sell direct to the jobbers, as intended.

H. T. Forter of Greeneville, superintendent of maintenance of way of the Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad, is in the city on business. He is stopping at the Anderson.

The Hon. Joseph Buffington, judge of the United States district court, will arrive home this morning after his summer vacation. Judge Buffington and his family spent the last two months in the interior of Maine.

TRAINMEN SUBMIT THEIR ULTIMATUM

Baltimore & Ohio Wheels Will Stop Unless Demands Are Granted.

EMPLOYES IN AN UGLY MOOD

List of Grievances Contains 140 Items, Three of Which Are Important—Railroad Officials Think a Settlement Will Be Reached in Time.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9.—President of the Trainmen, John Budd, stated tonight that of the Baltimore & Ohio management failed to meet the demands of the committee at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning every wheel on the road would be tied up in 36 hours.

"There are 140 separate items," said Budd, "in our list of grievances. Of these 137 are of a minor character, but there are three items at which the corporation balks and which we consider most important. Our ultimatum is that they must be accepted. They are:

"First—When switching overtime the men shall be paid both for the amount specified in the agreement for switching and for overtime as well.

"Second—The men demand that an extra wage scale be applied to all double-heading; that is, when one crew is compelled to handle the freight cars of a train pulled by two engines. The work is extra.

"Third—The men demand that it be no longer compulsory on them to join the relief department. They object to the way in which it is managed and do not want to be compelled to insure on the terms offered. This demand is final.

"We do not need to wait for a vote before ordering a strike. We were authorized before coming to take action in case just demands were not acceded to."

The Baltimore & Ohio officials minimize the trouble and claim it can easily be settled. In the same breath, however, they say the men are in an ugly mood. Third Vice-president Potter of the Baltimore & Ohio said this evening he had looked over the list of grievances and thought an agreement could be reached.

LEAPED TO HIS DEATH.

Domestic Troubles Lead Now Yorker to Jump from Ninth Story Window.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—After fighting desperately with his fellow employes who tried to save him, John Sauer ended his life today by jumping from the ninth floor of the American Sugar Refinery building at Kent avenue and Second street, Williamsburg. Some time ago, Sauer quarreled with his wife and left her. This preyed upon his mind and he talked constantly of his troubles.

When Sauer appeared at the refinery this morning, he would speak to no one. A few minutes later other workmen saw him moving stealthily toward one of the small windows. Suspecting his motive, the men threw themselves upon him and bore him to the floor. But the man seemed possessed of more than human strength and although half a dozen had him down, he easily threw them off and crawled through the window to the roof. Then, while his horrified companions looked on, he deliberately plunged to the street, his body making several revolutions. Hundreds of men and women saw the man's death leap. Nearly every bone in his body was broken, but he lived half an hour.

FRANK A. PARKER.

Congregation to Name Pastor.

The congregation of the First Christian church of McKeesport has decided to hold a meeting next week at which the members will be given an opportunity to name a pastor to succeed the Rev. J. A. Joyce. Several ministers have preached trial sermons in the church and the one selected by the congregation will receive the call. The Rev. Mr. Joyce yesterday denied that he intends to enter the foreign missionary field. He says he will remove to Pittsburgh next week and take up other work.

OUR POPULATION GROWS RAPIDLY

United States Overtakes and Passes European Countries in That Respect.

LOSSES IN SOME STATES

South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado Among This Number—Due to Absence of Rainfall—Areas of Rapid Growth Are in the West.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The census bureau has issued a pamphlet of much interest in which the significance of the gain of population made since the preceding census is dwelt upon. A comparison is made of the area of the United States with that of other countries from which it appears that the only other countries that have a greater area or a more numerous population that the United States are the British empire, the Chinese empire, the Russian empire and possibly France. It is impossible to state with confidence the exact increase of population in the Chinese empire or the Russian empire. The population of the former is usually believed not have increased in recent decades but the increase in the other two countries is nowhere as large as in the United States.

At the beginning of the nineteenth century Russia, France, Germany, Austria and even Spain and Turkey had larger populations than the United States; at the beginning of the twentieth century the United States had outstripped all but Russia, and was increasing with somewhat greater rapidity than that power.

Some rather surprising facts are brought out by an examination of the increases and decreases in population in individual localities in the United States for the period covered in the last census. For instance the area of rapid growth in the ten years from 1890 to 1900 lie mainly west of the Mississippi river. East of the Mississippi the largest areas of rapid growth are found in the thinly settled regions of northern Wisconsin, Michigan, southern Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia, and much of Florida. In these areas, as well as in northern Maine and New Hampshire, the growth of the lumbering industry has probably been an important factor in causing an increase of population. In the southern states also the areas of rapid growth are more extensive than they are in the north.

Certain states lost in population during the census period, among them being South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado. In these four states the counties losing population embraced more than one-third of the total area of all such counties in the country. The deficiency of rainfall and other available sources of water is doubtless the main reason for the decrease. The western parts of South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas suffered the most widespread loss and showed the heaviest percentage of decrease. Certain counties in northern New England and in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan lost in population from 1890 to 1900. These counties lie mainly in regions where agriculture is not highly prosperous and the opportunities for other occupation are limited.

BIG GAS DEAL CLOSED.

Woodsfield, O., Affected by Sale of Central to Orion Gas Co. for $75,000.

A gas deal affecting Woodsfield, O., and the surrounding towns was closed yesterday, when the Orion Gas Company purchased the holdings of the Central Gas Company for $75,000. The Orion company is composed of Joseph E. Keegan, George Troutman, S. H. Carroll and H. L. Ogle, all of Woodsfield. The Central was composed of H. E. Beatty, O. H. Strong and S. Y. Rammage of Oil City.

The Central company supplied gas to Woodsfield, Minerva county, O. It has 10 miles of three and four-inch pipe, with leases on 1,700 acres of gas territory and 11 gas wells. It had about 800 consumers. The new company will supply, in addition to Woodsfield, the towns of Bellaville, Jerusalem, Malaga, Ozark and Summerton. Its supply is fully equal to the demand.

Girls' Presence Made Them Jump

Inspired by the presence of girl companions, "Red" McAllister and Thomas Jones dared each other to jump from the highest point of the Homestead bridge into the Monongahela river yesterday. As neither man was willing to admit in the presence of the girls that he did not have the nerve to make the jump, the girls took a position from which they could see the performance and watched the two men climb to the top of the structure. A man named Shinton gave the signal for the jump. McAllister and Jones reached the shore safely, but Jones almost immediately became sick, as he struck the water with his back and was bruised. When the girls learned that Jones was hurt, they quickly took a car for the city.

PROMISES

Any dentist can promise, but you are looking for the Dentist whose promises are good, and who is reliable. Wouldn't you naturally suppose a firm doing business for 17 years, born and raised in your midst, and acquiring the largest business in the state, while other Dentists have failed, are Dentists you can trust? Then why go elsewhere? Our prices are reasonable and only first-class materials are used—no "Cheap John" stuff.

Other long coat suits from $10.00 to $17.50—all small profit prices which don't give you an idea of their worth till you have seen them.

opening boys' fall clothing

When in the course of merchandising, one concern, by intense persistence in pursuit of the best, succeeds in so far excelling all that was ever done in that particular line before, and absolutely knows it, it is not unseemly to say so, and say it so positively and convincingly, as to leave no shadow of doubt as to its truth.

We say here, and proclaim it publicly to all whom it may concern, that our showing of Fall Suits for young folk from 2 to 17 years is unparalleled in the annals of the clothing business hereabouts—larger assortments—more careful attention to necessary and particularly new and long-wanted details, and the pricing of any component part of the aforementioned stock.

We haven't followed the beaten path and taken only what manufacturers offered, but have had the garments made from our ideas as to such matters, gained from long and instructive experience with the difficulties which heretofore have beset parents in buying ready-made clothing for youngsters.

Comparisons are sometimes odious—sometimes financially beneficial, and refreshingly relieve hesitating minds. We want you to come here and critically examine this showing as to merit of fabrics, superiority of workmanship, accuracy as to detail, extensiveness as to variety and financial economy as to pricing—we'll get your preference if these count—no matter where you have been before.

This is our say—it means something to parents—it's to their every interest to see about it.

Boys' Kilt Suits, 2 to 3 years sizes—all wool blue, brown, red, green cheviots and serges—silk embroidered—silk braid trimmed—$3.50 to $5.00.

Russian Suits—2½ to 5 years—navy, royal and cadet blues, red—serges, plain and fancy cheviots, corduroy and velvet—with or without collar—long or short skirts—boys' or girls' styles—$4.00 to $15.00.

Special Russian Blouse Suit is appreciable money's worth—a Five Dollar price on it, and it would go as readily—strictly all wool cheviot—royal and cadet blue—red silk braid trimmed—pearl buttons—sleeves gathered at cuffs—2½ inch hem on skirts—trousers lined throughout, $4.00.

Special Eton Russian Suit, $7.50, will meet many mothers' ideas of money's worth and style—charming and entirely new ideas in its make-up.

Boys' Sailor Blouse Suits—navy, royal and cadet blue, brown, red—serges, cheviots and mixes—sailor or Eton collars—beautifully trimmed in black, red or white band—white P. K. detachable collars and cuffs—particularly nice one for $5.00—others $3.50 to $10.00—showing that is distinctive in every way.

Norfolk Suits with regular or knickerbocker trousers—that's an entirely new idea, two styles of trousers to choose from—an idea, we think, that is original and exclusive here—great assortments of fabrics, $5.00 to $15.00.

Extra special attention is wanted to our Suits for Boys 7 to 16—they're made better in every way than ready-made garments are generally made—ordered these goods with the idea of showing clothing that was equal in every respect to the highest class tailor-made apparel—painstaking attention to fit—careful consideration of the very newest styles that are reasonable and have merit—as to workmanship, they're made as well as it's possible to make clothes—until somebody invents cloth and thread that positively won't wear out—an extra pair of trousers can be bought with some of these suits, so "guess we can get them," but they're here in stock to match the suit—all edges stayed—outlets lined — large canvas pockets — hand-made collars, lapels and buttonholes.

Therefore, we generally claim that at and between the prices of $6.50 and $15.00, we can be of greater service to you than any store hereabouts.

We are showing the best clothing made at small profit prices—made specially for us in our own special way.

Especial values in Boys' School Suits—double breasted coat — knee pants, $5.00—genuine all wool goods in extensive variety for choosing—such suits as active young America needs for the strenuosity of his daily active life and health-giving sports.

GROUP 8 TO ENTERTAIN STATE BANKERS FINELY

Program for the Ninth Annual Convention of the Pennsylvania Association Includes Many Interesting Features.

The program for the ninth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Bankers' association was issued yesterday. The sessions of the convention will be held in the Hotel Schenley on September 23 and 24.

The convention will be called to order at 10:30 o'clock on Wednesday morning, September 23. The Rev. William L. McEwan, D. D., will offer prayer; W. B. Rodgers, Esq., will deliver the welcoming address on behalf of the city of Pittsburgh, and Mr. James H. Willock, president of the Second National bank of Pittsburgh, will welcome the delegates on behalf of the Pittsburgh banks. The remainder of the morning session will be taken up with the annual address of the president, J. R. McAllister of Philadelphia, and with the reports of Secretary D. S. Kloss of Tyrone and Treasurer E. S. Lindemuth of Clearfield.

The afternoon session the same day will be devoted to addresses by Dwight M. Lowrey, Esq., of Philadelphia, on the subject of "Trust Companies," and by D. C. Wills of the Mellon National bank, Pittsburgh, on "The American Institute of Bank Clerks." The chairman of the groups will also make their reports at this session.

On Thursday, September 24, addresses will be made by William H. Smith of Philadelphia, representing the banking department of Pennsylvania, on "State Supervision," and by Hon. Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, president of the Central Trust Company of Illinois, on "Proposed Changes in Our Banking Laws." The election and installation of officers will conclude the session.

Group 8, which embraces Pittsburgh and the surrounding towns, has prepared a fine list of entertainments for the convention. On Wednesday afternoon a carriage ride has been arranged for the delegates, leaving the Schenley at 3:30 and touring the parks and residence portions of the city. In the evening a reception and smoker will be held in the ball room of the hotel. On Thursday, the 24th, the members of the association will leave East Liberty station at 1:30 p. m. on a special train for East Pittsburgh to inspect the Westinghouse plants. From there the train will proceed to Homestead, where a steamer will be waiting for a trip on the Monongahela river, returning at night. Lunch will be served on the steamer.

Group 8 has also provided an entertainment for the ladies on Thursday afternoon and evening, including a carriage ride through the parks to Homestead and a steamer trip on the Monongahela.

The executive committee of Group 8 consists of Robert Wardop, president of the Peoples National bank; R. J. Stoney, Jr., and D. McK. Lloyd, president of the Peoples Savings bank. The entertainment committee consists of R. J. Stoney, Jr., A. W. McEldowney and M. H. Bowman, the latter being cashier of the National bank of Fayette county, Uniontown.

LOW TO LEAD THE FUSION HOST

Conference Committee in New York Decide to Make Him Their Candidate.

VOTE WAS NOT UNANIMOUS

Considerable Opposition to Him Developed at the Meeting—Party Conventions Now Must Ratify the Selection.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Sept. 9.

Mayor Seth Low is to lead the fusion fight against Tammany hall once more. He was to all intents and purposes nominated tonight by the conference of the various committees appointed to make a ticket. He was selected far less auspiciously than he was two years ago, when he made his fight against Edward M. Shepard and won by 31,000 plurality. He was nominated far more auspiciously than in 1897, when he ran for the first time in the greater city and was second in the race which ended with Robert A. Van Wyck in the city hall.

Mayor Low's renomination was not made unanimously. Eleven distinct organizations participated in the conference. Of these all but three were actually Republican. Those that were not were the Citizens Union, which is composed of both Republicans and Democrats and the Greater New York Democracy and the Kings County Democracy. The Citizens Union and the Republican organizations voted to indorse Mr. Low the candidate.

The Greater New York Democracy and the Kings County Democracy appealed to the conference to give them an independent Democrat, and when they found they could not carry their point, both organizations refused to vote for Mr. Low and will report back to their organizations. Thus Mr. Low is a candidate of a fusion of the non-partisan Citizens union and the Republicans—but no candidate as he was two years ago and no such candidate as his well wishers had hoped he would be this year.

Old Ticket Renominated.

In accordance with a wish expressed almost to the point of insistence by Mayor Low the old fusion ticket was renominated in its entirety—Edward M. Grout being chosen for controller and Charles V. Fornes for president of the board of aldermen. This wish was expressed in a letter written by the mayor to R. Fulton Cutting, chairman of the Citizens Union, who had asked for some statement from the mayor as to what ought to be done. In his letter the mayor said he preferred an independent Democrat, and that his single desire was that the conference should recommend the person most likely to be elected. If he was to stand, he wished the conference to take the full responsibility of its own action. He left no doubt as to his willingness to run. He also pointed that the argument would be made that this election would have an effect on the presidential election next year and declared that he would do nothing, if elected, to aid any political party.

Two events of the last minute threatened to upset the program mapped out by Mr. Low's admirers in the Citizens Union. In the first place the executive committee of the union, which has only an advisory power over its conferees, held a meeting on Tuesday and six of the ten members voted to displace Mr. Fornes as a candidate for president of the board of aldermen again and to put in his stead Henry George, Jr.

Democrats Warn Low.

In the second place a committee of the Kings county Democracy waited on the mayor today and informed him that it was their opinion that if he encouraged his own candidacy to the point of expressing a willingness to accept the nomination, he would be responsible for turning the city over to Tammany Hall, because they were positive that he could not be re-elected. This talk is said to have impressed the mayor so much that he tried to recall his letter so as to get more time to think about it. But it was too late. The Citizens Union conferees were only too anxious to get the mayor committed. The letter had been shown and could not be withdrawn.

Mayor Low spent the evening at his summer home at Rye. He was notified of the action of the conference by friends as soon as the vote had been taken. Asked as to whether he would take immediate steps to open his canvass, he replied:

"I should hardly think so; not until after the nominations are ratified by the party conventions. At the same time we have a great fight before us and we will fight it without hesitation or faltering."

FRANK A. PARKER.

CAPT. WRINGE DESERTS.

Lipton's Famous Yachtsman to Become an American Citizen.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Capt. Robert Wringe, who sailed the Shamrock III. in her races against the Reliance for America's cup, today announced that he had decided to make this country his home. He will become a citizen as soonas the law allows.

As a result of this Sir Thomas Lipton may feel obliged to modify his recent statement that he will challenge again provided he can find a designer. Besides a designer he will now have to find a suitable skipper, if he still holds to the opinion that Capt. Wringe is the best handler of the big single-stickers on the other side.

Preparations by Knights of Malta.

The McKeesport members of the Knights of Malta are making elaborate preparations for the entertainment of the past commanders of the county organization, who will meet in the Tube City Monday evening at the headquarters of Scotia commandery No. 116. A new commandery is to be instituted this evening at Duquesne and a large number of McKeesport members have arranged to assist in the exercises. Another commandery will be instituted Saturday night at Monnessen.

Shot Dead During Quarrel.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—John Gray of Gauley Fayette county, was shot dead yesterday. It is alleged that the shooting was done while Gray was disputing with his brother Thomas. No arrests have been made.

LOST ALL HER SAVINGS.

Recent Fire on Liberty Street and Spring Alley Burns a Roll of $500.

The savings of a lifetime were lost in the recent Liberty street fire to Mrs. Elizabeth Zimmerman, who resided in one of the burned-out houses in Spring alley.

It seems strange that so many people will persist in keeping their money at home in old stockings, Bibles, and such antiquated hiding places, always at the mercy of the sneak-thief, burglar or fire. If Mrs. Zimmerman had placed her savings in the care of an old established and reliable institution like the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings, Smithfield street and Fourth avenue, her money would not only be absolutely safe, but be earning for her four per cent. compound interest.

People are quickly learning the great advantage a savings bank offers as against Mrs. Zimmerman's plan, and no better evidence of this is the fact that some 40,000 people have savings accounts with the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings and their deposits amount to around fourteen million dollars.

directors, the company has increased the authorized amount of its capital from $15,000,000 par value to $23,000,000 par value, said increase consisting of 200,000 shares of the par value of $50 each and to be assenting stock entitled to the same dividend, preference, priority and rights as the assenting stock heretofore created."

"The preferred stock of the company, limited to $40,000,000, was issued in 1891 and pays seven per cent per annum accumulative dividend. It has priority in any distribution of the assets and shares alike with the assenting stock whenever dividends on the latter have been declared exceedings seven per cent. Regular dividends on the preferred stock have been paid since it was issued and on the assenting stock since February 1900. The dividends on the assenting stock have been as follows: The first dividend on the assenting stock was paid on February 20, 1900, at the rate of five per cent per annum; from that date to May 15, 1901, dividends were paid at the rate of six per cent per annum; and from that date dividends were paid at the rate of seven per cent per annum up to May 15, 1903. On July 10, dividends were paid on both preferred and assenting stocks at the rate of 10 per cent per annum.

Other Issues of Stock.

"Of the $0,135,200 stock applied for the board of directors, by resolution adopted the 24th day of October, 1901, authorized and empowered the officers of the company to issue for cash and property $4,570,500, being 91,410 shares of the par value of $50 each. There has also been issued in addition to the $4,570,500 from time to time, under authority of the reorganization $84,700, being 1,294 shares of assenting stock of the par value of $50 each, in exchange for comon stock surrendered in accordance with the reorganization. This $4,635,200 has been issued and paid for, as follows: 21,085 shares at par for cash; 6,025 shares at par in exchange for securities; 84,600 shares at $55 per share for cash; 800 shares at $60 per share for cash; 91,410 shares. 1,294 shares presented under terms of reorganization; 92,704 shares of par value of $50 each, and of a total par value of $4,635,200.

"The board of directors at a meeting held May 13, 1903, authorized and empowered the officers of the company to make a further issue at the rate of $80 per share of 90,000 shares for the par value of $4,500,000, which issue has been subscribed for in full. The terms of the subscription were as follows: June 8, 1903, $50 per share; July 23, 1903, $25 per share; September 14, 1903, $25 per share. The holders of the last mentioned stock offered were entitled to participate in any dividends declared for the quarter ending September 30, 1903.

"The purpose of the issue of the 182,704 shares is to retire indebtedness of the company.

"We would, therefore respectfully ask your committee to now add to the list and admit to the dealings of the exchange the above mentioned $4,635,200 (equal to 92,-700 shares of the par value of $50 per share), and that $4,500,000 (equal to 90,-000 shares of the par value of $50 per share) of said stock be added to the list from time to time on notification that it has been paid for in full.

BOTH ROLLED OVER HILL.

Constable and Negro Had a Fight, the Former Getting the Better of It.

After a fight which reduced his clothes to rags, and a fall of 20 feet down a hill with his prisoner, Constable Charles H. Tyler placed Moses Clark in jail yesterday afternoon.

Clark, a negro of Hillside street, was wanted on a charge of assault and battery, it being alleged that he broke Mrs. Arthur Jones' jaw because she laughed at him. When Constable Tyler attempted to arrest Clark at his home a fight ensued, and in the scuffle they rolled through the open door and down the hill. Clark was rendered unconscious by the fall, and although Tyler was badly cut and bruised, he easily shackled his man, who soon recovered sufficiently to be moved to jail.

UNIVERSITY REGENTS ELECT INSTRUCTORS

MORGANTOWN, W. VA., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—The regents of the West Virginia university today elected Dr. Edwin Mayer of Washington, D. C., associate professor in the law department, assigned to him the lecture work of the late Judge Okey Johnson. Prof. St. George T. Brook was elected acting dean of the department. Walter Kirk Brainard of Greening, Mich., was elected an assistant in the department of agriculture, and Thomas E. Johnson, Jr., of Parkersburg was elected instructor in botany. The regents let the contract for a home for the president to Hobbs & Co. of Fairmont and appropriated $15,000 for this purpose. A gift of $10,000 from a friend of the university is announced, to apply on the building of this home. The name of the donor is withheld.

RED MEN HOLD ELECTION.

Grand Officers and Meeting Place for Next Year Selected by Convention.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The national convention of the United Order of Red Men, which has been in session in Brooklyn closed tonight. The following grand officers were elected:

Grand supreme chief, Albert D. Schaaff, Bridgeport, Conn.; under chief, Henry Bruhn, Jersey City; het chief, George Mehlburger, Trenton, N. J.; grand secretary, George Banger, New York city; grand treasurer, John Roegen, Brooklyn, and grand priest, Charles Ewald, Philadelphia. It was decided to hold the next national assembly in Philadelphia in September, 1905.

BANKS ARE ANXIOUS TO RETIRE CIRCULATION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Applications from national banks for the retirement of circulation are reaching the treasury department in unexpected numbers and amounts. For the corresponding days of the present month the applications aggregate $2,762,000. Under the law only $3,-000,000 in circulation can be retired in any one month, and the applications are granted in the order in which they are received. The movement is accounted for by the high price of bonds, the banks evidently seeing a greater profit in selling their bonds than in keeping them in circulation.

KRUGER IS CONVICTED OF FIRST DEGREE MURDER

GREENSBURG, PA., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—The jury in the case of Charles E. Kruger, accused of the murder of Constable Henry Bierer, went out at 11:15 tonight and delivered their verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree at midnight. They balloted but once, one man who had voted for second degree immediately changing his decision when he heard the result of the first ballot. Kruger said he was satisfied with the verdict, as he would rather hang than undergo 20 years' imprisonment.

3-CENT FARE ORDINANCE IS PASSED IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, Sept. 9.—A three-cent fare ordinance was passed by the city council tonight, the first of its kind in any city. Mayor Johnson is said to be interested in the new line which, according to the conditions of grant, must be in operation by the first of April, 1904.

ENDEAVORERS TO MEET IN MONUMENTAL CITY

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—At a meeting today of the executive committee of the board of trustees of the United Society of Christian Endeavor it was voted to hold the twenty-second international Christian Endeavor convention in Baltimore, July 5 to 10, 1905.

Lipton Visits West Point.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—For the second time since his visit to America, Sir Thomas Lipton today paid his respects to the military academy. A small luncheon was served on board the Erin before the party came ashore. An inspection of the various buildings was made, including the sleeping quarters of the cadets.

ANOTHER BREAKDOWN.

Prof. Langley's Flying Machine Meets With Another Mishap.

WIDEWATER, VA., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—An accident which may seriously delay Prof. Langley's flying machine experiments occurred about 4 o'clock this afternoon, when in the course of a test of the Manly engine one of the propeller blades snapped. It flew with terrific force into the main body of the machine and broke one of the thin steel tubes. This brought the screws up with a jerk.

The broken blade skimmed past Mr. Manly's head and struck the frame work of the flying machine. In spite of the fact that the screw blade is only four feet in length and constructed entirely of linen stretched on a wooden frame, similar to a tennis racquet, the steel tubing was bent eight inches out of shape and broken.

STORAGE HOUSE WRECKED BY DYNAMITE EXPLOSION

BROWNSVILLE, PA., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—A terrific explosion occurred at the storage house of the Monongahela Consolidated Coal and Coke Company on the hill above Dunlaps creek, near Brownsville. Large quantities of dynamite and blasting powder which had been stored there was exploded in some manner and the entire house was blown away. A hole large enough to hold a dwelling house was torn in the hill. Houses within half a mile of the explosion were shaken and windows were shattered. Several houses in the near vicinity of the shed were shattered, but no one was injured seriously. The explosion happened near where the Dunlap Creek railway is being built and the work was damaged to a slight extent.

STOCK YARDS RATS INVADING HOUSES

Big black rats are invading the houses in the Point Breeze district since the removal of the East Liberty stockyards to Herrs Island. The rats are said to be larger than ever seen before by residents in that neighborhood, and many persons are in great fear of them, as they have become over-bold through hunger and thirst. Boys and men with flobert rifles and dogs have killed scores of rats during the last few days, but their migration from the stockyards to the homes continues to increase. Persons residing in Penn avenue and adjacent streets fear to poison the rats, as their number is so large that an epidemic of disease caused by decaying bodies of the rodents might result.

Brownsville Pioneer Dead.

BROWNSVILLE, PA., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Seaborn Crawford, father of C. S. Crawford, president of common council, died at his home here today of heart failure and old age. Mr. Crawford was born in Washington county on March 27, 1826, and was of Quaker parentage. In 1851 he went to California with the gold hunters and was quite successful. In 1854 he was married to Edith Riley, who survives him. He engaged later in the grocery and furniture business. Richard, a brother, lives in Pittsburgh. Three sons are living—T. S. of Brownsville, L. L. of Uniontown and Samuel of Washington, Pa.

Dropped Dead in Street.

MCDONALD, PA., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Mrs. Mary Cummings dropped dead in the street here yesterday of heart failure. was 67 years old and had lived in McDonald for over 25 years. She is survived by three sons and three daughters.

Convicted of Manslaughter.

UNIONTOWN, PA., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—After six ballots the jury in the case of Marshall Kivich, charged with the killing of Thomas Deholski at Ronco, May 31, brought in manslaughter, this afternoon.

Ask your doctor if Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured his hard cold. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

RESULTS OF THE RACES HELD AT WHEELING FAIR

Monster Crowd to Watch the Steppers—Blanch K. Springs a Surprise.

WHEELING, W. VA., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—All attendance records for the third day were broken at the state fair, when 18,000 people passed through the gates. The track was fast, but a strong wind blew during several heats. The sensation of the day was Blanche K.'s performance in the first race, defeating easily over Maiths Scott and Meline, the favorites. Gallaher was selected to win the 2:19 pace and did not disappoint his backers. The judges declared all bets off in the first heat of the free-for-all, and warned drivers.

John Tipton of Allegheny, Pa., bought Tellus, winner of Tuesday's 2:30 trot, for $2,000. Tellus is sired by Axtell, and has a mark of 2:10¼. Summary:

MARRIAGE LICENSE DOES NOT MAKE A WEDDED WIFE

Peter Boyle of No. 613 Cabot way was held for court last night by Alderman James Sherran, charged with false pretense and another charge by Annie Figa. The woman alleged that she and Boyle were engaged to be married and that she gave him $55 to pay the expenses of the marriage. He procured a marriage license and told her that they were married, and she believed him, not knowing the customs of the country. After they had lived together for about a month he deserted her, and then she discovered that they had not been married. She tried to get back her $55, but could not.

SENATOR HOPKINS' DAUGHTER MARRIED

AURORA, ILL., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—An interesting evening occurred the wedding of David J. Peffers, Jr., and Miss Fannie Hopkins, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Albert J. Hopkins of this city. The ceremony was performed at the New England Congregational church by the Rev. E. K. Nyce of Lake Forest, Ill., in the presence of 400 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Peffers have gone to California on their wedding journey.

put in by Stevenson's hands before I went to Europe in the spring.

"Through the entire fight over the Duquesne Way ordinance I stood with Mr. Stevenson and supported the $50,000 annual rental clause."

Mr. Wasson says the "Orphans'" platform is remarkable in the fact that it attacks one measure which some of the "orphan" councilmen formerly advocated and omits any mention of one of the principal pledges made by the Citizens party.

Mr. Stevenson is chairman of the Finance committee which approved the Bigelow blanket ordinance and recommended its passage to councils," concluded Mr. Wasson. "The platform does not mention the fee system in the delinquent tax office, which was one of the pledges of the Citizens party and Mayor William B. Hays in the last campaign. Controller Larkin and Mr. Stevenson seemed to have forgotten all about this pledge, but you may rest assured that I have not. I intend to bring it up at the very first meeting of common council."

Mr. Wasson was not the only person who found many peculiar things in the "orphans" platform yesterday. Two matters that caused a great deal of surprise was the signature of Councilman Charles S. Crawford and the omission of the name of Councilman Thomas M. Brown, who claims to be a reformer.

Mr. Crawford is recognized as an ardent follower of the Bigelow machine, being a member of half a dozen campaign committees and attending to the legal work of the party. A few weeks ago on the floor of councils Mr. Crawford was openly accused by one of the members of acting as attorney for the warehouse syndicate which had a number of streets on the Point vacated without compensation to the city.

It was stated yesterday that Controller Brown could not have consistently signed the platform, because he voted against the compensation clause when the Duquesne way railroad ordinance was passed in common council.

Mayor Hays looked upon the platform of the "orphans" with a great deal of amusement. He said Messrs. Larkin and Stevenson and their associates acted hastily, claiming the Citizens party had not time yet to redeem the pledges of the party. Mayor Hays said that he was opposed to abolishing the fee system in the delinquent tax office or reducing the fees. He said the collector's fees did not net him more than $10,000 or $12,000 annually which he did not think too large.

THE DEATH ROLL

Judge Charles E. Flandrau.

Judge Charles E. Flandrau, one of the most prominent pioneer citizens of Minnesota, died at his home in St. Paul yesterday, after an illness of some months. Judge Flandrau was born in New York in 1828 and went to St. Paul in 1853 and began the practice of law. President Pierce appointed him agent for the Sioux Indians of the Mississippi and in that capacity he gave counsel and aid to hundreds of homeless refugees fleeing from the Indians. He was a member of the first constitutional convention and later became associate justice of the supreme court. When the Sioux broke out into a fierce rebellion near New Ulm, in 1862, Judge Flandrau organized a company, marching to the scene. When he reached New Ulm he was chosen commander-in-chief of the volunteer forces in the field. After a fight, lasting 44 hours, Judge Flandrau and his band saved New Ulm from devastation and its women and children from massacre. Judge Flandrau was a Democratic candidate for the governorship of the party for governor in 1867.

Funeral of Dr. William G. Taylor.

BEAVER, PA., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—The funeral of the Rev. Dr. William G. Taylor was held from his late residence here today. Addresses were made by the Rev. Dr. T. B. Anderson, who had charge of the services; the Rev. Dr. George W. Chalfant, the Rev. Dr. S. A. Hunter, the Rev. Dr. J. C. Hutter, and a prayer by the Rev. Dr. Elliott, pastor of the oldest member of the Pittsburgh presbytery. A quartet composed of Mrs. Beulah Reed Conrad, Miss Elizabeth Morrow, William Harper and A. E. Barnett, furnished music.

REICHARD SENT TO JAIL.

Contractors' Clerk is Charged With Having Forged Names on Checks.

William G. Reichard, aged 27, a clerk employed by Booth & Reichard, contractors of No. 6212 Broad street, East End, was committed to jail last night on a charge of forgery and false pretense. It was alleged that he forged his firm's name to checks for $1,000, $195 and $60. The information was made by C. D. Reichard and C. A. Winslow.

Reichard charged that Reichard took the two small checks to the bank and got the money for them, afterward going to Buffalo in company with a woman. The firm traced him from that city to Butler, Pa. The accused is a relative of C. D. Reichard of the firm.

HUSBAND HAS DISAPPEARED AND WIFE IS PENNILESS

John Hiller, a German, who resided with his family at No. 104 South Twelfth street, disappeared last Monday and the police have so far been unsuccessful in their search for him. The Hillers came from St. Louis about a week ago, almost penniless, and the man, who speaks very little English, obtained work with the repair gang of the trolley company. On Monday afternoon he was taken sick and sent home on a car. The conductor failed to let him off at the right street and he was carried to the end of the line. Since then nothing has been heard of the missing man, and his wife is nearly crazed by his absence, although she does not think he would attempt suicide.

GOODYEAR LINE WILL BE EXTENDED

DuBois Southwestern to Build Feeder to Within Sixty Miles of Pittsburgh.

OTHER END GOES TO BUFFALO

Steel Plants at Stormy Point on Lake Erie Will Also Be Connected Up. Canal 10,000 Feet Long Among the Improvements Planned.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, Sept. 9.

A new railway system is forming which is destined to have a very important bearing upon the development of extensive ore and timber properties in Pennsylvania. The Goodyear Bros., who built the Buffalo & Susquehanna railroad a few years ago as an outlet for their timber lands in Northwestern Pennsylvania, have made plans for extensions of this railroad to Buffalo—a distance of about 84 miles—and also in the direction of Pittsburgh. The expenditure of more than $15,000,000 is involved.

Just beyond the terminus of the extended Blackwell canal, which is near Stony Point on Lake Erie, the Goodyears have established a large steel plant. Some of the furnaces of this plant are already completed. It is the purpose of the Goodyears to extend the Buffalo & Susquehanna railroad to their steel plant, and also in connection with affiliated interests to build a ship canal 1,000 feet long from the plant to the new lake harbor formed by the great breakwater just built by the United States government opposite Stony Point. This new harbor will accommodate the enormous plant of the Lackawanna Steel Company, as well as that of the Goodyear Company. When in full operation it is expected that these two steel plants will give employment to about 10,000 men.

Plans for the 84 mile extension of the Buffalo & Susquehanna railroad from Wellsville, N. Y., to Buffalo have been finally determined upon. Construction work will begin this month and the extension will be in operation, it is expected, some time next spring. This new Goodyear line will be a direct competitor of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, and the Western New York & Pennsylvania railroads.

The new company entitled the Dubois Southwestern Railroad Company has been incorporated in Pennsylvania to build an extension of the Goodyear system into the Pittsburgh region. This line will be 50 miles long, and will extend from Sykesville to South Bend, Armstrong county, Pa. A 55-mile branch of the Buffalo & Susquehanna from Sinnemahoning to Sykesville is now under construction. The new corporation starts with $500,000 capital stock. The president is Martin E. Olmstead, who is also the executive head of the Buffalo & Susquehanna. The proposed Pittsburgh extension will take the Goodyear system to a point on the Allegheny river about 60 miles from Pittsburgh. Whether the Goodyears intend to build into Pittsburgh eventually is not known.

The Goodyear Bros. of Buffalo have become multi-millionaires within the past decade. Twenty years ago Frank H. Goodyear was a hard working coal dealer. Charles W. Goodyear was a moderately successful lawyer, junior member of the firm of which ex-Postmaster General Bissell was then the head.

DRANK TOAST AND DIED.

Sad Fate Overtakes New Yorker at Farewell Dinner Given to a Friend.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Arthur W. Ufer, a broker died of apoplexy this morning in Jack's restaurant at 750 Sixth avenue after drinking the health of a friend with whom he had been dining. The tragedy cast a damper over the gaiety of the other diners and the clinking of wine glasses and the merry laughter characteristic of the place were suddenly stilled. Mr. Ufer was 40 years old. He lived at the Waldorf-Astoria and was manager for Menden Bros., brokers, in the Astor Court building.

Last evening Mr. Ufer, Dr. Lewis Morris, surgeon on the United States monitor Florida, Percy Hudson of the Hotel Imperial, A. W. Milliken and J. C. Anderson were in the Waldorf-Astoria playing billiards. Mr. Ufer, as usual, was the life of the party. As Dr. Morris has been ordered to the Philippines Mr. Ufer suggested that they have a farewell dinner and the party went to Jack's and enjoyed a hearty repast. Then Mr. Ufer rose and proposed the health of the guest who was to depart. All arose and drank in silence. Then with a gasp Mr. Ufer fell into his chair. In a few minutes he was dead.

FAVOR A REVOLT.

Sentiment Among Isthmian Interests in New York Condemns Treaty Rejection.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Representatives of strong interests on the isthmus of Panama, who make their headquarters in this city, are considering a plan of action to be undertaken in cooperation with men of similar views in Colombia, to bring about a revolution and form an independent government in Panama, opposed to that in Bogota.

There is much indignation on the isthmus on account of the failure of the canal treaty, which is ascribed by many persons to the authorities at Bogota. This opinion is believed to be shared by a majority of the isthmians of all shades of political belief, and they think it is to their best interest for a new republic to be formed on the isthmus which may negotiate directly with the United States a new treaty which will permit the digging of the Panama canal under favorable conditions.

McKeesport Wants Next Meeting.

Members of the insurgent element of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics in McKeesport want the next meeting of the state council held in McKeesport and an effort will be made to have the state council, which meets next Tuesday in Philadelphia, decide on McKeesport for next year's meeting. A. J. Kemp, who will represent Hero council No. 668 of McKeesport at the meeting in Philadelphia, has been instructed to use every effort to have the body meet next year at McKeesport, where there are four insurgent councils.

Irish Immigrant is Lost.

Daniel McGowan, 65 years old, is lost and his relatives have requested the immigration officials in this city and Philadelphia to endeavor to find him. McGowan arrived in Philadelphia from Ireland on June 10, and several days later started for San Francisco, where his relatives live. Nothing has been heard from him since that time, and it is believed McGowan is now in Pittsburgh, as that portion of his ticket calling for passage from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh has been turned in at the auditor's office of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Farmer Shot From Ambush.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 9.—While Peter Vorren, a farmer, was walking behind a load of wood which he was hauling to his home last night, he was shot from ambush and died within a few minutes. The assailant escaped, but today the authorities arrested Bartholomew Croteau, a neighbor, on suspicion.

DUQUESNE ELECTRICIAN WEDDED IN BALTIMORE

Widow of 51 Becomes the Bride of Widower Aged 59 Years.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Elizabeth A. Wharton, 51 years old, of No. 2526 East Oliver street and John F. Smith, 59 years old, of Duquesne, Pa., were married tonight in the parsonage of Madison Square Methodist Episcopal church, by the Rev. J. M. Slarrow. The plans for the wedding had been kept secret and the announcement of the engagement was not made until last night. Mrs. Wharton is a widow. Only two of her 11 children are living and both of these are married and have children. She has known Mr. Smith for more than 30 years.

Mr. Smith is a widower, his wife having died six years ago. He is the father of eight children, all of whom are living and are married and have children. Mr. Smith arrived in the city last Monday and yesterday he secured a license for the wedding. He is employed as an electrician at the Carnegie Steel works at Duquesne.

Mr. Smith's father is still living. He is Christian Smith of Harpers Ferry, and is 92 years old. He is the oldest Baltimore & Ohio engineer living.

TEST OF SUBMARINES.

Holland and Lake Diving Craft Will Be Put Through Severe Ordeal.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Competition between various types of submarine torpedo boats will be conducted about September 20 in Narragansett bay by the board of inspection, of which Capt. Train is the president. The last congress provided in the naval appropriations bill $500,000 for investigation of submarine naval warfare. The manufacturers of the Lake submarine torpedo boat immediately applied for a trial of their boat. They are diligently preparing their boat, craft, the Protector, for this trial. The manufacturers of the Holland will let go no opportunity to demonstrate the best that is in their boat.

The navy already has in commission the Holland submarines Adder, Moccasin, Holland, Plunger, Porpoise and Shark. All of these will undergo the tests prescribed by the board. The tests will not be competitive in the sense that the performance of the boats will immediately lead to their adoption by the navy, but the data gained will be of such a character as to afford a more accurate comparison than has ever before been possible.

Greatly Reduced Rates to the Pacific Coast.

Daily from September 15 to November 30 there will be in effect from Chicago the rate of $33 via the Union Pacific railroad to California, Oregon and Washington coast points, with proportionate reduced rates to intermediate points. For particulars and illustrated descriptive literature address G. G. Herring, general agent, 310 Park building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

PRESIDENT SHAFFER IS BACK AT HIS DESK

Had a Surprise in Store for the Members Who Oppose His Actions—Amalgamated Official Says He Has Been Very Ill.

"At the proper time I shall spring a surprise upon my constituents who are 'knocking' me."

The above was the assertion made by President Theodore J. Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin workers when asked for an answer to the circulated reports that charges were to be brought against him for neglect of duty. He arrived in his office yesterday from a trip to Poughkeepsie, where he delivered a short address at the Labor day celebration. President Shaffer says he is a sick man and his looks show it.

He spent several hours in his office yesterday answering correspondence and catching up with the work that has accumulated during his absence.

"When at Kewaunee," said Mr. Shaffer, "I was called upon to make an address. I tried three different times to close my remarks but they halted on my speaking more. I could feel myself giving out under the strain. When I returned home I was very ill. I did not leave the city last week until I went to Poughkeepsie. I was in my office Wednesday, but was unable to attend to my duties. I came downtown Friday, but was too sick to make any attempt to do any work."

Just as the president was leaving his office yesterday afternoon John J. Jarrett, formerly president of the Amalgamated association, entered. The two were in conference for some time.

Roberts Named for Judge.

WARREN, O., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—E. E. Roberts of Warren was today declared the choice of the Republicans of Trumbull, Mahoning and Portage counties for common pleas judge, being nominated on the third ballot. Other candidates were C. M. Wilkins, H. E. Stewart, S. B. Craig, D. R. Gilbert and L. F. Hunter. Of 80 votes necessary to nominate, Roberts had 41 on the first ballot. W. E. Anderson of Youngstown was chairman.

BUCKEYE STATE GENIUS INVENTS NEW MAIL BAG

Farmer Offers Device to Government to Facilitate Handling of Mails.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Last March the postoffice department advertised for bids for a new style of mail bags. The bags that are now in use, and have been for years, are far from satisfactory.

The locking device requires too much time to operate and is too expensive. Today bids were opened and among those was one from John W. Shallenberger of Carrl Fulton, O. Shallenberger has a patented mail bag that he invented and which he is willing to sell the government. He never was the inside of a mail car and knows nothing about mailing devices; but he does know that he has been obliged to drive five miles for his mail, and after reaching the postoffice at Canal Fulton he has had to wait while the postmaster opened the mail bag, which operation often required a half hour.

Being an expert mechanic, Shallenberger saw the need of something better, and he proceeded to build a bag and fasten it with a device that can be opened in six seconds. This is the one he offered the government. Whether it will be accepted depends upon the report of a committee that will consider its practicability and cost. The inventor is a distant relative of the second assistant postmaster general, but has never met him.

BETTER SCHOOLS NEEDED.

England in Peril Because Efficient Universities Are Lacking.

SOUTHPORT, ENG., Sept. 9.—The British Association for the Advancement of Science met tonight at the opera house here, which was crowded. Sir Norman Lockyer delivered the presidential address, entitled "The Influence of Brain Power on History."

The president referred at length to the struggle for existence in modern communities, pointed out British industries were suffering from international competition, owing to the necessity for a knowledge of the finest scientific dealing with the organization of science and arts.

"Our position as a nation, our success as merchants are in part, chiefly, dwelling with universities, because of the importance attached to universities and our neglect of research."

The general head in first meeting here this evening. Prof. Dewar, the retiring president, announced that the council recommended the reappointment of the committee to send a meeting of 1900 to South Africa and added that the South African colonies had promised to contribute £10,000 towards the cost of transportation of the members of the association.

Misfortune Came Double Handed.

KENT, O., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Thomas Baker had a leg broken in a runaway on the new line of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad today. He was landed into a hospital to be taken to a doctor's office when the horse ran away, throwing him out and breaking the other leg.

ONLY MARRIED ONCE.

Mrs. Cary Denies Husband's Statement That She Is Another Man's Wife.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Commenting on the report at the change made by her husband, Arthur J. Cary, a wealthy publisher, that she was the wife of another man, Mrs. Cary declared today that the statement was outrageous and untrue. The charge was made by Mr. Cary through his lawyers in defending an application by Mrs. Cary for an increase of alimony. The astonishing statement that Mrs. Cary was the wife of William A. Duncan was made before Justice Ehrlich in the supreme court.

"I was formally married to Mr. Cary on September 10 in Delaware, O., which is full religious ceremony, and I have a marriage certificate to prove it. William A. Duncan was merely an acquaintance. I was never married to him and do not know even if he is alive. My marriage to Mr. Cary is the only one I ever contracted," said Mrs. Cary today.

Mrs. Cary being but forty-nine years of age, is not ineligible for remarriage, according to the laws of Connecticut. Mrs. Cary is a handsome woman of refinement and culture.

FRANK A. PARKER.

Celebrated Its Anniversary.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—The fiftieth anniversary of the admission of California into the union was observed today. Several cities of the state celebrated the event on a large scale. The principal gathering was at Sutro Heights, overlooking the Golden Gate, where the Native Sons of the Golden West are holding their annual celebration.

When you go out to attend great lot sale and to see

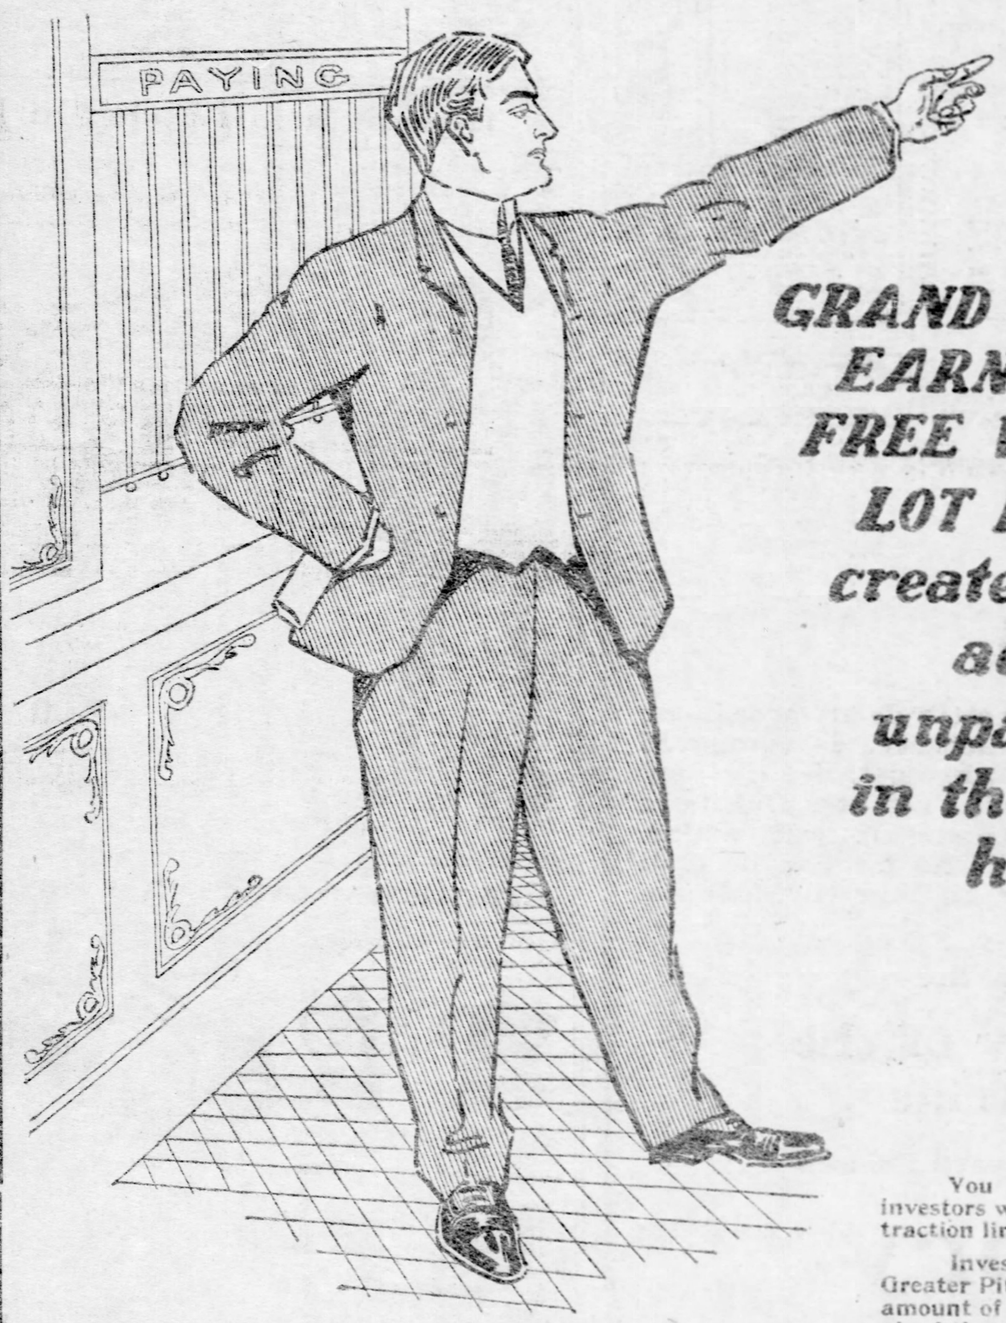
don't get off the car until the car passes into Keating West-View. You can't get off the car onto any other lot plan. You can get off onto paths that lead to other properties, but that is not what you want when you are looking for sites along the great twenty-five minute traction line, where you get graded, sewered and paved streets, pure sand-filtered water from a new improved water-works system, both gases and electric light.



GRAND BIG-PREMIUM EARNING BONDS FREE WITH EACH LOT bound to create building activity unparalleled in the world's history.

Already some of the owners who built at Keating West-View have moved into their houses. The plaster in all the rooms is not quite dry, but the owners liked the convenient location, they liked the idea of being able to go to town on a fast 25-minute schedule, they liked the idea of living along one of the finest and fastest double-tracked traction lines in the world, they liked the idea of getting away from the smallpox and of drinking pure sand-filtered water that would not give them the typhoid fever, they liked the idea of dwelling in a beautiful country that is as close to downtown as most parts of the dirty downtown itself, they liked the comforting solace of green lawns when with these they could enjoy perfect sewerage, both gases, electric lights and everything that the downtown people also have.

This is "in a nutshell" the story of what has started the unparalleled activity in home-building at Keating West-View No. 1, and when Keating West-View No. 2 also gets to be seven weeks old you'll see a residence-planting spirit there which will rival that of the older plan.

There is no advantage in walking a great distance from the cars when the cars will land you in the only place that has these splendid improvements. You can easily determine whether you are in the right location by looking around. If you do not see vast armies of men and teams engaged completing a mighty work of street and traction improvements you can feel satisfied that you have not yet set foot in Keating West-View No. 2.

Before reaching Keating West-View No. 2 you pass through Keating West-View No. 1. This is the first allotment in our grand city-building Perrysville project. It consists of 762 lots and was put on the market and entirely sold on the 18th of last July, less than two months ago, since which time such building activity has characterized the plan as passes all human understanding. Creditable homes have risen faster than anybody believed houses could be built. Not shells, but houses. Houses constructed on rigid specifications in accordance with building restrictions.

You don't see such marvel-eclipsing enthusiasm on any other new property. Why? Because investors will not go in and build nice homes on properties which haven't any sewerage, city water or a traction line which they can depend upon.

Investors will buy other properties which look good, especially in a wealthy industrial city like Greater Pittsburgh, to whose future growth there seems to be no limit; but before they will do any great amount of building they want to see some street improvements and some water that people can have piped through their houses. Carrying water from a well these days or going down a boardwalk to the old-style toilet room is all right for people who live on a farm, but not for people who have to make their living in a city.

At this great sale of Keating West-View No. 2, lots that you can feel safe in improving with good houses are being sold at $50 to $700 on terms of 5 per cent down and 2½ per cent monthly for balance; 10 per cent being allowed for cash when paid within sixty days from date of purchase.

These lots will bring from $500 to $3,000 in the next five years. According to the valuation of the adjoining estates, like those of M. K. McMullin, D. T. Watson, Henry Buhl, the late Geo. B. Hill or John A. Bell, they are worth, adding only actual cost for the street improvements, $1,000 to $2,000 now. No one could buy any one of the above estates at the figures at which they're held and sell lots from them at sufficient price to make the deal profitable. This alone is an argument in favor of our property, but it is not the greatest argument.

TAKE CARS MARKED WEST-VIEW, EAST ST. AND MADISON AVE. AT SMITHFIELD ST. AND 5th AVE.

We want all who become interested in the opportunity they see at Keating West-View No. 2 to ask about the premium-earning bonds that we are giving free to purchasers. These bonds are an inducement in themselves, to say nothing of the rapid increase in value each lot will have.

If properly fostered the bonds will earn 25 per cent at expiration of four months. Their life as an earning power does not expire for two years from the date they are issued to you. They are negotiable. You may transfer or sell them at your own will. They will earn as much as $250 when issued to purchasers of the higher priced lots, and are given with the $50 lots same as with the finer lots.

There never has been a free-gift attraction to equal this bond enterprise. Purchasers are surprised at the generous policy upon which the Keating West-View proposition is being conducted. The solidity of the bonds are unquestioned. They are backed by some of Pittsburgh's best-known millionaires.

BIERER MURDER CASE GOES TO THE JURY

Handcuffed Prisoner Attempts Attack on Justice of the Peace.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Sept. 9.—The fate of Charles E. Kruger, on trial for the alleged murder of Constable Henry F. Bierer, is with the jury. The arguments of counsel were made tonight and Judge A. D. McConnell delivered a lengthy charge to the 12 men whose duty it is to determine the degree of guilt of the prisoner. Kruger was on the witness stand a greater part of the day. It was developed that his right name is Emil Betowski, and that he is only 22 years old. He was born in Germany and came to America in 1890. His parents live on the outskirts of East Liverpool, O. It was brought out by his own testimony that in February, 1899, he was committed to the Western Penitentiary for four years, but was discharged by a commutation of sentence on January 22, 1902. The crime for which he was sentenced was burglary in Allegheny county.

After much objection on the part of the attorneys for the defense the commonwealth succeeded in having the confession of the prisoner, made to Justice Frank J. Beatty, on July 11, the day after he was brought to the local jail, admitted in evidence. Kruger tells of Constable Bierer coming to his home and asking whether he could come to Greensburg without a fight. Kruger alleges that he said he did not want to cause any trouble and that he consented to submit to arrest as soon as he had eaten his breakfast. According to the confession Constable Bierer sat in the kitchen until the prisoner had finished eating. Kruger then says he asked permission to get his coat in the next room. The permission was given him and Kruger says he fired into the ceiling to scare the officer. Constable Bierer, Kruger says, paid no attention to the shot. Kruger says that he shot again. He thinks the second shot hit the officer, causing death.

Kruger was in a surly mood after the reading of the confession and when the commonwealth's case had been closed he asked to be allowed to go into the corridor of the courthouse. Justice Beatty was there and although handcuffed to Deputy Sheriff Benjamin Brown, Kruger attempted to attack Beatty. A few minutes later Kruger met District Attorney Cunningham in going to the court room and cursed him loudly enough to be heard all over the court room.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

WASHINGTON, PA.—In a fight among Italians at Arden station Civrillo Vangeno was fatally stabbed. His assailant escaped.

WASHINGTON, PA.—The borough council has decided to expend $5,000 in the improvement of the new public park, which was opened a few weeks ago.

NEW CASTLE, PA.—Westminster college opened with greatly increased attendance. A special train arrived at New Wilmington at noon from Pittsburgh, bearing the majority of the old students and also many about to begin college life.

GREENSBURG, PA.—In the case of William Rosenstiel of near Hermine, charged with barn burning, a verdict of guilty was returned. W. J. Loughner was the prosecutor. Rosenstiel is only 18 years old and three other charges of barn burning are pending against him.

NEWARK, O.—Walter J. Darby of Columbus, a son of Prof. Darby of the Ohio State university, was drowned in Buckeye lake, west of Newark, and his body has not been found. Darby, with a party from Columbus, was camping at Round Island and Darby started to paddle across the lake in a canoe.

THE THREE RIVERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 9.—River 10.6 feet and falling. Heavy showers this morning. The funeral of Capt. Albert Stowers, who died at Marietta, O., on Monday of heart disease, took place here today. All of the upriver towboats have cleared. The H. P. Friable will be brought here with coal barges, towed by the Boaz, as she did not pass her last annual inspection. She will be overhauled. The Avalon left last evening for Memphis. This will probably be her last trip this season in this trade, because of the scarcity of water from now until the middle of November. Next season the Lee line will have the Rees Lee and Peters Lee in this trade.

MARIETTA—River 4.2 feet and falling; Bedford up, 8 p. m.; Cricket up, 8 p. m.

WHEELING—River 4 feet 5 inches and falling; down, Bessie Smith, Parkersburg, 12 m.

MORGANTOWN—River 7 feet and stationary.

STEAMERS GOING TO BANK.

Slight Rise Is Expected Today from the Allegheny River.

Steamers which left with tows on the last rise are returning as far up the river as possible. Several had been compelled previously to tie up to the bank, and four more did so yesterday. The Coal City tied up at Gallipolis, the Joe Walton at Marietta, the James Moren at Wheeling, and the Frank Gilmore at Parkersburg. The Harvester is coming up the river with 10 pieces. She passed Huntington at noon yesterday. The Gilmore will be placed on the docks at Parkersburg today and undergo a complete overhauling.

A slight rise is expected in the local rivers today. Rises have occurred at several points in the Allegheny river, and the waters in the harbor will be augmented considerably today. Every little rise is appreciated by riversmen under the present conditions. No packet are reported as going up the river, although there is water enough. The Greenwood was over a day late in returning to Charleston from her last trip and may not start for Pittsburgh this week.

News of the Rivers.

The Pittsburgh Dredging & Construction Company, Capt. John P. Klein, manager, started work yesterday to dredge out 65,000 cubic yards of dirt in preparation for the erection of a new coal tipple for the River Coal Company below Lock No. 5, near Bridgeport.

The work of repairing Lock No. 2 will be completed about next Tuesday.

The Woodward for Morgantown and the Cherry for Brownsville were the Monongahela river packets yesterday. They left on time and continue to have big trips.

It is said that the steamer Greenwood of the Pittsburgh and Charleston line, will be placed in the trade between Pittsburgh and Portsmouth, O., when the new Greenland is completed.

The Little Gold is in the Wheeling and Steubenville trade competing with the H. K. Bedford and the Bessie Smith.

The excursion season will practically close soon. The Mayflower has excursions for almost every day for the next two weeks, thereafter she will be repaired for the trip east. Sayre is arranging to have lake place for two months following October 20. The Francis J. Torrance will disappear for trips for a few weeks. The barge of the Klein line will be running for some time yet.

CHARGES OF IMMORALITY MADE AGAINST MINISTER

Methodist Episcopal Conference to Make Investigation Behind Closed Doors.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WARREN, PA., Sept. 9.—The first business session of the Erie conference was held this morning in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Bishop McCabe, presiding. A sensation was sprung when the report of the Clarion district was read. Dr. Richardson stating that charges of grost immorality had been preferred against the Rev. A. G. Mills. A special committee was appointed to investigate the charges, consisting of the Rev. Mr. Blaisdell of Brockwayville, chairman, and 12 other members of the conference. The Rev. J. Elbart of Johnsonburg, and the Rev. Borland of Mercer, were appointed counsel for the church. The defendant was represented by Revs. Phannetta and Perry of Kane. Their investigation will be conducted behind closed doors and the result reported to the conference later in the week.

The Rev. W. P. Graham of Brookville, was elected conference secretary after a spirited contest. The Rev. Mr. Rumbarger of Emlenton, was elected treasurer and Messrs. Bowers, McKinley, Sibley, Reno and Lavely, assistant secretaries.

Bishop McCabe took occasion to refer to the recent Chautauqua address, made by John Temple Graves of Georgia. The bishop challenged him to make good his statement that he could take 1,000 negroes west with him.

This afternoon the annual missionary sermon was delivered by the Rev. J. A. McConley, followed by the impressive pentecostal meeting, under the leadership of the Rev. Joseph Smith of Redlands, Cal. Prof. Excell of Chicago is directing the music of the conference which is being made an attractive feature. Tonight the anniversary of the Freedman's Aid and Southern Educational society was held, the principal address being made by Dr. Thirkeild of Cincinnati. The speaker made a strong appeal for the proper education of the negroes and told of the wonderful work that is now being done for this race by the various denominational schools.

WILL ASK FOR RECEIVER.

Stockholders of Consolidated Lake Superior Company to Go into Court.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Stockholders of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company announced tonight that they intended to ask for a receiver for the corporation. The application will be made in Connecticut in which state the company is incorporated. Ten million dollars worth of stock will have to be represented by the petitioners.

The notice issued tonight was signed by E. C. Miller & Company, F. A. Kurtz & Company and Brice, Monges & Company. The latter set for holdings of more than $5,000,000. F. H. Sanborn, vice president of the company, said that there was no truth in the report that the syndicate plan to reorganize the company had failed.

POSTMASTER BRANAGAN ASKS BETTER FACILITIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Postmaster John Branagan of Charleroi was at the department today to consult the officials there with reference to a better postal service for Charleroi. He arranged for the appointment of one additional clerk and for a larger salary for one of the clerks now on duty and also for an increase in the allowance for other office expenses. He also asked for better pay for the carriers and for improvements at the office. An inspector will be sent to Charleroi to report on the needs of the postoffice.

The women's adjunct also held a session. The election of officers resulted as follows: Past grand commander, M. E. Steel, Pittsburgh; grand chaplain, Flora Reed, Lancaster; grand commander, Mary Lebergan; grand vice commander, Annie Schadt, Allentown; grand conductor, A. E. Richards, Avoca; grand secretary, M. E. Davis, Pittsburgh; grand treasurer, M. C. Murphy, Altoona; grand guard, Lizzie Bates, Bradock.

Will Harness the Huron River.

DETROIT, MICH., Sept. 9.—Capitalists at Wyandotte, a suburb of this city, are about to develop the water power on the Huron river. A company with a capital of $3,000,000 is being formed for the purpose of erecting a huge electrical plant to be operated by the power procured. It is said a contract has been made to furnish electric power to operate the new Detroit and Toledo shore line railway.

Operator Bell out on Bail.

TOPEKA, KAN., Sept. 9.—The coal corporation case is now up to the supreme court and will be argued in that tribune on October 5. John Bell, who was sent to jail yesterday by Judge Hazen for contempt, has filed an application for a writ of habeas corpus and is released on $500 bail.

TWO MEN ARE INJURED IN COKE TRAIN WRECK

Cars Parted and Crashed Together, Obstructing Road for Four Hours.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Sept. 9.—By the breaking of a coke train on the Pennsylvania railroad, one mile east of Greensburg this morning, two men were seriously injured and 10 coke cars were badly wrecked. The injured are:

Robert M. Singer of Derry, brakeman; right leg crushed and contused on head. Also body may be internally injured. Brought to Westmoreland hospital, where his leg was amputated.

Michael McDonald of Allegheny; collar bone broken and scalp wounds.

The coke train in charge of Conductor George Bryson of Derry, was hauling coke to the plant of the Cambria Iron Company, Johnstown. On the down grade, east of Greensburg, a drawhead pulled out and the train parted. The sections ran together, 10 cars being wrecked. The debris was strewn over four tracks. The New Florence and the Walls wreck crews were called out, and succeeded in clearing one track after four hours' hard work.

Singer and McDonald were both caught under the debris. Singer is a son of William Singer of Derry, and is 21 years old.

Trust Company Formed.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—As a result of the recent merger of the Ellwood National bank and the First National Bank of Ellwood, an application for a charter has just been made by the Ellwood Trust Company which is being fathered by prominent local and Pittsburgh capitalists. The capital of the new trust company is placed at $250,000, which is divided into 2,500 shares of a par value of $100 each. The controlling interest is held by John A. Bell of Carnegie, Pa.

RUPTURE

MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN CURED IN 30 TO 60 DAYS.

I can point out cures that I have effected in cases that the best authorities pronounced beyond all hope. I do not inflict pain, I do not use the knife. I will not detain you from your work or business. I will give you a written guarantee. You cannot expect a truss to cure you. The best it can possibly do is to give relief. The surgical operation is both dangerous and painful.

Carnegie Contrasts.

"A brief glance at the attitude towards labor of Carnegie, the Manufacturer, as compared with Carnegie, the Philanthropist, is necessary to an understanding of the remoter and more obscure causes of this titanic struggle, which, marked as it was with all the ferocity of civil war, caused a shudder to run through the civilized world."

Purchase of 3,700 umbrellas

UMBRELLAS have been overworked this season. If yours shows signs of wearing out or someone has "walked off" with it, this sale will certainly prove welcome news. These 3,700 umbrellas represent the entire floor stock of the New York office of Follmer, Clogg & Co. Retail buyers from all over the country ordered their stocks from these samples. Choice of such coverings as union silk taffeta, union silk serge, pure silk serches, tape edged silks, etc. But it's the handles of these umbrellas that make the values so great. In some cases, the handles alone are worth more than we ask for the complete umbrellas.

Worth 3.00, 3.50, 4.00 and 5.00. Choice . . .

Autumn's most charming dress goods

OUR great dress goods department enters upon its autumn season with every prospect of success. Every weave, color and combination that the world's leading manufacturers have produced for Fall, 1903, is displayed here in an abundance at once lavish and carefully selected. With a view to more intelligently bringing the merits of our stock before you, we quote values which will never go begging for recognition.

For today we place on sale 25 pieces of 54 in. all-wool broadcloth, Fall weight, in all the wanted colorings and the ever popular black. Material which was manufactured to sell for 75c a yard, we offer today for only, yard. 49c

Double width pure wool Fall dress goods—plain and fancy weaves, in the choicest effects for the Fall; Scotch mixtures, vigoureux Venetian, velvet suiting, fancy mohair and fished suiting, in qualities that will sell later in the Fall for 75c; choice this sale, yard. 49c

Our display of mercerized vestings is deserving of special mention; we have secured the market for the choicest and smartest weaves, resulting in a display that we know is not equaled in this city. Besides what we exhibit in the special show cases in the department, we also have a special section set apart for the sale of these materials—price, 75c. 50c

A very special inducement in the black dress goods section in this offering of 1,200 short lengths in various widths of strictly pure wool Venetians, granites, cretons, cheviots and ladies' cloth—worth up to 65c, at this sale for, yard. 39c

Top-notch fall styles in boys' clothing

TO give everybody satisfaction—the boys and parents, too, outfit the boy at Kaufmann's. We are showing more new styles in our boys' clothing department than ever. Our efforts, along the line of securing the best values in boys' clothing to distribute to our customers, is reflected in our 5.00 line—for at this price we are enabled to sell suits and top-coats for which other stores are compelled to ask not less than $8.

For the little fellows—2½ to 10 years, Russian blouse suits, in serge, cheviot or velvet, with new military and white pique collar, also fine elon suit, with sailor collar and extra white pique collar and shields—also sailor suits in regulation and other styles. Can't be seen elsewhere under $6—our price is only 5.00

For the boys from 7 to 16 years—double-breasted suits, Norfolk suits and double-breasted Norfolk suits made of blue and black unfinished worsteds, fine cheviots, tibbets, clay worsteds, serges and latest effects in cassimeres. Others sell $8—our price 5.00

Reefers and top-coats—the celebrated "Rampeck" make blue serge clayette lapelled reefers, lined all through with silk, hand-embroidered emblem on sleeve—the top-coats are made of fine covert cloth. Values up to $8—our price only 5.00

VERY SPECIAL ITEM—we were specially fortunate in purchasing a lot of boys' imported velvet suits—made to sell for $10, but the price will be only 7.00. Made in Russian blouse or sailor style with extra white silk collars, cuffs and ribbon, under collar nicely trimmed; fine velvet overcoats with white quilted lining—while they last, your choice for only 7.00

Boys' white piqué Russian blouse suits—the maker's entire stock of the celebrated "Peerless" suits, comprising $2.50, $3 and $3.50 values—offered today for only 1.50

Young men's Fall suits—made of all-wool black thibet, or blue and black rough cheviot, all lined with excellent quality serge, stiff shape-retaining front, trousers cut in latest style, single or double-breasted style coat, all finely tailored, hand-made buttonholes, broad shoulders, etc.—price is only 10.00

5,000 pairs boys' knee pants—made of all-wool fancy cheviot and cassimere in blue or black, strong waistbands and patent buttons, stylish and serviceable—50c pants 28c

LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

Brooklyn at Exposition Park.
Cincinnati at St. Louis.
New York at Philadelphia.
Chicago at Pittsburg.

That the Chicago team has it on the Pirates was again demonstrated yesterday when Selee's Colts walked away with the final game of the series 3 to 1 and by so doing accomplished what no other league club has been able to do—take three out of a series of four games. The Windy Cityites might have made it four straight, but on Monday afternoon luck for once shifted and Clarke's crew just nosed out the victory.

The stumbling block in the pathway to success yesterday was a left-hand pitcher named Weimer, who is afflicted with curves, control and speed, and he used all three to the best advantage. Just how well he pitched is shown by the fact that during the nine-inning session the champions were only able to accumulate four hits, and in these advanced days of baseball four measly bingles will hardly win a game, even in the Oshkosh league.

There are some people who would like to place the blame on the careless work of the champions and thus rob a clever pitcher of the credit due him. While it is true that there was an apparent carelessness on the part of the champions, yet there was not enough of it to offset the clever work of Mr. Weimer. For instance, in the ninth inning Leach was caught off second when it looked as though there was a chance for a run being registered, but Leach was no careless and was but a short distance off the base. The credit for that play belongs to Catcher Kling, whose throw to the base was as fast and true as a rifle ball.

The champions missed Hans Wagner and missed him sadly, because in the opening inning the visitors scored two runs, and had Hans been on hand there would not have been a tally scored. These scores were the result of dumpy hits down by second base, the kind that Wagner usually eats up, and, while Kruger made honest efforts to get them, yet those efforts were futile, and runs were the result. Add to this the fact that the runners took undue liberties on the bases, which was largely the fault of the Pirate battery.

Phillippe pitched the game for the locals, and he pitched well, with the exception of two innings, the first and seventh, when the Colts managed to bunch their hits, and this bunching of hits meant runs. The Detroit's won the first game would have won two of games, but the champions seem to be up against their Jonah when they strike Chicago, and that team seems to take all it wants and then some, the Clarke crew. At that the visitors put up a rattling good game in the field, and the sun and substance of the whole affair is that their victory was well deserved because they outplayed the champions.

The Colts got away with two runs in the opening inning. Slagle, the first batter up, struck out and McCarthy followed with a nice, clean single to right. Chance forced McCarthy at second and the latter stole second and scored on Harley's infield single. Harley reached third on a passed ball and scored on Tinker's infield single. In the seventh Harby led off with a single to center, second on Tinker's sacrifice and scored on Kling's single to left. Evers followed with a double to left, but fast fielding kept Tinker from scoring.

The Pirates' only run was scored by Clarke in the first inning. After Beaumont had flied out Clarke doubled to right and scored on Kruger's single to the same field. The only other chance to score was in the ninth inning, when Leach and Kruger singled in succession, but Kling's drive through short was fielded and Weimer's fine pitching blasted all hopes and the 2,215 spectators went home sorry to supper. NOTES OF THE GAME.

Claude Ritchey is proving himself a martyr to the Pirate cause these days, as he is taking part in games when he should be taking a much-needed rest. Ritchey's right arm is so sore that it pains him to use it at all, and he is forced to jerk instead of throw the ball to first base. Leach is also on the hospital list, but owing to the absence of Wagner, both players stick to the game.

Hans Wagner will visit Youngstown this morning and allow Bonesetter Reese to examine his injured leg. Hans is loth to put himself under any treatment, as he believes that all the leg needs is a vigorous rubbing and it will come around in fine shape. President Dreyfuss, however, does not want his star to take any chances, and in deference to his wishes Hans will visit the bonesetter today.

Kitty Brandfield made a catch in the fifth inning that was a beauty and saved Ritchey being scored an error. Evers had batted the ball down to second and Ritchey, after gathering it in, fetched it to first. Ritchey's jerks are not quite as true as his throws, and the ball was headed for the bleachers, but Kitty, with one foot on the base, made a long reach for the ball and managed to get it with his right paw.

Had Hans Wagner been in yesterday's game it is doubtful if the Chicago team would have made a run in the first inning, as the hits made off Leach and that Hans would have gone to field. This is not said in disparagement of the showing being made by Kruger, who is covering short in a very acceptable manner, but Coach Frail is a good baseman, and he is ready to admit himself that he is not a Wagner by long odds.

Ned Hanlon and his Brooklyn team will be here today to play off a game that was postponed from the 16th of June. The Brooklyn team has been playing a strong game of late and will likely make the crippled Pirates hustle good and hard for a victory. The Brooklynites are finding it hard to finish in the first division, and can do so by winning a fair share of its victories on the present western trip.

President Harry Pulliam of the National league was in the city for a short time last night, being en route from New York to Cincinnati to attend the meeting of the baseball combination which opens there today. Prior to take up the matter of an agreement with the minor leagues. Harry was met at the depot by President Dreyfuss, and the pair had a long chat regarding the Cincinnati meeting. Pulliam will come here and spend several days.

Dick Harley robbed Bransfield of a sure three-bagger in the sixth inning and practically saved the game for his team. At the time Clarke was on second and Bransfield lashed on the ball and started it towards the score board in right, but Harley gave chase and after a long, hard run he managed to get under the ball and pull it in. It was a difficult catch, as the ball was high, and the fielder had great difficulty in judging the ball. Had that ball got away from Harley the score would have been tied, and there is no telling what the finish would have been.

THE REDS CUT LOOSE.

The Browns Played Like a Lot of Amateurs.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9.—St. Louis lost both games of a double-header here today to the Cincinnati team. In the first game the Cincinnatis unmercifully pounded Pitchers Murphy and Moran. The locals made seven errors, and their aforesaid work was inexcusable. In the second game St. Louis did a little better. McFarland twirled and was hit hard throughout. St. Louis players fell down on six easy chances in this game, Demont making three errors. Attendance 2,600. Scores:

WIND-UP AT BROOKLYN.

Double-Header Played and Was an Even Split.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 9.—With the Bostons as opponents in a double-header the baseball season here came to an end today. Both contests were pitchers' battles and resulted in an even break, Boston winning the first game 1 to 0 and Brooklyn the second 4 to 1. In the second game Thatcher, a new pitcher from Los Angeles, was in the box for the home club. He made a very good showing. Sheckard carried off the batting honors. He made two home runs in the second game. The last two tests were called on account of darkness after Boston had had its turn at bat in the eighth inning. Scores:

This Game Ended a Tie.

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Washington and McDonald played nine innings to a tie this evening, the game being called on account of darkness with the score 6 to 6. The game was played with water on the diamond in some places, but neither side made an error. Springer pitched good ball for Washington and would have won his game but for a lucky double play by McDonald. Isbell started to pitch for McDonald, but was knocked out, and Blumling finished the contest, pitching good ball. Washington plays Canonsburg here tomorrow. The score:

RAIN STOPPED RACES ON SCHENLEY TRACK

Only Two Events Were Finished When Downpour Made Track a Sea of Mud.

Rain interrupted one of the most interesting programs offered by the Schenley Matinee club yesterday afternoon. The carriage visitors helped to make up a large majority of what might otherwise have been a very slim attendance. The track was in good condition and those who predicted fast racing were not disappointed in the few events that came off.

With one exception all starts were made at the first break, but in the second heat of the first race, Sir Vernon, who was carried to the rear, failed to look for a repetition of last week's performance. The spectators were of course disappointed when rain put the track in such condition that even mud-horses would have had trouble.

Among others in the judges' stand was Mr. George W. Rawn, and he became reminiscent of racing days long ago when Tom Ochiltree and McNeil's black mare, Black B, paced by in the first heat of the second event.

"She couldn't hardly think," said Mr. Baum, that the dam of Black B was struck up, discarded circus horse. It was nearly 40 years ago when a traveling circus dropped one of its ponies near Youngstown, O. He continued, "and some fellow named Dixon got him in charge. A little care and rest seemed to build him up and old Glover Pony was entered at the Wheeling track for the half-mile record, making it in one minute.

"But couldn't make it alone 10 years further, but it was enough and the record was made. Black B. was bred by Smithfield and few people know that her ancestor was the well known Glover Pony of circus fame and half-mile record."

The following events were pulled off before rain stopped the afternoon's sport:

First event—

Dr. Bill, blk. g. (J. W. Nolf)	1	1
Princeman, b. g. (J. N. Burns)	2	2
Louise, b. m. (V. Ganter)	3	4
Tanney Boy, b. g. (W. J. Tanney)	4	3

Time, 2:34½. 2:30.

Second event—

Proool, blk. g. (E. McCormick)	1
Black B., blk. m. (Thomas McNeil)	2	3
Red Don, r. h. (H. Moyer)	3	2

Time, 2:32½. 2:30.

Third event:

Billy T., b. g. (C. B. Collingswood)	1
Ned E., b. g. (George Evans)	2
Bay Hal, b. g. (W. B. Loveless)	3

Time, 2:33.

Withdrawals were as follows: Second race, Avon Monk, ch. g. (George Kosen); and Capt. Jon, g. g. (R. Doyle).

Third race, Mack K., ch. g. (J. S. Wilson), and Dr. Neff, ch. g. (C. P. Neff).

REPUBLICANS' BIG MEETING

County Chairman Ford Addresses an Enthusiastic Assemblage in Allegheny.

WM. H. GRAHAM A SPEAKER

Declared Public Has Been Outraged and Predicts Victory for the Republican Party—District Chairmen Get Instructions from Chairman J. H. Henderson.

"Broken pledges will kill any party, and men who organize political bodies for their own aggrandizement will sooner or later come to ruin. This is the situation in a nutshell in Allegheny county."

In this manner Chairman Thomas J. Ford of the Allegheny county Republican organization last night sized up the situation in Allegheny county in a speech made before several hundred men assembled in the Republican headquarters in East Diamond street, Allegheny, last night.

"Republican principles and traditions are dearer to the people of this county than the ambition of any one man, and those who have left the Republican ranks to further the life of a party that was organized not for the people, but for a few men, will learn this truth at the November election," said Chairman Ford.

The meeting at which Mr. Ford spoke was held in Allegheny city Republican headquarters. Hon. John L. Henderson, chairman of the executive board of the city committee, presided and introduced Chairman Ford to the audience. Continuing his speech, Mr. Ford said:

"My one object in taking the office that has been tendered me is to bring back Republican domination in Allegheny county. We do not want, for rulers in this county, men whose interests are selfish and personal, but men who realize that they are not in office for their own benefit, but are simply servants of the people."

Look for a Hard Fight.

"We are going to have a hard fight this fall, but we are going to win. Men who have not the public interests at heart cannot triumph in November. Let it be understood now that any promise the Republican party makes will be kept. Let us impress on those we elect that they are servants of the people and not men advancing the interests of any one party or man. And let the public compare our method of qualifying for nominations with that of the party that has sprung up and been victorious in the last three elections.

"Our nominations will not be made by five men. The voters can express their choice at the primaries. If five men make a party platform and one man rules the party, what do the people expect to get in the way of just legislation? The men on the Republican ticket will be men at whom no newspaper or man can call names and who will go before the people as men representing, not a boss-ruled party, but an organization that advocates principles born at the time of Abraham Lincoln and preserved until now as the best the people have known."

Chairman Ford's address was received with cheers and ex-Congressman William H. Graham, who followed him, got an ovation. In his speech Mr. Graham said:

Change Was Unexpected One.

"Last fall the people demanded a change, and they got it with a vengeance. Every pledge made by the Citizens party prior to the recent elections have been violated, and there is no doubt in my mind that the Republican party will be victorious in the coming fight. The people I meet daily realize that they have been outraged, and, as President Lincoln said: 'You can't fool all the people all the time.' There is a certain man in this city who is not so popular now as he was six months ago. Why? Because he has not lived up to the pledges made prior to the February election."

Ex-Senator Charles Muehlbronner and ex-Councilman George W. Shaman made short addresses, in which they urged the ward and district workers to get out among the people and work and make the city organization a unit. By doing this they said the fight in the county would be advanced and victory further assured.

Mr. Muehlbronner presented a resolution indorsing the movement now on foot to bring to Pittsburgh the next convention of national delegates. The resolution was passed unanimously.

Chairman John H. Henderson instructed the district chairman that the names of delegates to the county convention should be in the hands of the county secretary in the headquarters in Pittsburgh by next Saturday.

Several other resolutions, relative to party organization in the city, were presented and passed unanimously. Ward and district chairmen were given instructions by Chairman Henderson as to the work that is to be done in the various precincts of Allegheny.

THEATERS NEXT WEEK.

Musical Comedy, Drama and Minstrelsy With a Touch of Vaudeville and Variety.

"Babes in Toyland," the big new musical production, with its wealth of scenery, Victor Herbert's beautiful music and a fine company of principals and chorus, will be the attraction at the Alvin theater next week. The entertainment enlists the services of 200 persons, including comedians, dancers, pantomimists, choristers, comedienes, soubrettes and the inevitable contingent of "show girls." The program will be a most attractive one. Charles Manager Davis' selections for next week's bill, at the Duquesne theater, that the program will be a most attractive one. Charles Dickson, the clever exponent of refined comedy, will lead the list, supported by a strong company. Other features will be by Adolph Zink, the midget comedian; the great Reynolds, ventriloquist, and McMahon's watermelon girls, one of the season's biggest vaudeville hits.

Sullivan, Harris & Woods will present at the Bijou next week, beginning Monday afternoon, their popular star, Joe Welch, in Hal Reid's successful play, "The Peddler." The role of Abner Jacobson, played by Mr. Welch in "The Peddler," is considered one of the best Hebrew character studies on the American stage. His characterization was carefully studied from nature.

Felix W. Vogel's big vaudeville comes to the Empire theater next week, and it is said will present one of the most novel, interesting and pleasing entertainments ever offered the theater-going public. The program is overflowing with rapid-fire fun and genuine surprises. Pretty music and dazzling scenic and electrical effects form an important part of the entertainment.

The bill for the coming week at the Duquesne theater will show that Manager Willhelm knows what the patrons of this popular theater desire. He has engaged 30 of the best acts in the business, every one of which could be truthfully called headliners. Fisher and Carroll, Ryan and Richfield, Stinson and Merton, Mullen and Corbett, Wesson, Walters and Wesson, and Vera King are some of the good things promised.

The Parisian Widows Burlesquers" will open for a week's engagement at the Academy, commencing with a matinee on Monday next. In the personnel of the "Parisian Widows" Company there are a number of favorites, who make the most of the laughable situations that are the predominating features of the show.

Concert bands, quartets and a host of specialty people will make up the bills of attraction at the various parks next Sunday, and all of them are of the first-class. The amusements should be satisfactory in every way. Kennywood will have a number of special features in it steeplechase building. Calhoun park will have the Tighe Regiment band. At Oakwood the Knights of Pythias band will hold forth. The Homestead Library band will give both concerts at Southern parks.

THREE PROMINENT COUPLES MARRIED AT GREENSBURG

MRS. FORSYTHE.

MRS. MARSH.

(Special Telegram to The Gazette.)

GREENSBURG, PA., Sept. 9.—Three weddings in which families prominent here were interested, were solemnized here tonight. At the home of the bride's father, Iden Dalby, Miss Jessie Dalby was married to Mr. Rube F. Marsh, a member of the Westmoreland bar, by the Rev. Edwin S. Wallace, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The wedding was a quiet affair, because of a recent death in the bride's family, and was witnessed by immediate relatives and friends.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Phillips of West Pittsburgh street, Miss Ruth Rankin Phillips and Mr. Edwin K. Sherrick of Connellsville, were married by the Rev. George D. Lindsay, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, and the Rev. John A. Marquis, pastor of Redlands, Cal. The bride was dressed in a handsome gown of white crepe de chine. Mrs. Sherrick has taken part in a number of local theatrical productions. Mr. Sherrick is connected with the First National bank of Connellsville. He was formerly with the Merchants and Farmers National bank of Greensburg. Guests were present from Scottdale, Connellsville, Pittsburgh and Altoona.

Miss Mary Alice Sykes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sykes of Alwine avenue, and Mr. John W. Forsythe of Latrobe, were married at the home of the bride's parents by the Revs. Messrs. Lindsay and Marquis. Guests were present from Latrobe, Johnstown and Greensburg. Mrs. Sykes is a prominent musician and Mr. Forsythe is a well-known business man of Latrobe. All the couples left tonight for wedding trips to eastern cities.

SOCIETY

DURING the last few days a number of the homes in the East End have been opened and placed in readiness for the return of the members of the different families. A general air of activity has been observed about houses which for weeks have stood silent and tenantless save for the card-takers.

This week Beechwood hall, the home of the Frews, has been opened for the arrival of the family today. Mr. and Mrs. William N. Frew have occupied their handsome summer home at Point Pleasant, N. J., throughout the season, their daughters and son being with them.

Miss Jeannnette Hawkins and Miss Beatrice Hawkins, daughters of Judge and Mrs. William G. Hawkins, Jr., who were at the Frontenac in the Thousand islands, with their grandmother, Mrs. Heyl, have returned to their home in Shadyside. The Henry Baikens, who were also at the Frontenac, are home again.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Harry Brown and their children have returned to the city, having opened their house in Fifth avenue and Murry Hill a week ago. The Browns stopped in Saratoga on their way home, and were members of Senator Davis' party there, which included several other Pittsburgh people, together with West Virginia friends of Senator Davis. Mrs. Harrison McKee, the daughter of the late Benjamin Harrison, was also in the party. During the summer the Browns were at the Frontenac. Both the hotel and the annex were filled with Pittsburghers, who were so numerous that the season was humorously called "Little Pittsburgh." Mr. and Mrs. William Watson Smith were numbered in the Pittsburgh colony at the Frontenac after making a tour of the lakes. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander R. Peacock were also in the Thousand Islands and are expected home today.

Mrs. Alexander Rook, Mrs. H. R. Carroll, Miss Carroll and Mrs. Carroll's youngest son arrived in New York on the Avarie last week, coming to Pittsburgh immediately. During Mrs. Rook's absence, which extended over a period of two months, her home was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Rook Carroll. The Ralph Baggaleys and Mr. and Mrs. David King Irwin will not return home until October, residing at Allenhurst, formerly, until that time. Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Bailey of Centerview, Aiken avenue, with Miss Bailey and Mrs. Alfred Clarke, at present abroad, will also be among the October arrivals.

Mrs. John Ferguson Shafer, who came home from Europe last week, is now in Cleveland, called there by the death of a nephew, only son of a sister. Another sister and his mother accompanied Mrs. Shafer on the trip abroad, their tour including France, Switzerland, Germany, Holland and Belgium. Mrs. H. Lee Mason is expected home today from the east, Miss Mason having preceded her mother by a few days.

Miss Eleanor Watson of Murdock street and Mrs. Louis Schmertz of Wilkins avenue left on the Limited last evening to join the house party which Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Quay are entertaining in Southampton. Mrs. Alexander A. Speer of Homewood avenue reached Pittsburgh last Saturday. Her son, Alexander Speer, who accompanied her, has completely recovered from the illness contracted while spending the summer in Maine.

Will Wed an English Belle.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—The approaching marriage of Miss Margharita Grace to Jay Phipps is creating great interest, not only among members of the many American colonies, but wherever the social world of London has distributed itself.

Miss Grace is the youngest of the "three Graces," the very attractive daughters of Mr. F. Grace of Belgrave square and Battle abbey, that grand and historic house in Sussex which is one of the show places of England. His brother was at one time mayor of New York.

The two other daughters married men who will yet make their mark in the political world—Hubert Beaumont and the young earl of Donough More. The Grace family, by the way, hail from the same Irish county in which Lord Donough More's seat is situated.

Miss Margharita Grace has been reported to have had engaged half a dozen times. She is petite, with soft brown eyes, a lovely skin and dimples, a demure, bewitching manner, and is brimful of humor, like her father.

Jay Phipps, as the eldest son of Henry Phipps, the great steel magnate, will not be lacking in this world's goods. He is about 28, good looking, a very cultured and well-read young fellow, and, what appealed more than anything else to his fiancee, a very keen sportsman.

For some years the Phipps family has rented Beaulieu castle, Lord Lovat's Scotch home. Although a good rider and whip, Jay Phipps has fallen, like many other sportsmen, a victim to the motor craze, and after the wedding, in November, he and his bride will take a motor trip through South and then a voyage to India. Some of the jewels which Miss Grace has already received are of great beauty, and the wedding will be the smartest to be held in London during the winter season.

Her Mother's Wedding Gown.

At her wedding tonight to Robert Galloway Paul, Miss Emily Madelaine Schellenberg will wear her mother's wedding gown of silk and chiffon, with a collar of point lace. The orange blossoms which her mother wore will fasten the bridal veil.

It will be a very pretty home wedding. Miss Schellenberg is the daughter of F. Z. Schellenberg of Howe street. Her fiance is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Paul of Dennison avenue. The hour set for the ceremony is 5 o'clock, with the Rev. Charles Cheesman, pastor of the North Highland Presbyterian church, as officiant. Miss Elizabeth Schellenberg will be the bride's only attendant. Mr. Paul, brother to the bridegroom, will act as best man. The guest list is limited to the members of the two families and a few close friends.

White asters will be carried by the bride, pink asters forming the maid's bouquet. The maid of honor will be gowned in white batiste with a sash of pink liberty silk. The house decorations will be carried out in pink and white asters being the principal flowers. Miss Frances Thompson will play the wedding march. A wedding supper will be served after the ceremony. At the bride's table will be seated 16 cousins, younger members of the two families. After a trip to the Canadian highlands Mr. Paul and his bride will be at home on dates after October 1, in Bryant street, Buffalo, where he is in business. A large number of out-of-town guests will be present at the wedding this evening, among them being Mrs. Frank A. Hopper and Miss Florence Hopper, of Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. Elizabeth Long and her daughter, Miss Elisabeth Long, of Washington, D. C. Mr. Paul before going to Buffalo was identified with the writing staff of several Pittsburgh newspapers.

Reunion of College Girls.

Miss Sara Pfeil of Shady avenue was hostess at a pleasantly informal entertainment yesterday afternoon. The guests included the members of the classes of '03 and '05, Pennsylvania College for Women, the hostess being a member of the former. The entertainment took the form of a 5inch party, a new card game recently brought from the east, Crimson and white, the class colors of '05, were carried out in the dainty tally cards, the green and white of '03 appearing in the refreshments. Clusters of wild flowers were placed on the tables in vases, these forming the sole decorations.

Among the guests were Miss Harriet Templeton Duff, Miss Eleaner Fitzgibbons, Miss Anna Rogers Hunter, Miss Jennie Emma McSherry, Miss Anna Myra Petty, Miss Hilda Ridley Sadler and Miss Mary Grier Willson of '05, and Miss Harriet B. Kerr, Miss Laura Shrom, Miss Frances Fitzgibbons, Miss Helen Moore, Miss Mary McClelland and Miss Edith Gray of '06. Miss Johnstin is at present at her home in Ohio, but is expected in Pittsburgh some time next week en route to Bryn Mawr college, where she has taken a scholarship in chemistry. It is probable that several social affairs will be given for her during her short stay in the city.

Conner—Hayes.

An interesting wedding was solemnized at the First Methodist Presbyterian church last evening at 8 o'clock. The contracting parties were Miss Mary C. Conner, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Benjamin C. Conner, of Altoona and Dr. William Van Malzah Hayes, a practicing physician of New York city and a native of Lewisburg, Pa. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father. The maid of honor was Miss Frances E. Conner, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were Miss Euphemia M. Conner, Altoona; Miss E. Beulah Hayes, Lewisburg; Miss Josie L. Gore, Baltimore, and Miss Martha B. Bowman, Hollidaysburg. The best man was Alfred Hayes, Jr., New York city. Matthew C. Haven, Lewisburg, and W. I. Hambridge, New York city; W. L. Thacher, California, and W. D. George, Jamestown, N. Y., were the ushers.

Bollinger—Caton.

A pretty wedding of yesterday afternoon was that of Miss Margaret E. Bollinger to Samuel C. Caton of Crosby, Tenn. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ward Bollinger, Corey avenue, Braddock, at 2 o'clock, the Rev. Titus Lowe of the Methodist Episcopal church officiating. Fifty guests were present. The bride wore white silk with lace trimmings, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. She was given away by her father. Miss Hilda Sarver of Braddock was bridesmaid and Harry L. Bollinger, a brother of the bride, was best man. A wedding dinner was served and the couple left last night for a tour of the east. They will reside in Duquesne.

Hill—Woods.

At Everson, Westmoreland county, an interesting wedding took place yesterday at noon. The contracting parties were Miss Maty Ella Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Scott Hill of Everson, and Alfred B. Woods, son of Dr. J. S. Woods of Connellsville. Both are deaf mutes and are members of prominent families. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. C. Bloomfield of Pittsburgh, assisted by the Rev. C. L. E. Cartwright of Scottdale. Francis Hill, a brother of the bride, acted as interpreter. The wedding, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, was witnessed by about 50 deaf mutes from all sections of Western Pennsylvania. Mr. and Mrs. Woods will reside in Connellsville.

Pittsburgher Marries in Switzerland.

Joseph Bachman, a well-known young electrician at the Westinghouse electric works at East Pittsburgh, went to Zurich, Switzerland, a few weeks ago to attend the national Swiss turnfest, accompanied by nine fellow-workmen. Word comes from there this week that he has been united in marriage with Miss Leah Hildebrunner, living near Zurich. The couple met in Iowa at first sight and the marriage took place three days after their first meeting. Mr. Bachman will bring his bride to this country next spring. The class of which he is a member brought back one of the handsomest prizes awarded during the fest.

Celebrated Golden Wedding.

Justice of the Peace Stephen Miner and wife yesterday celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their home in Beaver. Mr. Miner for eight years was superintendent of the county home and for 13 years has been justice of the peace in Beaver and superintendent and treasurer of the Beaver Cemetery association. Among those attending the golden wedding celebration were his three children, James E. of Bloomington, Ill., Mrs. Thomas Kerr of Christy and Mrs. Elizabeth Kerr of Beaver. There were present also four grandchildren, the Misses Bertha and Elizabeth Minor, Miss Gertrude Christy and Stephen Minor Kerr. Mr. Minor was a veteran of the civil war and was several times elected school director of the Beaver borough. He was an elder in the North Branch Presbyterian church for 20 years.

Clark—Allen.

Miss Chloe Quinby, daughter of Mrs. James Clark, was married yesterday afternoon to Ernest W. Allen at Sharon. The Rev. J. B. Rankin of the Methodist Episcopal church officiated. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large number of friends. After a wedding dinner Mr. and Mrs. Allen left on a trip to Delhi, Buffalo and Niagara Falls. Mrs. Allen is one of Sharon's best known young women and is popular socially. Mr. Allen is in the employ of the Carnegie Steel Company.

Pleasant Affair in Oakmont.

The grounds surrounding "Fairview," the hilltop home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Thomas, of Oakmont, was the scene of a rather unique and pleasant affair last evening. Miss Mary Thomas, the eldest daughter of the house, acted as hostess. Large fires were made in the heat of which marshmallows were roasted. After the toast, the young people repaired to the house, where an informal dance was held. The guests included a few of the younger members of Oakmont society and was very informal, invitations having been issued by telephone.

A Washington Engagement.

Announcement was made yesterday of the engagement of Miss Lola O'Neil to James A. Seaman, both of Washington, Pa. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's parents in South Lincoln street Wednesday evening, October 21. Miss O'Neil is a prominent Washington girl. Mr. Seaman is engaged in business there with his father. He is a member of the city council from the Second ward and a veteran of Company H, Tenth regiment, having served with this command in the Philippines.

Students' Subscription Dance.

The subscription dance given last evening at the Keystone Bicycle club house in Howe street was an enjoyable event. The pretty little ballroom of the club house was filled with dancers during the evening and quite a number of handsome gowns were seen. The affair was in honor of the departing college students of the East End. The committee included F. Filmore Hyde, John B. Cromlish, Richard J. Sloan and J. Harrison Hugus.

A Prize in Real Estate.

The congregation of St. Philips' Roman Catholic church, Crafton, held a lawn fete on the church grounds last night, at which many persons attended from Crafton, Ingram, Sheraden and vicinity. The fete will be continued tonight, and a valuable lot in Ingram, which was donated by a woman of the congregation, will be raffled off. The proceeds of the lawn fete will go to the building of the new $75,000 church that is being erected.

Farewell Reception.

The members of the Allegheny Reformed Presbyterian church have sent out invitations for a reception in honor of Dr. Kate McBurney and Dr. Jean McBurney. The reception will be a farewell entertainment, as the two will leave September 30 to take medical missionaries in China. The reception will be held this evening at 7:45 o'clock in the church, North Diamond and Sandusky streets, Allegheny.

Baird—Day.

Harry Day of Chestnut street and Miss Anna Baird of Beaver street, Sewickley, returned home yesterday, having on Monday of last week gone to Wellsville, O., where they were married. Both young people are well known in the valley, where they will reside after a short trip. Mr. Day is a fireman for the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad at the Union station, Pittsburgh.

Last Summer Dance.

The Keystone Bicycle club announces its last summer dance, which will be held in Oakwood park on Thursday evening, September 24. The committee in charge is anxious to have a large attendance of the members. Charles A. Bruce, George W. Glassburg and A. N. Behrenberg have charge of the arrangements.

Large Lawn Fete in Braddock.

The Women's Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Braddock will hold one of the largest lawn fetes of the year in that church on a vacant lot on the lawn surrounding the parsonage of the Rev. William Pitt Turner, D. D., in Lilie avenue.

A Large Family Reunion.

The descendants of John Nesbit, a pioneer in the vicinity of Oakdale, held a reunion in Oakdale yesterday and about 100 descendants and friends were present. The principal address was made by the Rev. J. Snodgrass of Carnegie. John Nesbit settled in Oakdale in 1781 and his descendants are prominent in that vicinity.

Will Wed Today.

HEAVY STORM SWEEPS OVER WESTERN MISSOURI

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 9.—The heaviest rainstorm in the history of Western Missouri fell in Kansas City last night and today. At noon rain fell in torrents. For a time this afternoon car lines were put out of commission and business practically suspended. In six hours, according to measurements taken at the office of the local weather bureau, 4.20 inches of rain fell. The local weather forecaster expects a rise of more than two feet in both the Kansas and Missouri rivers by tomorrow morning.

Women's Clubs

Making the Cooks Uniforms.

The members of the East End Young Women's Christian association opened their season yesterday with an all-day sewing. The various committees also met to discuss plans for the winter. During the day about 30 members were in attendance, covers being placed at luncheon for 18. The meeting was small by reason of so many of the members being away from home. The first Monday in each month is set for the business meetings of the association and the first Wednesday is social day. The needlework done yesterday was on the uniforms for the cooking class which the association carries on. Mrs. O. H. Allerton is president of the association, with Mrs. G. L. Peabody first vice president, Mrs. Alta Shepard second vice president, Mrs. A. H. Buckham recording secretary, Mrs. W. L. Hicks corresponding secretary and Miss Hannah Lyon treasurer. The chairmen of the various committees include Mrs. Mellie Patterson, Mrs. W. L. Pierce, Mrs. Henry Clay Pair and Mrs. J. J. Matthews.

Semi-Centennial Celebration.

The trustees and faculty of Beaver college and musical institute have issued invitations for their semi-centennial celebration on September 16, 17 and 18. In the college chapel. On Wednesday, at 8 o'clock a grand concert will be given under the direction of Chevalier Guiseppe Ferrata; on Tuesday evening historical night exercises will be held under the management of the alumni association, and at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon a platform mass meeting is scheduled, the Hon. John J. P. Braun presiding. Addresses will be made by Dr. R. T. Taylor, Dr. C. W. Smith, A. V. Schoyer, the Hon. J. P. Mansfield, Dr. N. H. Holmes and Dr. T. N. Boyle. The semi-centennial address will be made by William Valentine Kelly, D. D., LL. D.

Report of the Convention.

Miss Margaret King, the Allegheny county delegate to the 21st International Christian Endeavor convention, held in Denver last July, will give a report of her trip this evening in the Second Presbyterian church, Penn avenue and Seventh street, Pittsburgh. The Rev. William Schaefer will act in the place of the subject of "The Convention from a Minister's Point of View." J. Henry Stauff, the Pennsylvania state treasurer, will conduct a symposium on "My Impression." There will be excellent music and a social after the meeting, everybody is invited to come. There will be special decorations.

Club Re-organized.

The Sewickley High School Mandolin and Guitar club has reorganized. The following are the members of the club: First mandolins, Edgar McCabe, Harold Herspergar; second mandolins, Howard Koch, Alex. Stevenson, Ronn Estelman; first violin, F. Agur; second violin, James Collar; guitars, Charles Neely and Roberts Applegate; piano, Norman Browbn.

BANKERS OF FOREIGNERS SENT TO BUTLER JAIL

BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Crowds of foreigners today thronged the office of Squire Benjamin McElvain, before whom J. Raymond Pacovsky and Anton Matiasic, the Polish bankers, were having their hearing. Tonight both young men are in the Butler jail to answer charges of embezzling and receiving money with intent to defraud. Bail in $1,000 was required. Both maintain their innocence and declare they are the victims of the duplicity of another man. Tonight foreigners are still returning to the attorneys interested in the case receipts from the Standard Exchange bank company for money sent through this country for the old homes in Europe which never reached its destination.

BOAT GOES OVER DAM AND BOY IS DROWNED

TITUSVILLE, PA., Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Victor Anderson, son of Frank Anderson of Garland, was drowned this evening. Anderson, in company with other lads, allowed their boat to drift over the mill dam at Garland and all three were thrown into the water, 15 feet deep. The other boys swam to shore.

Fire! Fire!!

When that cry sounds how people rush to help and sympathize! And when some fireman rescues a woman from the flames, the streets echo with applauding shouts.

And yet if that woman had perished in the flames it is possible that she would have suffered less than she suffers almost daily from the inflammation which disease has lighted in the delicate womanly organism.

That fire of inflammation can be put out. The gnawing ulcer can be cured. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription not only establishes womanly regularity and dries unwholesome drains, but it heals inflammation and ulcerations and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I suffered for four years with what four physicians pronounced ulceration and prolapsus of the uterus," writes Mrs. Ada Brooks, of Kirbyville, Taney Co., Missouri. "Also inflammation of bladder and urethra. My case was chronic and complicated. Had several good physicians, but kept getting worse. Had been confined to my bed five months when I wrote to you. I received your reply very soon and then dismissed my physician and began taking Dr. Pierce's 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and began to get better at once. In two months I could sit up in a chair, and kept getting better. In four months could do all my house work, including washing and ironing."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

MEMBERS OF W. C. T. U. SHOW THEIR FULL CONFIDENCE IN MRS. ETNIER

IS FAVORITE FOR DELEGATE

Allegheny County Temperance Workers Hold Annual Convention and Transact Much Important Business in the Two sessions—List of New Officers.

That Mrs. Ruth S. Etnier of Avalon has been entirely vindicated in the minds of her associates in the Women's Christian Temperance union of Allegheny county, of the imputations of cruelty to her stepdaughter, was shown at the convention at the First United Presbyterian church, Allegheny, yesterday, when she was not only re-elected to her former position of corresponding secretary, but also tied another member for the position of delegate to the national convention to be held at Cincinnati in November. Mrs. Etnier withdrew in favor of Mrs. Josephine Garber of the East End and was then, by unanimous vote, made Mrs. Garber's alternate.

The scene attending Mrs. Etnier's nomination was notable. Half a dozen seconds were heard and as many moves that the nominations close. The 75 women present rose and waved their handkerchiefs and called on Mrs. Etnier for a speech. She thanked them for the expression of confidence.

The officers elected at the morning session were, president, Mrs. Henrietta H. Forrest; recording secretary, Mrs. E. S. McMasters; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ruth S. Etnier; treasurer, Mrs. Isabella S. McConnell.

A discussion arose at the morning session over the proposed change in the by-laws in regard to using the permanent home fund for establishing better and larger headquarters. It was finally referred to a committee of seven, of which Mrs. E. W. Gormley is chairman. There is $776 in the fund. Mrs. Georgia Sloan and Mrs. Wigering of Sterrett union handed in a check for $126 for as many new members, amid great enthusiasm. Mrs. McConnell of McDonald, treasurer, reported a balance of $114 91 on hand, exclusive of the $126 from Sterrett union. The receipts were $630 52 for the year.

At the afternoon session, after the choice of a delegate to the Cincinnati convention, Mrs. W. B. Rhoades was re-elected secretary of the young women's branch and Mrs. A. M. Jones secretary of the Loyal Temperance Legion branch. The following superintendents of departments were elected:

Evangelical, Mrs. M. A. Irwin; prisons and jails, Mrs. E. W. Gormley; mothers' meetings, Mrs. Mary E. Steele; Sabbath observance and national reform, Mrs. R. C. Wylie; Sabbath school work, Mrs. M. A. Irwin; scientific temperance instruction, Mrs. Margaret Negley; health, heredity and physical culture, Mrs. Eliza McDowell; temperance literature, Mrs. T. R. Arrowsmith; purity and purity in literature and art, Mrs. S. C. Montgar; press, Mrs. E. A. Heim; music, Mrs. J. P. Goetman; flower mission, Miss Lizzie Welch; temperance light bearer, Mrs. Eliza Reno; legislation, Mrs. Sarah J. Patterson; franchises, Mrs. A. Starr Martin; work among soldiers and sailors, Mrs. Emma Houston; unfermented wine at the Lord's table, Mrs. Eliza Reno.

Several superintendents of departments were not elected, among which was the superintendent of work among foreigners, a new department, just created. The executive committee was empowered to elect these superintendents at its next regular meeting.

The committee on resolutions reported a long string of resolutions which included a recommendation for a special line of work during the coming year among the foreign population of Pittsburgh and vicinity; the indorsing of the anti-tobacco law and the boycotting of all patent medicines which contain alcohol. The next meeting of the convention will be arranged for by the executive committee.

How W. C. T. U. Stands On Race Suicide

The sentiment of the members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Allegheny county on the "race suicide" question was strongly expressed at the convention yesterday afternoon. At 2:45 a reception was tendered the baby band and about 50 tots were presented to the convention, while the choir and audience sang "Precious Jewels."

Vertical Writing Discontinued.

The teaching of vertical writing has been discontinued in all the schools of Homestead, owing to the system being in disfavor among business men. The borough school board has selected Miss Roberta Morgan of Homestead to succeed Miss Austin as head of the domestic science department at the Schwab Manual Training school. There is much opposition to the training school making an exhibit at the St. Louis fair and the matter has been left with the committee having the exhibit in charge to decide.

Chickens Raised in Cellars.

Residents and business men in the vicinity of Fifth and Old avenues, have lodged a complaint at the bureau of health against occupants of dwellings just beyond the "Dump." It is alleged that hucksters use their cellars for storage purposes, while others use the cellars for raising chickens, and the stench has become unbearable.

MAYOR HAYS WILL RECEIVE CASH FOR THE LIPTON TESTIMONIAL

Mayor William B. Hays will personally receive subscriptions from the residents of Greater Pittsburgh toward the purchase of a silver service to be given Sir Thomas Lipton by the American people as a testimonial of the esteem in which the owner of the Shamrock is held.

Clifford Wayne Hartridge of No. 149 Broadway, New York, secretary of the committee, in his communication to Mayor Hays, says the idea is to have each city in the United States participate in the testimonial.

MAY LIFT DEADLOCK.

Ralston School Board May Find Way to Settle Its Difficulties Tonight.

The contending factions in the board of the Ralston sub-district school, Ninth ward, may decide to bury the hatchet at the next meeting of the board, which will probably be called by President John Windish for this evening. The board is deadlocked all summer over the letting of a contract for the improvement of the sanitary system at the Ralston building, at Penn avenue and Fifteenth street.

John Carr, treasurer of the board, and Charles Shafer, a member of the board, who were appointed a committee at the meeting Tuesday night to consult with Charles Reisfar, secretary of the central board of education, as to how the sub-district board should proceed in order to hasten the opening of the school, yesterday met Secretary Reisfar. He submitter two propositions to the committee, which will report this morning to President Windish and ask him to call a meeting of the board for this evening. Treasurer Carr last evening declined to make public the propositions suggested by Secretary Reisfar till the board meets.

Residents of the ward are taking an active interest in the deadlock, and it has been suggested that if the board fails to break the deadlock by awarding the contract for the plumbing to one of the two bidders, that new bids be asked for and the contract given to some contractor who has, up to the present, not submitted a bid.

SHE PUT THREE BULLETS INTO WOULD-BE LOVER

McKeesport Woman Drove Man Away from Her Home After Wounding Him.

With bullet wounds in his arm, left side and back, John Hornyak is in the McKeesport hospital, and his assailant, Mrs. Anna Rumor of Duquesne, is locked up in the borough jail awaiting the result of Hornyak's injuries. The shooting occurred yesterday and was caused, it is said, by Hornyak's attempted assault on Mrs. Rumor, with whom he wanted to elope. For several weeks Hornyak has been boarding at the Rumor home and was once prosecuted by Mrs. Rumor for annoying her, the trouble being settled by Hornyak promising to leave the house.

Mrs. Rumor used a 38-caliber revolver and fired three shots, all of them taking effect, although none of the wounds is serious and Hornyak is expected to recover. The victim is about 35 years old and is said to have a wife in the old country. Mrs. Rumor's husband praises his wife's action.

CAR MEN'S OUTING.

Rain Spoiled All Sports Except the Ball Game at Calhoun Park.

Owing to the rain yesterday the sports that were scheduled to take place were not pulled off at Calhoun park with the exception of a seven-inning ball game between the West End and Birmingham conductors, which the former won, 7 to 1. It was the first day of the two-day outing given the motorman, conductors and other men employed on the Allegheny, Second avenue, East End, Birmingham and suburban divisions of the Pittsburgh Railways Company's lines.

The rest of the sports will take place today, and in addition there will be a ball game between the men from the Second avenue division and those of the Birmingham lines. There were big crowds, both afternoon and evening, despite the weather, and the dance last evening was well attended. Today is expected to make up for yesterday.

The Manchester and Second avenue teams will play a game of baseball at 10 o'clock this morning. The winning team will play the West End men in the afternoon for the $50 prize.

Creamy Bread

Tekla Bread shows its nutritive value in creaminess of color; in the satisfaction it gives when eaten alone; in ease of digestion. Tekla Bread is so good because all the grain is selected and blended to produce this rich creamy effect; the flour passes a rigid inspection for a definite quality; the mixing is done in machines that do the work like hand labor, but do it all so that nothing impure can get in.

WHERE EVERY BREATH IS A DELIGHT TO THE NOSTRILS, A BALM TO THE LUNGS, A TONIC TO THE SYSTEM.

LARGE LEVEL LOTS NO INTEREST NO TAXES

In offering the Country Club Plan of Lots at acreage prices and on the easy payment plan we have made it possible for men in moderate circumstances to secure desirable Squirrel Hill property without a great outlay of money. Nearly every home-loving man in Pittsburg has at one time or another wanted to live on Squirrel Hill. This is the best residential section of the city. It is convenient to Pittsburg, Homestead and Wilkinsburg, yet away from the smoke and soot of the great mills—away from the dust and din of the city—"Up where the sun shines," where the air is pure and clear and where the children can run and play to their hearts' content—yet Squirrel Hill enjoys all the advantages and improvements of the city. The Country Club Plan is right in the best section of Squirrel Hill, being situated on Beechwood boulevard, opposite the entrance to the magnificent grounds of the Pittsburg Country Club. The other side of the plan fronts on Shady avenue. Every one of the 235 lots is especially desirable as a home site. No grading—no filling in is necessary. Two street car lines are convenient to the property. The lots are of good size and are sold with reasonable building restrictions. Prices range from $500 up. Terms 5% down, 2% per month for balance—free from interest and taxes until all payments have been made.

LARGE, LEVEL, LOTS $500. UP

This is the first time high-class residence property in Pittsburg has been offered in this way—and it is the first time desirable Shady Ave. or Boulevard frontage has been offered at such low prices. We expect to sell all of the 235 lots in one day. We know that 25 times that number would not be enough to go around if we could bring the proposition clearly to the notice of all the men in Pittsburg and Homestead whose home tastes run to something more than 4 walls and a roof. Since our advertising began inquiries have been pouring in faster even than we had anticipated. We have opened an office on the plan and representatives will be there all this week to meet you and show you around—should you care to go out and look the proposition over, or you can get the maps and full information at our Fourth Avenue office.

How to Get to the Country Club Plan—If you take the Homestead, Braddock and Duquesne cars get off at Forward and Murray avenues. Walk up Forward one block to Shady avenue. Turn to your left and walk one block. If you take the Wilkinsburg, Swissvale and East Pittsburg line get off at Shady avenue and Forbes street; if going out from Pittsburg, turn to your right and walk five blocks.

OAKLAND THEFTS MAY BE STOPPED

Three Negroes Convicted of Entering Stores and Houses in That District.

STOLEN GOODS IDENTIFIED

Final Arguments Made in Equity Suit Against Allegheny Board of School Controllers Involving Text Book Purchase.

Harry and Robert Walker, brothers, and James Henderson, negroes, were placed on trial yesterday in criminal court and convicted on three counts of entering a building to commit a felony, larceny and receiving stolen goods. There were two charges of burglary against the men, but they were acquitted on these charges. It is alleged that between June 15 and July 25 the men entered 11 stores, shops, stables and residences and robbed them. All the robberies were committed in the Oakland district. The goods that were recovered by the police were identified by the persons they had been stolen from. Since the arrest of the trio the petty thieving in the district has stopped and the police believe the men under trial are those who have been doing most of it. These are the men who lived over a livery stable in Forbes street.

Mike Rouse, charged by C. E. Taylor with selling liquor without a license, pleaded guilty and was ordered to pay a fine of $500 and and to serve three months in the workhouse. On another charge of selling liquor on Sunday he was sentenced to 30 days to the workhouse.

Four Years for Breafast.

Frank Patri was sentenced to four years in the workhouse on a charge of felonious assault and battery, made against him by W. S. Wallace. It is said that on the morning of July 17 Patri walked into Wallace's home and demanded his breakfast, which was refused. He then drew a knife and cut Wallace after he had beaten him.

John Fishinger and Oscar Larson were sentenced to one year to the workhouse on a charge of robbing Fred Hubner's store in Butler street on the night of July 4.

John Campbell pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny made by Mrs. Mary Conrad and was sentenced to the workhouse for six months.

John Schultz pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny made by W. S. Lancaster and was sentenced to nine months to the workhouse. He was charged with stealing nine suits of clothes.

Charles Harris pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny, preferred by Annie Howard, and was sentenced to the workhouse for one year. He was indicted jointly with James Edwards for stealing $125, but a nolle pros. was allowed in the case of Edwards.

Text Book Case Argued.

Judge Marshall Brown heard the final arguments in the equity suit of Joseph C. Buckman against the Allegheny board of school controllers, an action to prevent the latter from establishing the use of new texibooks in the Allegheny schools. The arguments were heard by a large number of persons who are interested in the proceedings. The facts in the case have been practically agreed upon by both sides, and the question devolving upon the court is to decide whether the course of the controllers in acting upon the recommendation of the committee on textbooks was legal and regular.

Arguments were heard by Judge Robert S. Fraser in the equity suit of Mary M. Dalzell against the Standard Plating Company, its officers and directors, and the executors of the estates of Theodore Havekote and Sullivan Johnston, deceased, and E. J. Davis and W. E. Griffiths, to restrain the defendants from selling 400 shares of the company's stock claimed by the defendant.

She avers she owns the 400 shares, which have a par value of $100 each, and bases her claim on an alleged sale of the stock by Griffith to her husband, who subsequently sold it to the plaintiff.

She alleges her husband was associated in interests with the defendants, and that she loaned him $15,000, and the stock was to be a part payment of the debt. The company, she says, refused to issue her the stock and the defendants had threatened to sell the stock.

The hearing was continued until September 16, and in the meantime the proceedings are stayed.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

Edwin G. Orr, a real estate dealer of Pittsburgh, filed his petition in bankruptcy, giving his liabilities at $2,725 and assets as $200.

Ralph McBride, 5 years old, testified to his father and mother, to whom he says he has been a great charge. The amount is not given.

Ralph Ord left an estate of $14,000 to his wife and $1,000 to his daughter, Georgia Eshofer made a similar disposition of a $2,000 estate.

Libels in divorce were filed yesterday by Jennie McNeill against William McNeill and Dinah Hall against John Bell on the grounds of desertion.

The late Charles A. Cubbage, who died in California, left his estate to his sister, Annie Cubbage. The value is not given. Attorney John Dalzell has charge of the estate.

G. A. Nodine has entered suit against the New York Casualty Company to recover $133 he alleges is due on a policy he held for nine weeks' disability and which the company refuses to allow.

The following executions were issued yesterday: George H. Schickler vs. John M. Kleman, $427.70; George Berner vs. Henry Schoppe et al., $154.32; John A. Bailey vs. C. H. Coolman et al., $75.48.

Jacob Nagel entered suit against Mifflin township for $2,000 damages, which he says he has sustained by the defendants cutting a section of the only road he had for entering his premises, which are located on a hill.

In common pleas court No. 3 the execution against the realty owned in the borough of Bellevue against Contractor Samuel Baumgardner was dissolved. The borough claimed $500 had been overpaid him on a street grading contract. The case will go down to trial.

Mrs. Laura Boggs Patterson, late of Springdale, leaves her estate, the value of which is not given, to her husband, William J. Patterson, and numbers some bequests of jewelry. In a note added to the will she wrote: "Will, if you ever marry, will you please give Ellis all my diamonds to have that ever belonged to me?"

Jacob Herman and his wife entered suit against the township of Mifflin to recover $1,500 damages alleged to be due as the result of the defendant entering upon their property on the Perry Hollow road and tearing down 700 feet of fence and 115 feet of wall, thereby liberating a cow, which received injuries which caused her death.

Grace Cassile left $900 to defray the cost of masses at St. Paul's cathedral. She left a $2,000 story brick building at Third avenue and some lots in the Seventeenth ward. One-third goes to her brother, Patrick Kane of Pittsburgh, one-third to her brother, James Kane of California, and one-third to Agnes and Grace M. Kane, a nephew and niece.

James Little left a personal estate of $14,000 and real estate worth $100,000. A map accompanied the will showing the location of his property in Wylie avenue, Vine street, Roberts street, Linton street and Tannehill street. Twenty-three houses and lots in these streets are left to his daughters. Mary J. Wilson and Nancy P. Hays are sons, Charles J., Daniel J. and Samuel Little and his daughter Mary's child.

Thomas P. Gladden, late of South Fayette township, left an estate of $70,000. The Gladden United Presbyterian church is given $1,000 in 10 annual installments on condition that the location shall not be changed. The household goods and one-third of the real estate of ground so to the widow as long as she remains a widow. William R. Gladden, a son, is given $50 cross and the rest of the estate is divided in four parts, one part going to the widow, three parts being held in trust for the children.

Louise Henrietta Hippely left an estate the value of which is not given. A void provision of her will is a clause giving $215 to Clarence F. Hippely and Ida May Jageman on condition that the decedent be buried at the side of her husband. The will provides that the bonds and stocks of the estate be sold within five years. Pittsburgh Brewing Company bonds amounting to $52,000, stock in the same company, with $2,500 and a mortgage of $2,500 are divided equally between her brother, Mrs. Henrietta Bauchbach, her sister, Mrs. Annie Boyer, and her brother, B. F. Baumbach.

MORTGAGE MONEY AT SIX PER CENT

Small Lenders Coming Forward With Sums for Loans on Good Properties.

NEW SCHOOL HOUSE WANTED

Forty-Five Houses Will be Built in the Thirteenth Ward and Twenty in Glenwood—South Side Property Bought for $19,750.

Six per cent mortgage money has fairly come. Even on big loans this rate is being asked, and it is reported on good authority that a loan of $65,000 on first-class downtown property was placed at six per cent last week. On smaller loans money is coming forward more freely, as the rate that prevails is tempting many private individuals to invest their funds in real estate security. In sums ranging from $5,000 to $20,000 it is somewhat easier to get funds than two weeks or a month ago according to the statements of brokers who make a specialty of this sort of loans. But the security must be of the very best, as was evidenced by the refusal Tuesday of a $10,000 loan on a $35,000 property in the East End, six per cent being offered.

Many mortgages are being called especially on the cheaper properties. Private parties who are offering their money to brokers to be placed on good real estate security are particular that the loans shall be made for a period of at least four or five years. This is taken as an indication by many brokers that they are guarding against a cheap money market, which may occur again within a few months, by placing their loans at a six per cent for a long period. One thing is evident in the mortgage business at present, the flurries in the stock market which have been so costly to hundreds of Pittsburgh people of small average means have resulted, as was expected, in turning their attention to real estate as a safer means of investment, and where they formerly haunted the bucket shops they now take their propositions to real estate men.

School House in Wilkins Place Wanted.

Residents of that rather exclusive East End neighborhood known as Wilkins Place are clamoring for a schoolhouse all their own. Part of Wilkins Place belongs in Swissvale borough and part in the thirty-second ward. The boroughs of Wilkinsburg and Edgewood face it on the opposite side of Braddock avenue. Although it belongs properly to Edgewood, it is isolated from that borough by a deep ravine, which makes school attendance in that borough very inconvenient. The new Thirty-second ward schoolhouse is the nearest, but this is much too far for small children to travel, and the residents of Wilkins Place, as well as many who are contemplating building sites there for residence homes, are devising means to get a schoolhouse more centrally located. During the last two years over 40 high-class residences in Wilkins Place in addition to a good number in the other side of Braddock avenue, and the community is one of the best to be found in the city.

Two Bunches of New Houses.

Through the office of George T. McDonald 45 lots belonging to William Walker of the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company have been sold to James Stothers for $22,500, and are located in Bedford avenue, Chauncey, Laura and Ridge streets in the Thirteenth ward. The purchaser will improve them at once by building 20 brick-veneered houses to cost $1,500 each, for which there is a great demand in this district.

Another bunch of 20 houses has been contracted for this week by the Witherow & Ewing Company, and the contract for their erection has been awarded to J. D. Sweeny & Co. The houses will be four-room jetchs, situated on Second avenue, Glenwood, and will cost $30,000.

The closing of a deal yesterday by which E. A. Woods, manager of the Republic Building Association, secures from the John Way, Jr., heirs 200 feet more of their property at the head of Academy avenue, Sewickley, will give the association room for another fine mansion in that aristocratic neighborhood. Mr. Woods now has a plot 450x860 feet facing in Centennial road one-half mile above Quaker Valley, and the fine residences of Robert Wardrop, C. W. Brown of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and Frank Scott Willock.

Gets Still Another Property.

The River and Railroad Terminal Company has secured another piece of South Side property necessary to get it a good outlet to Carson street between its system of 44 warehouses that will be built between Third and Fourth streets. The deal was made by the Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company, which purchased George W. Johnston, representing the company, the Mary E. Nevergold property, a lot 44x100 feet, improved with two-story brick buildings, for $19,000.

The Philip Horn and Realty Company has bought for Louis W. Sands from Theodore Scandinella No. 1848 Bedford avenue a three-story brick house, lot 21 feet 6 inches by 62. The purchase was made on a cooperative contract, and the company has a number of similar deals nearly closed.

Craig Avenue Extension Realty Company sold for George A. Barclay to Jacob Sloan No. 1852 Craft avenue, a nine-room reception-hall brick house, lot 81 5x110 feet, for $6,000.

Forbes street—Thomas Collins sold to Etta Marks an improved lot, 20x120 feet, in the south side of Forbes street extending through to Tustin street, for the consideration of $1,600.

Margaretta street—John Reil sold to Charles Riedel an improved lot, 42x194 feet, in the south side of Margaretta street, near Pacific avenue, Thirteenth ward, for $2,200.

Four Houses Bring $9,000.

Wylie avenue—L. Goldstein sold for William C. McEldowney to Jacob Shapira Nos. 1617-1623 Wylie avenue, four frame houses, lot 61x86 feet, for $8,000.

Anderson street—George C. Norris of the Consolidated Real Estate Company sold for an Allegheny business man to Daniel J. Lockhart a property 80x75 fronting on Anderson street, Thirteenth ward, for $1,800 cash. J. W. Sherrer of the same company sold for Robert H. Kegley, Jr., to Cora M. Sherrer a property 40x143 feet in the north side of Jackson street, Nineteenth ward, for $2,000.

Bellmar place—Charles D. Conner sold to Bella W. Taylor an improved lot, 33x96 feet, in the south side of Race street, near Collier street, Twenty-first ward, for $1,000.

Hiron avenue—Grealish & Rafferty sold for W. E. Boylston to Otto F. Felix an improved lot, 42x80 feet, at the northwest corner of Hiron and Wylie avenues, Thirteenth ward, for $7,500.

Building permits issued yesterday by the bureau of building inspection were as follows: C. D. Pane, frame dwelling, Walnut street, Twentieth ward, $3,000; Daniel Hill, three frame dwellings, Griffin street, Thirty-second ward, $7,500; J. Wilkinson, frame dwelling, Linden avenue, Twenty-second ward, $3,000; James Patterson, frame dwelling, Hazelwood avenue, Twenty-third ward, $2,100.

The Fifth Avenue Realty Company sold for J. J. Hamilton to Daniel Rubenstein, lot 24x120 feet, improved with a three-story brick building, at No. 2216 Center avenue, for $7,000 cash. Lead work, the company sold for Mr. Murphy his residence at No. 2218 Center avenue for the same amount. This house was bought by S. H. Rubinstein. The same company sold for Harriet Hamilton to Joseph Hamilton a lot 35x110 feet, in Carson street, Thirteenth ward, for $3,000 cash. The lot is improved with two buildings—one brick, the other frame.

MISS O'DONNELL TO BE THE CARNIVAL QUEEN

Hazelwood Girl Will Be Crowned This Evening at Oakland Grounds.

The star event of the Oakland Board of Trade carnival will take place this evening, when the crowning of the queen will occur. Throughout the contest for queen the keenest rivalry prevailed but the announcement that Miss Winifred O'Donnell, the popular Hazelwood girl, had secured the greatest number of votes, 17,679, put with general favor and the leading supporters of the successful candidate will be out an masse this evening. Miss O'Donnell is one of the brightest employes of K. Solomon & Co.'s establishment, and that firm in honor of the victory secured by her has arranged for a free distribution of tickets for tonight. These tickets will be distributed to all comers to Solomon's store today.

Miss Winifred O'Donnell.

The ceremony of crowning the queen will be most elaborate and will in itself be a striking feature of tonight's offerings. A specially constructed platform in the center of the grounds beautifully decorated and illuminated has been provided, and upon this Miss O'Donnell will receive the tiara, which is a particularly handsome one. Police Magistrate Joseph H. Vilchenstein will deliver the address and also place the crown upon Miss O'Donnell. There will be special music and a parade of the entire carnival. When Miss O'Donnell receives the crown she will be in absolute control of the carnival. Her word will be law, and much interest is centered in the character of the orders she will issue. Several interesting surprises are in store for the carnival queen.

There is every indication, weather permitting, that tonight will be the greatest in the history of the carnival. In addition to the crowning of the queen, the members of the Grand Army and Union Veteran legion will be present as guests of the carnival management.

GENERAL REDUCTION IN THE PRICE OF IRON

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—There was a general reduction of iron prices today to meet the reduction in southern pig iron prices made last week. The reduction here was 25 points on No. 1 northern pig and 50 cents on southern pig iron. Old iron and steel and iron rails were about $2 a ton lower and old scrap iron declined from $1 50 to $2 a ton.

Over 100 Contractors Bidding on Handsome New Washington Station

Competition such as has rarely been seen has developed for the lucrative and fame-bringing contract to erect the handsomest railroad passenger station in the world, the new joint Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania passenger terminal in Washington, D. C. Chief Engineer W. H. Brown of the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday opened the bids for the station. There were more than 100, and the best known contractors from all parts of the country are among the bidders. While it was expected that there would be a contest for the work, it was not believed that it would develop to such proportions as this.

It was stated at Mr. Brown's office that the award cannot be made for a week or 10 days yet at the earliest. The bids need to be tabulated in order that the best can be found and the standing of the most available bidder learned before he can be given a contract of such importance.

When congress appropriated the amount needed to make possible this plan providing the greatest tourist point of the country with a passenger terminal worthy of the national capital, it directly stipulated that the railroads should not spend less than $4,000,000 in its construction and that it should be in keeping architecturally with the federal buildings in Washington. The plans for the station were prepared by D. H. Burham & Co. of Chicago, architects of the Union station, Pittsburgh; the Frick building, the Carnegie Exposition building and other local structures. The station will be of commanding size, and every device known to comprise a convenient passenger terminal will be found in this building.

Wabash Station Awaits Steel.

With the foundations complete and all else ready for Pittsburgh passenger terminal of the Wabash awaits only the arrival of the steel with which will be built the frame of the big structure. It is expected that delivery will very shortly. The settlement which has been obtained with the structural workers insures that there will be men available at once for the task when the material is on the ground. All the other contracts pending to be let at once have been placed. The few others, such as the woodwork, painting, etc., will be let shortly.

Re-elected All Former Officers.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Sept. 9.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad today the old board of directors was re-elected with the exception of D. B. Wesley of New York, vice the late president Thomas Scott. The road to be in future the property of the original directors. At the meeting of the directors the re-election of President Thomas and all the old officers was effected.

Railroad Notes.

F. D. Underwood president of the Erie, has been elected a director of the Toledo & Ohio Central.

Robert H. Rogers has been appointed general freight agent of the Baltimore & Ohio shops at Cumberland, Md.

The first train, a freight, was operated this week over the Detroit & Toledo Shore line, the joint Grand Trunk-Clover Leaf connection.

R. M. Laing, for 15 years chief clerk to the general passenger agent, has been made assistant general passenger agent of the P. Louis Southwestern.

For the annual round trip to Havana is offered by the Southern Pacific for a specially comfortable excursion leaving New Orleans at 4 p. m. September 19.

Many Pittsburgh railroad men will be glad to know that Col. Ed. Rowe, Master Mechanic of the Hocking division of the Burlington, at Cincinnati, will be back at his office next week entirely recovered from his recent severe illness.

It is said that Thomas L. Clark, elected president of the "Iron Belt" is the youngest railroad president in the country. He is but 30 years old. The "Iron Belt" is about 200 miles long and will represent, when completed, an investment of $5,000,000, all in Texas.

With the change of train schedule next Sunday the Steamer A Lake Erie Company will adopt eastern standard, or city time, instead of Central standard time, now in use. There will be no appreciable change made in the running of trains, except that main line trains will discontinue running into Exposition park on and after that date.

WILDCAT WELL MAKES GOOD AND OPENS UP NEW POOL

South of Milton, in the Mid river valley, Cabell county, the wildcat on the Beckett farm has made good and the prospects for a pool are quite encouraging. Yesterday morning the well was drilled about 10 feet deeper and encountered another sand formation, gray in color, and got more oil and gas. From 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. the well produced 20 barrels. It is thought that it will be good for 200 barrels a day to start with. This is by far the most important discovery of early months for development many miles from any previous development and far outside of what was considered the producing area to the southwest. It has attracted widespread attention and has been the incentive for leasing all the territory in the vicinity. Future developments in that locality will be scrutinized very closely.

Northeast of the Pine Grove extension, in Wetzel county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its test on the Eliza Sole farm 10 feet into the Gordon and is fishing for the bailer, which was put Tuesday night. When an accident occurred to the tools that put a temporary end to the operations, that the well would make a producer.

In the Folsom district the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 4 on the Purdy Ice farm and struck a strong vein of gas in the gasser. The same company has drilled No. 4 on the W. R. S. Hall farm seven feet into the Gordon and encountered a pay streak, from which the well produced 40 barrels in the first hours. The same company has drilled its second test on the Wesley Robinson farm into the top of the Gordon and has developed a strong gas proposition. The Devon Oil Company's test in its No. 13 on the W. J. Bryan farm in the Pine Grove district, Wetzel county, has reached the Robinson tract has been completed and shot and will not make better than a 20-barrel pumper.

On the east side of the district the South Penn Oil Company and Greenlee have drilled in their No. 1 on the C. A. Seigfried farm and have a 5-barrel pumper. This test should have been a big one in the long sand, but the first hole was plugged and abandoned after protracted and fruitless fishing.

On the west side of the district, the South Penn has completed No. 43 on the Blackshere-Wells farm and has a fair gasser in the Gordon.

In the Smithfield district the South Penn has drilled No. 21 on the J. B. Dubonet farm through the fifth sand and found that formation barren. A little show was developed in the Gordon and it will be given a shot in this horizon. It will probably make a small pumper. The test on the S. J. Kilmoyer farm has been completed and is good for 5 barrels a day. The same has drilled its test on the William Gallagher farm 1112 feet into the Big Injun sand and has no show for a producer.

South of Mannington, in Marion county, the South Penn Company has drilled its test on the E. Boyce farm into the sand and the hole has filled up 1,500 feet with fluid.

In the Pine Grove extension the South Penn Oil Company has completed No. 4 J. Harris and J. R. Pitman farms and has a 15 or 20-barrel producer. On the west side of the extension the Southern Oil Company and Greenlee have completed their test on the Howard Pyles farm and has a 30-barrel production in the Gordon. In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn Company is drilling in the Gordon at its No. 11 on the Luther Haymond farm and the hole has filled up 2,500 feet with fluid.

In Lewis county, west of Weston four miles, in the vicinity of the Reserve Gas Company's holdings, the Hope Natural Gas Company has a farm, some new locations have been made. The Crude Oil Company has made the location for a test on the Mary E. Lawson farm, 2,500 feet southwest of the Snyder farm well. Northeast of the same well 2,000 feet, Lloyd Rinehart has made a location on the Stokes-Tunstill farm in the Hebron district. Tyler county, the Carter Oil Company has drilled its test on the C. D. Mouser farm in the Big Injun sand and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper.

In Pine Run district, Pleasants county, the West Virginia Drilling Company has drilled its second test on the Josiah Holdren farm into the Maxon sand and has a show for a 40 or 45-barrel producer. M. F. Neff & Co. has completed No. 2 on the C. T. Gorrell farm and will have a 40 or 50-barrel producer in the same formation.

In the new Freeport district, Greene county, Pa., the South Penn Oil Company has drilled in its No. 13 on the W. J. Bryan farm and the hole has filled up 1,300 feet with fluid. In Wayne township, Greene county, the Peoples Gas Company has completed a test well on the S. S. Hupp farm and has a fair gasser in the Bayard sand.

In the shallow sand territory, on Wolf creek, Washington county, the Sterling Oil Company has completed a test on the Reed & Ball farm and has a 5-barrel pumper. J. B. Nutting has completed his No. 10 on the A. J. Donovan farm and has one of the same kind. Dr. Hall has completed his No. 4 on the Hall farm and shot his second test on the Wilson Martin farm and has a 10-barrel pumper in the Keener sand. In the Hazleton district, Wetzel county, Hall & Hall's third test on the J. Yoder farm through the Big Injun and have a duster. J. M. Willoughby has completed his No. 4 on the J. A. Holstein farm and has a 20-barrel producer in the same formation.

Buy a Home

and

Buy It Now.

There will be a great house famine about this city next spring. The man who depends on renting a house from April 1 next will meet with many disappointments and many will not be able to secure suitable places. This is the judgment of all persons informed on the conditions of the building business during the past year.

We therefore cannot urge too strongly the importance of buying your house this fall and avoid the danger of being disappointed next spring. We have a very great variety of beautiful and attractive houses, most conveniently located, within a few minutes' trolley ride by two lines of rapid transit of business centers of Pittsburgh, and the great factories of the South side.

We can sell you a better property for less money and on easier terms than you can find anywhere else about Pittsburgh.

There is no more beautiful or healthy place about this city than

KNOXVILLE.

It is out of the smoke and dirt, has pure air, trees, birds and flowers. You can get more for your money in Knoxville, in all that goes to make for a comfortable and pleasant home, than anywhere else.

All we can do is to tell you about our houses, how cheap they are and how easy you can secure one. It is then up to you. Come and see for yourself or ask of those who have bought in Knoxville.

East End Residences.

SWELL EAST END STREET.
$18,500, worth $23,000; cash $5,000 and assume $13,000 mortgage; this loan was placed on a supposed value of $30,000 (50 per cent is usual margin); actual truth is, the 50/50 cost of house is $21,000, and hence the selling price of $23,000 represents a very modest profit; now the house could not be built today, with value of lot, at $11,000, would probably cost $28,000; all the same, the owner sells for $18,500; the $13,000 a straight mortgage, bears 6 per cent interest, but can be carried at pleasure of buyer; 30x90 ft. brand new, 9-room real colonial; solid 12-inch wall, 12-room brick; hardwood throughout; three baths, four w. c.'s; lot 75x150 to paved alley, etc.; rent would be $2,000; this means business only need apply.

STOCKS OPENED WEAK BUT CLOSED FIRMER

New Low Record for English Consols—All the Markets Waiting for Today's Crop Report. Local Securities Extremely Dull.

By JOHN O. EAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Yesterday was one of the dullest days of the year on the New York stock exchange. The course of the market, however, was the direct reverse of that of the day before. The opening was weak and lower and was affected to some extent by the depression prevailing abroad. English consols sold down to 80 5-16, the lowest price since 1876. This security has for many years been accepted as the barometer of foreign financial conditions and the weakness of the past few days has attracted attention. It is based largely upon the growing firmness of the London money market, and in some degree, no doubt, reflects uneasiness over the situation of affairs in Turkey. All foreign securities were weak and London was a moderate seller in Wall street. During the first half of the session prices averaged lower, but the total transactions for the two hours were only 155,000 shares. In the afternoon the degree of stagnation has seldom been equaled, the sales during this period amounting to only 53,000 shares, the total for the day being 188,000 shares. On only one day during the past three years has the total been smaller. Despite the dullness, there was no selling, and when shorts tried to cover they found few stocks offering. The result was a general recovery during the final half hour, closing prices being the highest of the day.

In only a few specialties were the fluctuations more than fractional. Early in the day a tip was in circulation that Metropolitan was to be advanced, and the stock rose from 112¾ to 115 while the rest of the market was declining. This stimulated some activity in Brooklyn Rapid Transit, which rallied to 44¼. In the industrial list United States Steel common was quoted ex-dividend. It opened at 22 and 22⅛ and gradually sold off to 21½, closing at the decline, which represented a net loss for the day of ½ per cent. There was some expectation that the bears would make an attack upon the stock, similar to that on the preferred last month, when it was quoted ex-dividend, but while the stock was rather heavy, there was no decided selling pressure against it. The preferred opened at 70⅞, declined to 70¼ and recovered to the opening price. The 5 per cent bonds sold at 70 to 70¼. Amalgamated Copper declined from 48 to 47⅜, but recovered to 48⅜. American Smelting was not affected by its favorable annual report. Tennessee Coal and Iron declined to 40½, but recovered to 40⅝, and Colorado Fuel and Iron, after selling off to 40⅜, rallied to 42½.

Grain markets were also dull and irregular, ruling weak at the opening and recovering slightly in the late dealings. All the markets, in fact, appeared to be awaiting the government crop report, which will be issued today at 4 o'clock. The September report is generally looked upon as the most important of the year. It is the last that is made on the condition of wheat, both winter and spring being combined. There is some difference of opinion as to whether there has been any particular change in spring wheat since the August report, which placed the average at 78.7. If there has been no important change, the average of winter and spring in today's report should not vary much from 79. This would compare with 80 in September last year. The total yield in 1902 was 638,000,000 bushels. In that year, however, the total acreage was only 46,-260,000 acres, while this year the total planted is estimated at 50,552,000 acres. It is now generally admitted that the 1903 yield will not fall short of that for 1902, and the principal sustaining factor in the market has been the damage reported to foreign crops. This and the fact that farmers are in better financial position now than ever before, and that they are not, therefore, pressing their grain upon the market, has held the price above the average of the season and has tended to curtail exports.

The greatest interest centers in the report on corn. The August figures placed the condition at 78.7, which with one exception (1901) was the lowest for any corresponding period in 10 years. A year ago the September estimate placed the condition at 84.3 and the October condition at 79.6. The latter was unusually high, and in addition the acreage was the largest ever planted, being estimated at no less than 94,000,000 acres. The result was a yield of 2,523,000,000 bushels, the largest ever raised. In 1901 the September average was 53.7, the lowest ever reported, and although the acreage for that year was placed at 91,350,000, the yield was only 1,522,000,000 bushels. For 1903 the estimated acreage was a trifle less than 90,-000,000 acres, the smallest in the last three years, and this was reduced by ploughing up fields in July on account of backward conditions. In 1900, when the September condition was reported at 80.8 and the acreage planted was only 83,320,000 acres, we harvested 2,105,000,000 bushels. Last month, on a condition of 78.7 and an estimated acreage of 80,890,000 acres, the indicated yield was placed at 2,245,000,000 bushels. There is reason to believe that this was too high. There has been improvement in the condition of the crop during the month of August, and since the beginning of the present month there has been further progress, but the yield this year will likely fall short of 2,000,000,-000 bushels merchantable corn.

There was very little change in domestic money market conditions. Call loans were quoted at 2 and 2½ per cent. The sub-treasury was a debtor to the New York clearing house in the sum of $1,-020,000. The Bank of England lost $875,000 gold through shipments to Egypt, Malta and Germany, and it would not be surprising if there should be another advance in the bank rate at the weekly meeting of the governors today. A firmer London money market is foreshadowed by the decline in consols and by the fact that a larger movement of cotton and breadstuffs from this country is in sight. Yesterday's exports of wheat and flour amounted to 777,388 bushels, and the further decline in cotton places that staple so much nearer an export basis.

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday the dealings fell off to 2,638 shares stock and $6,000 bonds. Even the coal stocks were neglected during the greater part of the day. There was no transaction in River Coal common, which was quoted at 12 bid, 12⅝ asked, and only one sale of the preferred, a block of 500 shares changing hands at 41, an advance of ½. Pittsburgh Coal common declined to and closed at 34½ and the preferred remained unchanged at 83½. The combined sales of all the steel issues amounted to less than 400 shares and prices remained unchanged. Westinghouse Electric declined to 81, but recovered to 82. Airbrake opened at 141, and advanced to 145 on sales of small lots, closing at 141 bid. Pittsburgh Brewing common declined to 23½, the preferred advanced to 44⅝, and the bonds remained unchanged at 110¼. The market closed very dull and barely steady.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

River Coal common, which was the leader of the market on Tuesday, did not change hands yesterday, being quoted at 12 bid, 12⅝ asked. A block of 500 shares of the preferred at 41, Robinson Bros. to their knowledge, was the only transaction in that issue, and was the only large sale all day. There is still enough uncertainty regarding the position of minority holders of the common and preferred and the prices that were paid for control to keep the market nervous. In addition to this, the consolidation agreement has not been signed, and trading, not only in these stocks, but the entire list, Pittsburgh Coal was also dull, the common declining ½ to 34½ and the preferred holding steady at 83½.

Trading in bank stocks yesterday was confined to 2 shares Exchange National at 85. Thirty-one days' notice, or until after 2 per cent to 250 bid, and was held at 356.

Ordinarily the time between national bank calls averages about one month. Last year a call was made on July 18, and another on September 15. This year a call was made on April 8, followed by another on June 4. As since the last date a period of 92 days has elapsed, bankers have been looking for a call for the past two weeks, and as usual, some of them have been preparing for it, which helps to keep the money market firm. The head of one of the largest institutions said that he did not look for any great change in the local money market even after the call is made this month; that he thought there would be little relief until November, meanwhile brokers are transferring some of their loans to the east and carrying them on call. The money market has been puzzling this year. Early in the spring, with the experience of last winter fresh in mind, brokers began supplying themselves with time money. Some of them were planning to borrow as long as possible on money in the east, and were dissuaded from doing so by advice of eastern correspondents to the effect that the last quarter of the year would witness the tightest money market for two years. The shrinkage in New York stocks was responsible for draining a considerable amount of money from the local market. The absence of a bond market forced syndicates carrying several hundred millions to lay them away for a better day, and this tied up much money. The policy of U. S. Steel corporation in "keeping Pittsburgh on call money," as one broker expressed it, that is, checking down the balances here in hope of forcing aid, has not been without its effect. Finally the notification of the state treasurer that he would be compelled to check upon the state's funds in local depositories during September and October has necessitated banks accumulating larger reserves. All these things serve to keep the local money market in a stringent condition, and the impression is that there has not been more forced liquidation in the stock market.

U. S. Steel common made a net loss of only half a point yesterday, closing at 21⅝ bid ex-dividend of 1 per cent, which was equivalent to 22⅝ dividend on. From now until October 6, the dividend action on the stock will be taken, there will be considerable speculation in this stock. The uncertainty would furnish an excellent opportunity for operations by pigeons. But for the fact that the capitalization is so large that shorts run little risk of being "squeezed."

American Window Glass preferred was offered at 65 and closed without bid.

The calling of a special meeting of the finance committee of select council to consider a franchise tax ordinance did not have any appreciable effect upon Philadelphia Company's shares. The shares of the stock changed hands all day at 39¾@40. The preferred was offered at 44⅛.

Chester T. Hoag, member of the Pittsburgh stock exchange, returned from his summer outing yesterday.

The executive committee of Western Union yesterday recommended the declaration of the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent.

D. C. Wills of the McKim National bank will be one of the speakers at the October meeting of the Pennsylvania Bankers' association and will speak of the American Institute of Bank Clerks.

Steelers' annual report will show net earnings equal to 8 per cent on common stock and a surplus after betterment appropriations of 3¼ per cent on the common.

The annual report of Ontario & Western shows an increase in the earnings of $328,600.

The rally in Metropolitan was said to be merely a traders' movement. There were no new developments.

A Chicago dispatch said: "Rumors that the late rise in Atchison stock is due to buying by the Rock Island interests are denied by officials here of both the Atchison and Rock Island systems. It is known, however, that the fact that negotiations are in progress to bring about a traffic alliance between the two roads, whereby the Rock Island is to use the Atchison from Albuquerque west as far as and to California instead of Southern Pacific from El Paso west."

One of the partners of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. is quoted as saying: "It is nonsense to say we are buying control of Atchison for Pennsylvania or for Union Pacific interests. The stock is being absorbed probably by Rock Island interests, but we know for certain that when the crop movement declines at southern points, as it must, it does not mean that the movement will decline at Chicago. Last year the movement at Chicago was very large, and we look for a large movement at that point this year. In addition to this, the general situation that financed were all right, and that an advance in stocks would be inevitable if a fair crop should be harvested, but that he did not expect any continuous bull market until after the presidential election.

The floating supply of B. & O., Atchison, Missouri Pacific, St. Paul, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific is said to be quite small.

President Stickney of the Great Western says: "I think the west is on the edge of its largest crop. Western Canada will be a great help, and no signs of a let up. Iowa will raise a bigger crop of corn than last year if frost holds off."

The Westinghouse Airbrake Company has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent, payable on October 10, transfer books closed October 10. Books closed September 25 to October 10.

BALANCE ON RIGHT SIDE.

Annual Statement of the Lehigh Valley Road a Favorable One.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—The annual report of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company for the year ending June 30, which was issued today, shows the gross earnings and other income to have amounted to $37,250,427, an increase over the previous fiscal year of $2,864,-229. The net income after deducting operating expenses, taxes, improvements, etc., amounted to $4,111,586, against a deficit of $177,491 in the previous year.

The net income of the Lehigh Valley and other controlled coal companies was $605,913, against a deficit of $1,008,797 in the previous fiscal year.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The Daly West Mining Company has declared a dividend of 60 cents per share, payable September 15. Books close September 10. This is an increase of five cents per share over the last dividend declared by the company.

W. Talbot of this city and A. Deeds, a Pennsylvania capitalist, have returned from a tour of inspection of Camp Bonanzas and Cripple Creek districts. Mr. Talbot, who has visited throughout the Leadville, Creede, San Juan and Cripple Creek camps, looks on Cripple Creek as a prospector and miner's paradise, expresses the belief that there is more gold at Bonanzas and the surrounding vicinity than was ever dreamed of at Cripple Creek. Further, he says there is no doubt about the Bonanzas claim being a rich mine, and the latter reported strikes on both sides of Bonanzas are equally good, in his opinion.

The new zinc smelters at Lanarge, Nanjare to begin operations at once. One blast furnace is treating this week and a second will be blown in today. Both will be in operation for 30 days. This means a growing demand from a new quarter. In addition it is said that some of the companies have restarted idle smelters, including the deserted Iron Mount works as well.

The highest price paid for zinc ore last week was $47 per ton for ore from the Empire district, and the lowest was $40. The average figure was $35 to $37 per ton of 60 per cent zinc.

Following is the total output of lead and zinc ores sold and the sales from the various camps of the Joplin district for the week ending September 5:

	Zinc.	Lead.
Output last week	2,242,220	342,220
Value last week	$750,220	$21,000
Value 30 weeks	$22,500,000	$1,000,000

The copper bullion exported from Utah now reaches 100 tons per week, and 1,000,000 pounds of the amount exported is produced by the Independent plants. The production of these plants for the week previous was 600,000. The balance necessary to make that trade up by an output of 1,000,000 pounds is made from copper bullion that flowed from the furnaces of the American Smelting and Refining Company. The production is divided as follows:

	Pounds.
Bingham Con.	180,000
Highland Boy	200,000
United States	120,000
Total	500,000
American Smelting & Refining Co.	500,000

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Spot tin declined 75c to 21¼. To-day's sales were 1,000 tons. Futures declined 50c to 21¼. The weakness abroad was reflected in fewer offerings here and prices ranged lower, with spot closing at 27¼ @ 28. Copper declined 1% points, closing at 12 for spot. Lake is held at 12¼ @ 12⅝, electrolytic at 12⅛ @ 12¼, while lead is quoted at 4.00@4.05. Spot lead was unchanged at 4 London sold at £11 0s 3d, and locally it continued firm at $4.35. Spelter advanced on the week and locally is confirmed firm at 5.00@5.05. Iron was dull and weak. Prices declined 25 cents per ton at Birmingham, 50 cents at Cleveland and 25 cents at Chicago. Locally iron was steady and unchanged at $18.00@18.50 for No. 1 foundry, $17.50@18.00 for No. 2 foundry, $17.00@17.50 for No. 3 foundry, $16.50@17.00 for No. 4 foundry, mottled and No. 1 foundry, soft, at $15.50@16.00.

A GOOD DEMAND NOW IN SIGHT

By October 1 Iron and Steel Market Expected to Be Active Again.

IMPROVEMENT IS SEEN NOW

No Lower Prices Can Be Expected, All Agree, Claiming That Normal Conditions Have Now Been Reached and Will Be Continued.

"By October 1 there is good reason to believe the iron market will have resumed its activity. The conditions of August and September this year are only the experience of the same months each year until the last two. The present situation means that normal conditions have again begun to prevail. The fact that prices were abnormally high for some time past is generally recognized. The new basis will be about the right one," said one of the leading authorities on iron in Pittsburgh yesterday.

This feeling is generally among the manufacturers and jobbers here. There have been many inquiries made recently showing that stocks which have kept the finished product plants busy are running low and that consumers are beginning to believe that there is little use in waiting for the market to sink lower. The number of new orders is now yet large, but is growing larger each week.

When the resumption does come it is the expectation that it will come with a rush because of the necessity of providing not only for the daily consumption, but for the replenishment of stocks which have been allowed to sink in the hope of still lower prices.

Coke Not Moving Freely.

There still exists among the steel and iron men much apprehension in regard to the railroad situation here this fall and winter. Despite the denials of the railroad officials they insist that the car supply in the coke region is little more than half the requirements and that coke is piling up there awaiting shipment precisely as at this time last year and the year before.

What will occur in the matter of coke prices is also being figured on. Coke went as high as $8, and even $12 a ton at the worst of the freight troubles last year. At present it is selling at the normal price, from $3 to $3.50 a ton for the foundry grade. Coke authority said yesterday that there is more coke selling at $3.50 than at a lower price and that it is hardly available at all for $3. If the shortage of cars or inability to move traffic becomes as marked as in former years the prices are likely to soar again above this.

No Large Sales of Iron.

No large sales of pig iron are reported. The association prices prevail for the most part in the sales of from 100 to 200 tons, which are being made. It is said that there are probably some very small quantities moving for less than $18, valley furnaces.

Steel billets remain slow. The market is, if anything, a little improved, and there are now factors at work which tend to make the improvement continue.

Little cutting of prices is expected anywhere. It is the belief of the coke men that the ovens will shut down rather than make concessions to secure trade. Everybody has taught the coke operators that when there is a 75 per cent consumption during July and August, such as this year, there will be a 100 per cent consumption in the fall and winter. The same is true of the furnaces generally. No further reductions will be made even if it is necessary to bank the furnaces to maintain prices. It is not believed to be good policy to secure business at the expense of disturbing the whole market, and the belief is also general that only a few weeks will elapse before the demand will be far better.

Hardware Market Good.

The hardware business is moving along in very good shape, orders coming in very freely from all sections for large quantities and for wide lines of goods. The trade generally seems to feel in good condition as far as prospects are concerned, believing there will be a very satisfactory business done. The business for the early fall months considerably increases over the business of last year of the same date, and all indications point toward a growth of this increase. Wire nails and wire continue to move out in large quantities, the trade apparently starting in to buy freely. Prices on this particular line being maintained at a firm figure show that the demand is excellent. Builders' hardware continues to move along the same lines. A good character of buildings is being erected in this and other sections for tenants who are crying for places to live and do business. Albion tools continues to move into the hands of dealers and consumers in an increasing volume, the prospects for the full employment of mechanics of all grades making a large movement than ever for this class of goods.

Window Glass Unchanged.

The window glass business is about at the same point that it has been for some time past, a fair quantity of orders coming in for current needs, and prospects indicating that these orders are liable to increase as the demand comes, and with the amount of building going on the demand is bound to be heavy. Masury paints, colors and varnishes are moving out in good volume, the trade on these lines being the heaviest in years. Linseed oil continues low, with the prospects of an upward movement. Prices in a general way are very firm, ranging from quotations being very free.

Current prices for the various lines are given below:

Foundry iron—Per ton, Pittsburgh, $16 75@17 25.

Gray forge—Per ton, Pittsburgh, $15 50@16.

Billets—Open hearth, $28 per ton; Bessemer, $27, Pittsburgh delivery.

Ferro-manganese—In large lots, $50 delivered at Pittsburgh; in small lots, $52 the ton.

Bessemer rods—A ton, $36 00.

Buck bar—A ton, $31@32.

PIG IRON PRODUCTION IS LARGELY INCREASED

August Figures Show 27,464 Tons More Than the Figures for July.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The Iron Age tomorrow will say: Our monthly blast furnace statistics are announced, surprising as they show an increase in the production of pig iron, which is in marked contrast with conditions as reported last month. The August production of anthracite and coke pig iron was 1,573,648 tons, which is an increase of 27,464 tons as compared with July, when the product was 1,546,184 tons.

An unusual number of changes occurred in the condition of blast furnaces during the month, many being blown out for repairs, while quite a number of the southern furnaces which had been affected by the coal miners' strike in that territory blew in again. The preponderance, however, was in favor of the furnaces being blown out. During the month four new stacks were put in blast for the first time on the Addyston at Dubois, the Cleveland at Cleveland, the Valley Furnace at South Chicago and one at Gadsden, Ala. The anthracite and coke furnaces in blast on September 1 had a capacity of 361,695 tons a week as compared with 358,395 tons a week July 1.

The enlarged production of pig iron has not been accompanied by a heavy increase in stocks of iron actually on hand, as might be expected. The increase in anthracite and coke stocks was only 43,610 tons. This shows that consumption is still proceeding under high pressure. In confirmation of this our market reports show that in some sections of the country an urgent demand exists for pig iron on spot or for quick shipment. This, however, does not apply to all sections, as complaint comes from the south that furnace companies are finding considerable trouble in getting some of their customers to take iron which had been sold at higher prices, but it may be said that it often happens that the very people who are thus repudiating contracts are purchasing iron from other parties at lower prices. That this does not really indicate a reduction in consumption.

The southern railroad companies last week completed their negotiations for southern pig iron manufacturers for reduced freight rates on pig iron, but decided adversely. It is likely that, as the railroads of that section are even now inviting strong competition to move coke, iron and other products, the consideration of a lower freight rate on pig iron will be deferred until a more urgent necessity appears for taking such action. The adverse action may be regarded as distinctly favorable to northern pig iron manufacturers, who are thus temporarily saved from increased competition.

Chicago reports large contracts placed by agricultural implement manufacturers for soft center plow steel for future delivery, some of the contracts extending over five years. A material concession in prices was made, for which the keen competition of independent mills was responsible. The output of the Illinois Steel Company, by Crucible steel works. Deliveries can now be made very promptly in every branch of finished product with the exception, perhaps, of the large sizes of mechanical pipe. This is a feature which should be appreciated by consumers who not long since were compelled to pay tremendous premiums on anything desired for early delivery.

A meeting of manufacturers of steel bars was held in Pittsburgh on Tuesday, at which the price of steel bars was reaffirmed at $1 40 Pittsburgh. It was decided that it would not be advisable to reduce prices, notwithstanding the fact that the lower price at which hay iron is selling is diverting much tonnage from steel to iron.

The west reports a somewhat better inquiry for steel rails for 1904 delivery. The tonnage in sheets is improving. This is a branch of trade which has for some time been suffering from a slack demand.

LITTLE BUSINESS IN GRAIN, HAY AND STRAW

Ohio Fruit More Plentiful in the Market—Potatoes Take Another Drop.

Grain receipts were lighter again yesterday and next to no business is being transacted on the exchange. Tuesday a few sales of feed and oats were made, but yesterday not a deal was reported up to 2 o'clock. Oats remain firm at the higher quotations, which took effect a few days ago. On the exchange 40¾ cents was bid yesterday for No. 2 white oats, but no sales were made. Sixty-one cents a bushel was asked for No. 2 yellow shelled corn, which is the top figure quoted. Hay is in good demand, and straw remains scarce, with receipts light.

Ohio fruit is beginning to be plentiful in the local market. Peaches in baskets from that state are selling rapidly at $1 50 to $2 25, with one quality good Hartlett pears in bags are worth about $1 75. The receipts of grapes are heavier, most of them coming from New York. Pears are plentiful in market, but the arrivals are almost out of fair.

Rockyford cantaloupes are down 50 cents a crate. California pears have declined 25 cents a box and California oranges have made a similar drop. Indiana seedling oranges are practically out of market.

Potatoes took another drop of 25 cents a barrel yesterday, with the tendency still downward. The demand for poultry is light, with receipts just fair.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at an advance of 5 points, following steady Kansas City cables, large local deliveries, small primary receipts and reports of a better business passing. The tone was moderately active and the market ruled generally steady to firm, closing steady, net 20@25 points higher. Sales were 15,750 bags, including: September, 4.70c; October, 4.65c; November, 4.75c; December, 4.45c; March, 4.60@4.70c; May, 4.85c; July, 4.85c. Sugar, raw firm; fair refining, 3½c; centrifugals, 96 test, 3¾c; molasses sugar, 3½c; refined firm; crushed, 5.05c; powdered, 4.85c; granulated, 4.80c.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Buyers of drygoods are not showing any more desire to operate and yet the disposition of sellers is not to press goods for sale, as a rule, on the market. Where it is necessary to have the goods, as is the case in the majority of cases, asking prices are being paid, but more of a tendency to await developments in the raw cotton market is evidenced.

GRAINS WERE HIGHER AT YESTERDAY'S CLOSE

Wheat, Corn and Oats Ruled Firm in Chicago Pits Throughout the Session.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Wheat opened but little changed at the beginning and while it was influenced by firm cables, it made somewhat a reaction on favorable advices from abroad and liberal receipts at primary points. Later reports of Russian shortage and consequent firmness in those markets, coupled with the materially small increase in the world's visible, brought strength to the late market and values advanced under active commission house demand. The close was firm. Primary receipts were 1,741,000 bushels, against 1,528,000 a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 634 cars, which, with local receipts of 152 cars, made a total of 786 cars, against 226 cars last week and 342 cars a year ago.

The failure of predicted frosts to appear in the corn belt has operated with bears to depress values somewhat, with local traders and liberal sellers. Later in the session the attention to wheat, with renewed predictions of frosts tonight and warmer weather, caused a sharp rally, which carried prices up 1@1½c, and the receipts were 280 cars, with 40 of contract grade.

Oats were very steady, although responding to the strength in other cereals and closing with a fair gain. A good demand for the May option from the local bulls was the strengthening feature, although the action of others had much the government influence. Commission house buyers were free buyers of corn. Receipts were 1,000 cars.

AWAITING RETURN OF BOIES PENROSE

He Must Decide the Action Throughout the State in the Coming Campaign.

WATCHING THE DEMOCRATS

Republican Plans Will Be Made to Meet Those of the Opposition—Donnelly-Ryan Faction Disturbed Over Desertion of the Thirtieth Ward.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Sept. 9.

Senator William P. Snyder of Chester and Hon. William Matheus of Delaware, Republican candidates for auditor general and state treasurer, respectively, visited state headquarters this morning. They spent an hour or two with Secretary W. R. Andrews, reviewing his reports from Republican county chairmen.

In counties where local conditions promise a lively campaign, a line of action was considered, but no definite conclusion will be reached until the return of State Chairman Boies Penrose. It is probable that he will, on the more important questions, ask the advice of Senator M. S. Quay.

Matheus and Snyder admit they did not intend to make a tour of the state; in fact it is their opinion that such a course is entirely unnecessary. If, however, Col. J. M. Guffey, the Democratic leader should send out spellbinders it is said the Republican leaders might think it wise to make an opposition show. In that event Col. Quay might be called upon to take the stump. Here no one believes that the Democrats will care to pay for a state tour. Their investments in this line for the past six years have not shown net results of promising character.

The Donnelly-Ryan machine is distinctly disturbed over the independents capturing its organization in the Thirtieth ward. Chairman Donnelly said, personally he was not surprised, as he had anticipated such a move. He did not, however, believe that he would lose any more wards in the immediate future. Both factions are working at high tension to be recognized by the next Democratic state convention. This convention owing to its being a presidential year, will be held in March or May and the fight will be a nice one. No matter how much headway the independents make meantime, Donnelly relies upon the Democratic state executive committee for protection. Donnelly is a member of the committee and as it makes up the convention roll placing upon it names certified by the Democratic county chairman, another office which Donnelly also holds, so far as Philadelphia is concerned, he does not see how delegates can be barred. If is in the executive committee that Donnelly expects to find protection, and he will do so unless Col. Guffey, who controls the committee, as well as conventions, should decide that Donnelly and Ryan have outlived their usefulness.

Attorney R. O. Moon, who returned yesterday from Europe has notified the Republican leaders that he will accept the congressional vacancy in the Fourth district caused by the death of Robert Foerderer.

WAR CLOUDS LIFTED IN THE FAR EAST

Japan Believes Russia Sincere in Promise to Evacuate Manchurian Ports.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The Japanese legation here sees in the Russian concessions regarding Manchuria the lifting of the war clouds in the far east. No confirmation has been received of the London Times' Pekin dispatch saying that the Russian minister there, in his note to the Chinese foreign office engaging that New Chwang and Moukden shall be evacuated by the Russians on Oct. 8, undertook that China shall be permitted to resume administrative right in the three provinces of Manchuria, under certain conditions but the report is regarded well founded.

The Japanese legation says: "Three events, if the reports are correct, have occurred which are calculated to simplify the situation, namely: The Russian terms which M. Lessar has apparently presented; mark the abandonment of the proposals which the powers found objectionable; Russia has announced her withdrawal from Manchuria next month, and we believe she is sincere, and negotiations are progressing between Japan and Russia for a definition of their respective rights in Manchuria and Korea.

"These are secret and it is impossible to foretell the outcome but we are hopeful that the results will be satisfactory to both governments."

PIG IRON MARKET IS EXCEEDINGLY WEAK

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—The pig iron market was exceedingly weak today, prices for all grades being reduced 50 cents to $1 a ton. No. 1 northern was marked down to $17, while No. 2 and No. 2 plain were reduced to $16.50 and $16, respectively. No. 1 southern was quoted at $15.5 and $16 and No. 2 at $15.25 and $15.50. The demand was said to be unusually light at the present time and purchases could probably be made under the prices ruling.

More Textile Workers Go to Work.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—With the return today of 100 setters and 150 tapestry carpet weavers to John and James Dobson's plush and carpet mills the strike at these plants, which began three months ago, was ended. The majority of the strikers, more than 2,000, went back a few weeks ago.

Looking Backward and Forward.

How often one hears some one say "Ten years ago I could have bought that property for a few hundred dollars, and today it is worth thousands." You hear it on all sides, and it is true that ten years ago certain property could have been purchased for twenty dollars a foot front that today is bringing from one hundred to two hundred dollars a foot. The men who bought ten years ago and hold are the ones who are reaping this rich reward. Some call them lucky, but as a matter of fact, there is no such thing as luck. Judgment and foresight are the essentials of fortune.

Ten years from now many of us will be alive and those who remember the big sale of the Country Club plan of lots on September 12, 1903, will say—if they have not purchased—"Ten years ago I could have bought that property mighty cheap and if I had a few dollars then I would be wealthy today."

The question that should confront you is "Will I be among those who might have made money, or will I be one among the successful who have Squirrel Hill property, worth thousands at that time?" Think it over tonight.

Country Club lots are on the Boulevard. Some front on Shady avenue. Prices $500 up; five per cent. down, two per cent. per month. For maps and full information see the Land Title and Trust Company, 316 Fourth avenue.

SKELETON IS THOUGHT TO BE THAT OF INDIAN

Bones Found in Excavation in Perry St., Allegheny, With Arrow Heads and Pieces of Bows Nearby—Legends Are Rife.

What is thought by some to be an Indian burying ground has been discovered in Allegheny. Workmen while excavating in a vacant lot at No. 1013 Perry street, dug up the skeleton of a man yesterday morning, and later in the day they unearthed part of another skeleton. The bones of the giant found in the morning are at No. 1 patrol station and were seen yesterday by hundreds of people. The skeleton is well preserved and almost every bone in the entire frame was found.

The excavation is being made by John Eichler, the Allegheny bottler, who will erect a warehouse on the lot. The ground has never been occupied and has until this time remained untouched. The property is five or six feet above the grade of Perry street, and the skeletons were found about two feet below the surface. Jacob Sarver of No. 1 patrol station was present when the bones were discovered and he took them in a basket to the police station.

The theory that an Indian burial ground has been discovered is given foundation from the fact that beside the bones were found a large number of flint arrow heads and parts of several bows. Many residents of the neighborhood think the skeleton composes the remains of an Indian buried at least a century ago. From the size of the bones the man in life was evidently a giant.

Since the finding of the bones yesterday all kinds of legends concerning the Indians that roamed this part of the county at the time and after the French and Indian war are being repeated among the residents of the upper part of Allegheny. The most reasonable story is that the corpse was one of the tribe of Indians that made this vicinity their hunting grounds for years after General Washington's visit to Pittsburgh in 1754. This tribe was ruled over by Guyasuta, to whom a monument has been erected in Sharpsburg. Guyasuta's camp was in Darlington hollow, a short distance above where Sharpsburg is now situated.

Residents in the vicinity of the discovery are taking a great interest in the search for further relics, and many requests were made for arrow heads at No. 1 patrol station yesterday.

The body was found resting on a bed of rock that had been placed there before the corpse was laid in its final resting place. Parts of the second skeleton were found in a similar bed several feet from the first. The excavations will continue today.

Members of the Historical society heard of the find, and started at once to secure data on the skeleton and the relics found with it. The skeleton and relics will probably be turned over to the society.

FIREMEN PARADE AT THE SEASHORE

Visitors to Atlantic City Are Entertained by Brave Show of Apparatus.

CROKER IS UP FOR PRESIDENT

Friends of Former New York Fire Chief Desire His Re-Election—Others Object to Him Because He is Not Up in Parliamentary Rules.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 9.

The boardwalk this afternoon was practically deserted, the entire population having moved itself to Atlantic avenue to witness the annual parade and inspection in connection with the annual convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers. Hundreds of fire laddies from various sections of the country, assisted the nine local companies in the demonstration. The Pittsburgh visitors, who have not for years seen a real firemen's parade, with its well-groomed men, prancing horses and handsomely decorated apparatus, took a keen interest in the affair. About 2,000 were in line. Tonight delegates and friends will enjoy themselves at one of the refreshment gardens.

The tests of the various appliances exhibited came off successfully this morning. Regret was expressed by the visitors that more firms did not participate, but it was explained that the fact that all fire appliance makers exhibited in New York last year and their inventions are well advertised throughout the east.

There is a strong undercurrent of friction among delegates and it will probably come to the surface when the election of officers is called. The friends of President Croker, formerly chief of New York city, think they can continue him in office, but others take a different view. The principal objection to him is that he is not very well versed in the parliamentary rules. His opponents aver that Croker was under suspension last year when the convention was held and that they put him in office merely as a matter of vindication, and that since that time Croker has been dismissed from the department. The man who succeeded him in office is not here and other New York delegates are still absent.

Sons of Veterans' Convention.

The 22d annual convention of the Sons of Veterans of the United States and the Ladies' Aid to the Sons of Veterans, will be held in this city from September 14 to 18, bringing here over 50 delegates, accompanied by their families from all over the country. James B. Adams, chairman of the local committee of arrangements; J. F. Hann, treasurer, and George Bailey, secretary, have practically completed the preparations for the event. The Hotel Rudolf will be made headquarters, and there the business meetings will be held. The Ladies' Aid will hold their business sessions at Odd Fellows' hall. In the election of officers there will be a spirited contest for the office of commander-in-chief of the Sons of Veterans, between Arthur B. Spink of Providence, R. I., and George W. Pollitt of Paterson, N. J., with chances in favor of the latter.

MAY PROVE COSTLY.

New York Merchant Held for the Alleged Purchase of Smuggled Tobacco.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(Special)—The treasury department believes it will now be able to make a number of arrests in connection with the smuggling of fine leaf tobacco. Today Joseph Wakeman, who was arrested in conjunction with two sailors from the Koenigen Luise, was held in the sum of $2,500 for court.

The two sailors made confessions and it is said many of the employes of the engine and stoker rooms on the ocean liners are interested in the smuggling of Sumatra leaf tobacco which is purchased in Europe for 50 cents per pound and disposed of here at $2.50. Wakeman denies the charge against him and claims he was a victim of circumstances.

Celebrates 103d Birthday.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Wolf Weisman of Hoboken today celebrated the 103rd anniversary of his birth with a family reunion. Mr. Weisman is still vigorous. He has always been a wine drinker, but gave up smoking 50 years ago. He married in 1824 and is the father of 11 children, of whom three sons survive.

BLOODLESS FIGHT WON BY KAISER

German Ward Lord Leads Prussian Cavalry Against Embattled Hosts.

WINS A GLORIOUS VICTORY

Charges Boldly Into the Teeth of Galling Fire and Makes Saxons Give Way. There Were No Bullets in the Guns.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—Having slept two nights in the open field covered only with an army blanket, the kaiser arose this morning to take command of 16 regiments of Prussian cavalry, formed for an attack upon the entrenched Saxon army.

The Saxon generals had chosen their position exceedingly well and their artillery was placed so as to make their position impregnable. Undaunted by this the kaiser mounted his horse and led his 12,000 men straight up against the roaring cannon and triumphantly broke through the Saxon lines, without losing a single man and forcing the enemy to retreat in disorder. The irresistible war lord had won another brilliant victory.

In actual warfare the fire from the Saxon guns would have annihilated his whole force before he had a chance to get within a 1,000 feet of the entrenchments. This obvious fact, however, seems not to have occurred to his majesty nor had his officers the audacity to mention it to him. This might have been interpreted lese majesty and punished by incarceration and degradation.

The military experts have declared without a moment's hesitation the Saxons have been absolutely routed by "one of the most brilliantly led cavalry attacks in the history of the world." The kaiser was showered with flowers and congratulations by the empress and Princess Louise, who had witnessed the attack from a four-in-hand.

ENDYMION THIRD.

George Lauder's Yacht Has Show of Winning the Deep Sea Race.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(Special)—Commodore Tod of the Atlantic Yacht club has withdrawn from the 624-mile yacht race and the Thistle is now anchored off Sea Gate. The Thistle sailed about 120 miles of the course, and was far behind.

The new Herreshoff schooner, Ingomar, was so far ahead when the Thistle withdrew, that, barring an accident, she was thought to have the honors of the race well in hand. The Hildegarde was second at last accounts; the Endymion third and the Iroquois fourth. George Lauder's Endymion, which was third, was drawing up on the leaders and still had a chance to put Pittsburgh to the front.

Miss Agnes Miller, of Chicago, speaks to young women about dangers of the Menstrual Period—how they can avoid pain, suffering and remove the cause.

"I suffered for six years with dysmenorrhea (painful periods), so much so that I dreaded every month, as I knew it meant three or four days of intense pain. The doctor said this was due to an inflamed condition of the uterine appendages caused by repeated and neglected colds and feet wetting.

"If young girls only realized how dangerous it is to take cold at this critical time, much suffering would be spared them. Thank God for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that was the only medicine which helped me any. Within three weeks after I started to take it, I noticed a marked improvement in my general health, and at the time of my next monthly period the pain had diminished considerably. I kept up the treatment and was cured a month later. I am like another person since I am in perfect health."—Miss AGNES MILLER, 25 Potomac Ave., Chicago, Ill.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

The monthly sickness reflects the condition of woman's health. Fifty thousand letters from women prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regulates menstruation, and [illegible] painless.

Roosevelt Hopes to Bring Factions Together and Has in Mind a Successor for United States District Attorney Byrne—Entertains at Sagamore Hill.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Sept. 9.—Following the resignation yesterday of William M. Byrne, United States district attorney of Delaware, the president requested the postmaster general to submit to him a report on the recent retirement of Miss Hulday B. Todd, postmistress of Greenwood, Delaware. Attempts made by Republican leaders to unite the two Republican factions in Delaware have proved unsuccessful and it is charged that Miss Todd was retired to make room for an Addicks supporter.

Mr. Roosevelt, who takes a great deal of interest in the political situation in Delaware, knew nothing of the fate of the Delaware postmistress until his attention was called to the matter today. He afterward received a personal letter on the subject. This prompted him to desire an investigation. Mr. Roosevelt has in mind a successor to Mr. Byrne, whose appointment may serve to heal the breach in the Republican party in Delaware.

Archbishop Harty, recently consecrated archbishop of Manila, drove to Sagamore Hill this afternoon to pay his respects to the president before he leaves for the west.

"It is the policy of Rome, however," said the archbishop "to establish a native priesthood. There will be no discrimination against native priests."

Archbishop Harty will sail for Manila in November.

At luncheon with the president today were Paul Morton, vice president of the Santa Fe railroad, who escorted Mr. Roosevelt during his western trip; Lieut. Johnston, formerly of the Rough Riders, and Francis Leap, who was recently appointed commissioner to examine into the condition of the Kiowa and Comanche Indians.

Colgate Hoyt, who has a summer home on Center Island, called to see the president and invited him to attend a banquet of the Ohio society of New York during the winter. The president said he feared he would be unable to accept the invitation as congress would be in session.

LAKESIDE HAS THE SITE FOR A CARNEGIE LIBRARY

CLEVELAND, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—If Andrew Carnegie has a library to spare the village of Lakewood will accept it with many thanks. Heirs of the Wagar estate have given the village a two-acre lot at West Madison avenue and Hilliard street for a library site and the village council has accepted the gift. The villers will beautify the spot, and it is planned to erect a fine library building in the center of the plot. They are likely to implore Mr. Carnegie to give them a library.

Another Mine Resumes Work.

CRIPPLE CREEK, COL., Sept. 9.—Another mine, the Hull City placer, was opened today with a small force, and those previously opened increased their operating forces. The executive committee of the mine owners' association has issued a statement declaring they will not cease fighting until the Western Federation of Miners has been driven out of the district.

SMELTING AND REFINING MAKES GOOD SHOWING

$1,500,000 Charged Off to the Metal Stock Account—Building Up Reserve.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—In the annual report of the American Smelting and Refining Company for the fiscal year ended April 30 the directors have charged off $1,500,000 to the "metal stock account." The explanation for this extraordinary charge, according to the report, is that the management has adopted the policy of building up a metal reserve account to absorb all fluctuations in the market value of metals in process of treatment. President Nash says that this was done for the purpose of having the regular profits of the company arising from the treatment charges and rollers uniformed at all times. Since the Amalgamated Copper Company ceased holding an umbrella over the other producers of copper the smelting corporation has retired from a smaller position once occupied toward silver.

During the past few years a considerable portion of net earnings has been charged off against holdings of metal, mainly silver. This year this effort is very cleverly explained as an insurance fund against decreasing values of supplies on hand, but it is not stated whether this represents money lost in previous years or losses from supplies on hand which seem inevitable in the future.

According to the figures the company earned during the year $9,690,711, an increase of $2,843,625, and after deducting repairs, betterments, interest, taxes, etc., the net income was $7,536,786, an increase of $2,715,167. There was appropriated for "metal stock account" $1,500,000 and for extraordinary expenditures and improvements $635,665, which brought the balance of net income down to $5,421,103.

Preferred dividends amounting to $3,500,000 were paid during the year leaving a surplus of $1,921,103 which with previous surplus makes a present total of $4,972,071. In the balance sheet the current liabilities have been reduced $3,377,805, but as a liability there is carried an increased item of $2,815,531 as "unearned treatment charges."

The metal stock account is $18,010,667, a decrease during the year of $2,872,018.

OKLAHOMA--

"Land of Promise"

"Oklahoma contains about 400,000 white people—an increase of 500 per cent during the last ten years. It has twenty-four million acres of rich and tillable land. Last year it produced twenty-five million bushels of wheat and sixty million bushels of corn. Scarcely any part of the Southwest is better watered. There is still room for the homeseeker. The winters are mild; ice on the streams is rare; the summers have hot days and cool nights."—Munsey's Magazine for May.
